Ground Forces' Movement Thwarted by Reduced Petroleum Output, Officer Says.

NAZI AIR STRENGTH GREATLY CUT DOWN

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, July 12 (AP).—American air attacks on 64 German oil installations have curtailed the enemy's petroleum production to a point where the shortage is having an important effect on the mobility of Nazi ground forces, a senior United States Air Force officer declared today.

The objective of thwarting German mobility has been "achieved," he said.

The officer, reported the German air force, the other chief object of United States air attacks in recent months, was decreasing in strength in France. He said the Nazi force had lost more planes than the Germans could produce every month since January.

Opposition Over Reich Drops.

The exact air strength in Germany itself is not known definitely, but the current opposition over the Reich is not comparable to the interception strength as recently as January.

The officer said the big two-way drive against German plane factories between Feb. 20-25 was so effective that the Nazis could not recover from it, and "made possible the invasion without German air force opposition."

The strategic American air forces being hurled against the Germans are the Eighth in Britain, the Fifteenth in Italy and the Eastern Command in Russia. Losses of these forces dropped to 1.4 per cent of the sorties flown in June from the previous peak average of 5 per cent.

In six months, the United States Strategic Air Forces have hit 51 oil refineries, 13 synthetic plants and 89 aircraft factories in attacks from Britain and Italy, and recently from Russia.

7655 Nazi Planes Destroyed.

The forces have destroyed 6109 German planes in the air and 1546 on the ground since January. This German loss of 7655 planes compares to American losses of 3425. Of the latter, 2339 were four-engined bombers and 1086 were fighters.

Since January, the United States Strategic Air Forces alone have dropped 266,277 tons of bombs on the Germans in 242,849 sorties—138,897 flights by bombers and 103,952 by fighters. This does not include the weight loosed by the Royal Air Force or by the tactical air forces, such as the United States Ninth Air Force.

Favorite Son

SENATOR HARRY S. TRUMAN

STATE DELEGATES BACKING TRUMAN FOR SECOND PLACE

Majority Say They Favor Senator—Caucus Tuesday Expected to Vote for Him.

A majority of Missouri's delegation to the Democratic national convention at Chicago next week told the Post-Dispatch today that they favored nomination of United States Senator Harry S. Truman of Missouri for Vice-President, in view of the fact that President Roosevelt is not now insisting on renomination of Vice-President Henry A. Wallace.

Unless some development in the interval upsets the plans, it is apparent that the State's delegation, when it caucuses at Chicago next Tuesday, after a luncheon to be given for it by National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan of St. Louis, will vote to support Truman in the convention. By action of the Democratic State convention last May, the delegation is pledged to vote as a unit for renomination of President Roosevelt and on all other matters coming before the national convention.

Little Wallace Sentiment.

With the majority for Truman as favorite son, there is a slim sentiment for Wallce, while several delegates were outspoken against him.

Of the 12 delegates at large, with a half vote each, including Truman himself, eight are for Truman's nomination and three, including Senator Bennett C. Clark, are noncommital. Truman has declared he does not want the vice-presidency and would prefer to remain in the Senate, where he has been active as head of a notable war production investigating committee, but he has not said he would not accept, if nominated. Washington correspondents have observed no evidence that he was either actively or passively seeking the place. The Missouri delegation majority is proceeding on the theory that he would accept if drafted.

Of the 26 district delegates, each with a full vote, 16 favor Truman, three are for Wallace, three confine themselves to saying they will support the President's choice, three are undecided and one could not be reached.

Arizona for Truman.

Arizona's 10 votes in the convention may be cast for Truman, if the President makes no recommendation for the second place, it was announced at Washington

LEADERS OF BOTH PARTIES INDORSE CITY BOND ISSUE

Council on Civic Needs, C. of C. Directors Also Urge Approval of Fund.

NEED FOR POSTWAR JOBS STRESSED

Statements by Business, Planning Groups Say Costs Will Be Reasonable.

Approval of the $43,527,000 municipal bond issue to be submitted at the Aug. 1 primary has been voted by the Republican City Committee, the Democratic City Committee, the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce and the General Council on Civic Needs, it was announced today by the civic committee sponsoring the bond proposal.

Identical resolutions were voted unanimously last night by the two party committees, meeting separately at their respective headquarters. These set forth that the bond issue had been recommended by the Citizens' Committee for Postwar Improvements and Employment in St. Louis, headed by Walter W. Head, and that the funds to be raised would provide needed postwar work.

Jacob M. Lashly, attorney, addressed the Democratic committee in behalf of the bond group, at Hotel Jefferson. There was no special speaker before the Republicans, meeting in the Title Guaranty Building. It was announced that arrangements had been made for the bond committee to have speakers at the remaining ward meetings of both parties before the primary.

Proposal Held Adequate.

Chamber of Commerce directors adopted a report of the Municipal Improvements Committee, presented by George Oliver Carpenter Jr., chairman of the chamber's civic bureau, in approving the bond issue at luncheon at the Noonday Club yesterday. This report said the bonds would result in maintaining a high level of employment and would produce improvements of permanent benefit to the city. The chamber directors added that the proposal was adequate for a postwar program, which would "aid in forestalling any large unemployment condition."

Arguments were made by the chamber in support of the idea that the bond issue would not be unduly costly to carry. At the time of the $87,372,500 bond issue of 1923, it was pointed out, estimates were made that the interest and sinking fund tax rate would reach a peak of 47 cents on the $100 valuation by 1933, but that the rate actually never exceeded 40 cents.

In addition, the chamber said, interest charges on the 1923 bonds averaged about 4½ per cent, but, in view of changed conditions of the money market, it is estimated that the proposed issue will not cost more than 1½ per cent, and possibly less than 1 per cent. This of course would have a material bearing in minimizing the interest and sinking fund tax rate.

Self-Liquidating Projects.

One of the 11 bond items proposed, $7,500,000 for waterworks improvements, would be paid for, as to both interest and retirement, from water revenue and not from general taxes, the chamber also pointed out.

The General Council on Civic

RUSSIANS STRIKE IN NEVEL SECTOR EAST OF LATVIA, GAIN 30 MILES

LONDON, July 12 (AP).—Opening a new offensive on the Second Baltic Front, Red Army troops have advanced 30 miles on a 90-mile front and captured Idritsa, 40 miles northwest of Nevel.

Soviet troops captured 1000 other populated places along with Idritsa, 60 miles north of Polotsk, Premier Stalin announced tonight in an order of the day. He said the Second Baltic Army had opened the drive northwest and west of Novosokolniki, and had broken through enemy defenses in two days of battle.

Stalin ordered 20 salvos from 224 guns to salute the new offensive, which is almost directly east of Latvia and north of the First Baltic Army's drive toward Daugavpils (Dvinsk).

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, July 12 (AP).—The Russians, punching large new holes in the already sagging German lines, surged westward today from a point about 48 miles east of the East Prussian border at a pace which, if continued, would carry the fighting to German soil by the end of the week.

Cavalry and tanks of Gen. Ivan Cherniakhovsky's Third White Russian Army drove the spearhead toward East Prussia in a 20-mile advance where the spit of the triangular province of Suwalki sticks out north of the old Poland city of Grodno.

Germans Admit Retreat.

(The German communique placed "the advancing Soviets" west of Alytus in Lithuania, 51 miles from East Prussia, 33 miles south of Kaunas and within 27 miles of the East Prussia-Riga Railway over which two Nazi armies in the Baltic republics must be supplied in part. Retreats along much of the central front were acknowledged by the German high command. The surrounded Wilno garrison was being supplied by air.

(The Berlin radio announced that German troops had gone into action above Russian-held Viipuri, in the south of Finland. Seven German divisions have been in Northern Finland, but this was the first reported action by Nazis in the south since a "complete understanding" was reached between Finland and Germany, leading to virtual Nazi occupation of the country and severance of United States-Finnish relations.)

General Soviet advances along the 400-mile front between Latvia and the Pripyat marshes swept through more than 400 places yesterday. The Russians reported killing at least 4000 Germans and capturing hundreds more.

The new forward sweeps placed Red forces within 45 miles of Kaunas, in Lithuania, 56 of Grodno, 51 of Bialystok, and less than 18 from Daugavpils, in Latvia. Military observers in Moscow saw a direct threat to Bialystok and Grodno in the strong central blow. Pinsk, at the edge of the Pripyat marshes to the south, already was

After Plane Crashes Into Trailer Camp

SOUTH PORTLAND, Me., July 12 (AP).—Sixteen persons are dead and five others are in serious condition as a result of the crash of a light Army plane which plowed into a war workers' camp of 100 trailers and blew up yesterday. Seven others are still in hospitals.

Eight of the dead, three of them children, remain unidentified. The identified dead:

Lt. Philip I. Russell, 23 years old, South Portland, and Staff Sgt. Wallace Mifflin, Seattle, Wash., the plane's crew; Edward A. Gerrish, 32, Orono shipyard worker; James Little, 4; Nancy Little, 2; Gordon Gorham, 42, and his wife, Florence, 34, and George Robertson, 9 months.

Bodies of the other victims who were trapped in lightly built homes and burned to death by flaming gasoline and oil awaited identification at funeral homes. Army authorities are investigating to determine the cause of the crash. They appealed today for the return of the plane's instrument panel, which they said had been "stolen" last night.

The plane was from Barksdale Field, La. It appeared to be in trouble as it banked over the Portland airport and then disappeared in a fog bank. It crashed almost immediately afterward.

A radio request for landing instructions was received by the Civil Aeronautics Administration airway communications station at the airport as the plane circled the field at rooftop height. There was no reply to urgent orders to gain altitude.

Mrs. Russell was waiting at the airport with her 3-months-old child and heard her husband's plane plunge into the nearby trailer settlement, which is known as the Westbrook trailer camp and is adjacent to the Federal Red-

Forrestal Estimates That 95 Pct. of Jap Garrison of 20,000 Was Wiped Out.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP).—American casualties in the conquest of Saipan, principal island of the Marianas group in the Western Pacific, totaled 15,053 men, including 2359 killed, 11,481 wounded and 1213 missing, Secretary of the Navy Forrestal reported today.

(This is an increase of 5301 in total casualties over those announced for the first 14 days of the campaign on Saipan, the costliest of the Pacific Island drives. The earlier figures put total casualties of 9752, including 1474 listed as dead.)

At the same time Forrestal said that in the period ending Monday, Japanese dead buried by American troops numbered 11,948.

He added an estimate that "probably 95 per cent" of the Japanese garrison which probably numbered "in excess of 20,000" died "in futile defense of the island."

His figures came shortly after Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific Fleet commander in chief, reported a communique that on Monday about 1000 Japanese soldiers had been taken prisoner and about 9000 civilians on the island had been interned. This was a record for enemy captures in any one operation in the Pacific.

Nimitz reported that one Marine regiment killed 711 enemy troops on July 10.

Higher Total Likely.

Nimitz's report was based on mopping up operations through Sunday and Monday. The indication was that the total would be increased as the Americans cleaned up additional areas.

In previous campaigns in the central, south and southwest Pacific the number of Japanese prisoners has been limited to a few hundred.

Meanwhile carrier based planes lashed Monday at Guam and Rota Islands, south of Saipan. It was the sixth straight day of attacks on Guam, former American naval base.

In the latest air attack on Guam three towns on the western shore,

STEEL FOR TANKS AND GUNS HELD UP BY STRIKE OF 300

Production of steel for Army tanks and Navy guns at the American Steel Foundries plant in Granite City was halted today by an unauthorized strike of 300 chippers whose walkout threw 1800 other employes out of work.

The strikers, members of Local 1063, CIO United Steel Workers of America, walked out last night in protest against War Labor Board delay in acting on a request for higher wages. The chippers — workmen who chip rough spots from castings—set up picket lines at the hours when shifts changed.

Repair crews remained at work, but all production departments were forced to shut down, it was reported by Chester Walcher, works manager, who added that Army and Navy officials had been asked to appeal to the strikers to resume work.

There has been a series of unauthorized strikes over wage disputes at the Granite City plant. Some employes walked out last March 14 over company failure to carry out a WLB order for payment of a retroactive bonus to employes who had worked on Saturdays and Sundays. In further protest on this point, 22 members of the AFL International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers stopped work June 3, causing a four-day shutdown.

30,000 CHILDREN EVACUATED FROM TOKYO SINCE JULY 8

Moved Out as Precaution Against Air Attacks by Americans.

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP).—The Tokyo radio said today that 30,000 school children had been evacuated from Tokyo to rural districts since July 8 as a precaution against further American air raids.

AMERICANS GAIN ON BOTH ENDS OF FRONT AND REPEL BLOW AT CENTER

By WES GALLAGHER

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, July 12 (AP).—American troops destroyed more than 20 Nazi tanks today in smashing back heavy German counterblows at the center of their lines, and moved forward on both wings of the 48-mile front to within two miles of the western anchor town of Lessay, and even closer to the road junction of St. Lo.

The repulse of German armor raised to 144 the number of enemy tanks knocked out in France in the last few days.

To the east, British-Canadian lines were pushed back between the Odon and Orne rivers southwest of Caen and the village of Louvigny was lost, supreme headquarters said. German armored resistance has been especially strong in the Caen sector.

But the British held solidly to their line in the Odon River salient, and to "Crucifix Hill" northeast of Esquay despite the most violent German efforts to retake it. A whole German regiment of up to 3000 men was liquidated, and hundreds of Nazis were captured.

Nazi Tank Charges.

In violent fighting, Americans closed in on St. Lo from two directions, and the Nazis counterattacked to cover a German withdrawal to the west. A front dispatch said the doughboys were less than two miles from St. Lo on the east.

Throwing their heaviest assault toward Le Desert, six miles northwest of St. Lo, German tanks and troops charged head-on into United States lines, and more than 20 enemy tanks were destroyed before the Nazis retreated. Le Desert, west of St. Jean de Daye, was left in a no man's land with the doughboys a couple of hundred yards from that village. The Americans had captured Le Desert on Monday.

Today's German tank lunge was a repetition of an armored attack yesterday, which had the aim, according to captured German orders, of breaking through to Isigny and cutting the American

MONTEREY, Mo., July 12.—The feeble barking of a 10-year-old hound today spurred on 25 men and boys who for 10 days have been seeking to release the dog from an unexplored Ozark cave in which the dog was trapped while chasing a 'coon.

As Reynolds County farmers hurried their efforts to force a hole through a limestone bluff overlooking the Black River in this rugged country, Drive, the dog of Jake Light, whimpered slightly in response to his master's call. The farmers have been working since July 2 to release the dog from a pit into which he fell after following the 'coon into a small tunnel.

After days and nights of digging and blasting away at 20 feet of hard rock, the crew today struck a layer of soft rock, and expressed the hope they could enlarge the tunnel enough for a man to crawl through with a rope to rescue the dog from the pit. They hoped to reach the dog by nightfall.

Light, who loved Drive most of the 12 hounds he owns, weeps unashamedly as he assists in the efforts to free his pet. In the mountain country where a good dog is considered one of man's best assets, neighbors share his distress and seek to help free the animal.

"Drive is an old dog," Light said in explanation for the extended work to free the hound, "but he is a good one."

Neighbors and even strangers who have come to volunteer feel the same way. From Lesterville, 12 miles away, came several volunteers. They didn't know Light, but had known of Drive for a long time.

Attempts have been made to feed the imprisoned dog by pushing strips of bacon through the hole into which he crawled. Light doesn't know whether the dog has been getting the food. There may be water at the bottom of the pit. Light thinks he has heard the dog swimming around in there.

While the men and boys have been working to extricate the dog, Mrs. Light and neighboring women have been preparing meals for the rescuers who often work as long as 18 hours a day, using lantern light after darkness falls. The scene is accessible only by Ozark trails and lies roughly about 10 miles southwest of Ironton.

CHANGE IN DRAFT POLICY UNLIKELY, HERSHEY ASSERTS

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP).—Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey said today he believes the present draft age policy "will meet the demands of the future."

"So long as the demands remain at the present stage, the use of the over-30-year-old group would not seem necessary, but the answer rests on the war situation," Maj. Gen. Hershey declared in an address delivered to the Commerce and Industry Association.

He said that unless the military situation should take "unforeseen turns," maintenance and replacement would account for most of the future demands for men.

The present selective service policy, which Hershey repeated, is to induct all possible able-bodied men under 26, to defer the 26-through-29 group all "necessary men" in activities which local boards deem essential, and to defer all men over 30 in essential employment.

BRITISH EXECUTE GERMAN SPY WHO SOUGHT INVASION PLANS

Belgian Waiter Posed as Refugee; 16th Agent Put to Death in England Since 1939.

LONDON, July 12 (AP).—Joseph Jan van Hove, a former Antwerp waiter who arrived here from Belgium last Feb. 11 posing as a refugee, was executed at Pentonville prison today as a German spy—the sixteenth person to be executed in Britain for espionage in this war.

At his trial it was charged he was sent to Britain by the Germans to obtain information about Allied plans for the invasion of France. His mission was described as a complete failure.

Van Hove was the third spy to be executed in Britain this year and was the fourth Belgian executed since the war began.

"Close one, eh Mac?" said the newcomer. "Where you from?"

"Missouri," was the reply.

"Put 'er there, Mac, that's my home State."

"Good place to be from, eh?"

"You said it."

As Pfc. Claude C. Hutchison Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude C. Hutchison Sr., 1142 Francis place, Richmond Heights, shook hands with Cpl. Louis C. Kohler, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Kohler, 453 South Van Buren avenue, Kirkwood, the writer plummeted into the shell hole.

"Where you from, Mac?" I was asked. I told them.

"Holy smoke," said the Marine from Kirkwood, "is Missouri the only State in the war?"

U. S. BOMBERS HIT MUNICH AREA AND 4 RAIL TARGETS IN SOUTHERN FRANCE

Reich Raided by 2000 Planes From Britain While Other Craft Strike From Italy — 5 Air Blows Aid Troops.

LONDON, July 12 (AP).—Nearly 2000 American planes battered the Munich area of Southern Germany again today while another force from Italy struck once more into the south of France, bombing four rail targets.

More than 1200 of the planes in the second successive raid on the Munich area were heavy bombers. The Swiss said three planes landed on their territory.

Targets of the heavy bombers from Italy were the Nimes and Miramas rail yards, the Var River rail bridge and the Theole sur Mer bridge. Nimes and Miramas are northwest of Marseille and the Var River is just west of Nice.

Up to 750 fighters convoyed the Fortresses and Liberators to Munich, a railway bottleneck for traffic into Italy and France and the site of numerous German war industries.

26 Bombers Lost.

The bombers met no German interceptors at Munich, but antiaircraft fire was intense and 26 big bombers are missing, a communique said. None of the escorting fighters was lost.

American planes carried out five attacks in Normandy in support of troops this morning.

A quarter hour apart, two forces of Marauder medium bombers hit a fuel dump and troop concentrations ten miles south of Caen. Two other Marauder groups followed with a 45-minute assault on a dump 35 miles south of Caen. Havoc light bombers went after a fuel cache eight miles east of the front. All the forest-hidden dumps contained fuel of Marshal Erwin Rommel's seven tank divisions massed against the British and Canadians.

Heavy Blow at Panzers.

Supreme Allied Headquarters disclosed that Allied aircraft supporting troops on the front had executed one of the most intensive attacks of the war on enemy armor. In Eastern and Western Normandy yesterday fighter-bombers and rocket planes destroyed 28 German tanks and damaged 16 more. This is equal to about one-fifth of the tank strength of a German armored division.

Bad weather kept support sorties down to a low total of 1700. The weather continued bad last night and operations for the third straight night were confined to attacks by Royal Air Force Mosquito bombers behind the German battlelines and in the Reich itself. The Mosquitoes attacked industrial targets in the Ruhr valley without loss.

Three Key Targets Raided.

Sky forces totaling some 4000 planes, including heavy bombers from both Britain and Italy, pounded three vital German targets yesterday—the Munich area; Toulon, on the Mediterranean, and flying bomb sites in Northern France.

Nazi transport and supply dumps in the Chalons-Vitry area, 90 miles east of Paris, were attacked last night.

German air operations were so restricted over the Normandy battlefields yesterday that only three Nazi craft were destroyed. Eleven Allied planes were lost.

The plane struck an embankment on the edge of the camp and bounced on into the trailers, enveloping the settlement in flame and smoke as it exploded. Occupants dashed from trailers, mothers carrying babies and others calling frantically for the children.

One engine of the two-motored plane hurtled through a trailer, passing within a few feet of a mother and child lying on a couch. They were uninjured.

The body of one airman was found beneath the flooring of a trailer and fireman said he evidently had been blown through a window of a trailer foundation.

Battlefront in Normandy

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

Points of American attacks against strong German resistance are indicated by arrows. Americans captured Angoville and cleared the Mount Castre Forest in a drive toward Lessay, pressed the Germans in the La Roserie area and fought off counterattacks around Le Desert. In the drive toward St. Lo the Americans moved to within two miles of the town.

HEAVY FIGHTING ALL ALONG FRONT IN NORMANDY

beachhead in two. But in yesterday's action American dive bombers knocked out 22 German tanks before they even reached the front and infantrymen accounted for 12 others before the Germans retreated.

Enemy Still Strong.

Despite the heavy German armored losses, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's headquarters warned that "enemy armor still is strong and he is fighting back vigorously but is being worn down and given no rest."

The west wing of the American attack advanced nearly a mile, seizing the villages of Angoville-sur-Ay and La Bourdonnerie, and carrying to within two miles of Lessay. These gains put the Americans almost four miles south of La Haye du Puits.

To the southeast of La Haye du Puits, Bradley's troops cleared the forest of Mont Castre and gained good positions for further advances either toward Lessay or Periers.

New German Tactic.

Below Mont Castre the Americans encountered a new German defense tactic. The Germans were using their 88-millimeter guns in the front line to fire at point-blank range at the advancing doughboys. The guns fired a few rounds at one place, then moved to another to blast at the advancing line.

In getting their guns this far forward the Germans were running the risk of losing weapons and having the crews wiped out by American infantrymen.

The Luftwaffe made its first appearance in weeks over the American sector, dropping two bombs on La Haye du Puits and strafing roads.

On the inland side of their front, Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's men opened another attack at dawn against St. Lo, digging out entrenched Germans with bayonets. They struck from points two miles north and four northeast of St. Lo. The doughboys by-passed, then captured St. Andre de l'Epine.

300 Nazis Trapped.

Five miles north of St. Lo some 300 stubborn Nazis were cornered in an old chateau at La Meauffe. After attempts to "blast" them out with loud speakers failed, an American commander ordered artillery fire to bring them to terms.

Because of the formidable hedgerows, ditches and canals, tanks have been under a handicap and the battle for St. Lo has turned into a doughboy show.

The Germans were making a savage yard-by-yard defense of St. Lo on which they hinged their line to control the St. Lo-Periers-Lessay lateral highway.

Fields and hedgerows on the ridges before St. Lo were littered with enemy dead. The Germans took a terrible beating under the mighty artillery barrage which thundered from dawn to dusk yesterday.

North of St. Lo the enemy put in a counterattack across the Vire River in an attempt to hit one unit's flank and disrupt the drive southward, but this thrust was smashed by artillery and infantry fire while United States troops pushed west of St. Jean de Daye to straighten out the line. The infantry passed through the hamlet of St. Georges Delle, and drove on 1000 yards against comparatively light opposition.

Medium and light American bombers intervened in the ground fighting, bombing the fuel supplies of Marshal Rommel's tanks and trucks behind the line. They also strafed German reserves moving up to St. Lo, and hit a bridge near Paris.

Supreme headquarters said of yesterday's fighting that German counterattacks had been "many and severe all along the front," but that they had been held and some Allied gains had been made.

One of the heaviest German assaults was made against the British Orne River bridgehead northeast of Caen. German tanks and infantry drove into Colombelles, a village which the British had occupied on Monday. The situation there today was obscure.

British troops forced their way forward for limited gains around Hottot, south of Tilly-sur-Seulles, and the Germans reacted violently.

The American drive on St. Lo had big possibilities. If the city fell, the Germans likely would have to back up some 15 miles southwestward from St. Lo and southward from the Lessay sector to Coutances, near the base of the Cherbourg peninsula.

Headquarters disclosed that Maj. Gen. Charles Harrison Corlett, a native of Nebraska, who led the Seventh Infantry Division in the American assault on Kwajalein atoll in the Marshal Islands, now is commanding an American corps in Normandy.

(This apparently means that at least three corps are now in action in the American First Army, since it had been announced earlier that Maj. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow was commanding the Fifth Corps in the St. Lo sector and that Maj. Gen. Joseph L. Collins was leading the Seventh Corps, which took Cherbourg. A corps is composed of two divisions or more.)

SOME NAZI ROBOTS DROPPING IN LONG, NOISELESS GLIDES

London Has Second Straight Night Respite, but Daylight Attacks Continue.

LONDON, July 12 (AP).—London experienced its second successive raid-free night last night, but with daylight the Germans resumed their flying bomb attacks on the capital, from which 53,000 children have been evacuated.

Southern England had no respite from the robots, which were reported to have caused additional casualties and damage there during the night.

Allied fighters shot down some of the robots last night. It was disclosed that some of the projectiles now drop silently in long glides that make them more difficult to escape. Witnesses said one of the bombs which smashed a house and killed an occupant came in in a slow and noiseless glide "almost like a feather."

Australia House, headquarters of the Australian Government in London, and the Brazilian consulate have been damaged by the bombs, it was disclosed.

Londoners, meanwhile, welcomed news that the Government had re-opened four prohibited coastal areas in Southwest England to assist in evacuation of civilians from sectors hit by the robots. The areas include such popular seaside resorts as Weymouth, Torquay and Bournemouth, closed to the public for the greater part of the war.

Jap Bases Attacked Over Wide Arc in Pacific.

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, July 12 (AP).—Widespread air attacks on Japanese positions from the Northern Pacific Kuriles to Ceram, in The Netherlands East Indies, were announced yesterday by Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Adm. Chester W. Nimitz.

Yap, in the Western Carolines, was hit by Liberators which shot down five of more than 20 interceptors and Truk, Woleai and Palau were bombed. A 10,000-ton enemy tanker was left dead in the water near Halmahera Island, west of New Guinea, and two small merchant vessels were beached after being hit in the vicinity of Ceram.

Medium bombers, attack planes and fighters harassed enemy concentrations in the Wewak sector of British New Guinea. Paramushiro and Shumushu, in the Kuriles were attacked with only light antiaircraft fire meeting the American planes.

TALKS UNDER WAY THAT MAY BRING TURKEY INTO WAR

By FRANK O'BRIEN

ANKARA, July 11 (Delayed) (AP).—Conversations are afoot here which may lead to Turkish participation in the war before the end of the summer. The talks are among representatives of Turkey, Russia and Britain.

These conferences of the Soviet and British ambassadors and Turkish leaders, principally Premier Sukru Saracoglu, have been taken up at the point where the Cairo conferences last year left Turkey's position within the United Nations undefined.

(A Transocean broadcast from Berlin today said there was no doubt "something of great import is being discussed in Ankara." The broadcast added that the Turkish cabinet had met last night with President Ismet Inonu and that the parliamentary group of the people's party had held a secret conference with Saracoglu. Franz von Papen, German ambassador to Turkey, was said to have called on Saracoglu yesterday.)

The British-Russian-Turkish talks must first surmount the bitterness created by Allied charges that Turkey failed to keep its word and the Turkish counter that the Allies failed to equip Turkey completely for war as had been promised.

The United States has been fully informed of the progress of the conversations, which began about 10 days ago.

The Turks are said to feel that it would be beneath their national dignity to participate in the war by merely giving bases to the Allies.

Before everything else, the Turks want assurance of Turkey's postwar political and territorial integrity, a clearcut statement of Allied postwar aims, a satisfactory explanation of how and when and to what extent Turkey will be armed if it should enter the conflict, plus a definite idea of precisely what would be expected of it.

NAZIS HAVE MADE SIX PEACE BIDS, MADRID DISPATCH SAYS

LONDON, July 12 (AP).—A Madrid dispatch to the London News Chronicle today said it was reported in the Spanish capital that Germany has made at least six attempts to gain a negotiated peace since February—the last one shortly before Hitler's "never capitulate" speech last week.

The News Chronicle said it was reported the first was tried in February when Gen. Baron Alexander von Falkenhausen flew to Lisbon, the next after the fall of Rome, and four since the invasion of Normandy.

has averaged 1018 a month in the air and 257 aground this year. An average of 771 strategic United States bombers were over Europe every day.

The senior officer disclosed that recent industrial targets included plants working on jet-engine propulsion, which is used in the robots bombarding London.

He said the United States, Britain and Russia were in agreement on priorities regarding the different types of targets and added:

"There will be additional attacks on the German fighter plane industry whenever needed."

As recently as last October, an officer disclosed that the Eighth United States Air Force had a maximum attack force of 300 bombers. Today, the number has quadrupled to 1200 despite losses.

The senior officer said bombing at the start of the campaign was much less accurate than was anticipated on the basis of pre-war training. Subsequent bombing accuracy has improved, he said, beyond even the peacetime standard.

Strategic bomb loads loosed on the Germans by United States Strategic Air Forces have grown from 22,000 tons in January to 82,000 tons in June. Operations increased from 29,000 bomber and fighter sorties in March to 65,600 in June.

'Foe at Gates,' Reich Told as Reds Advance

Foreign Workers Reported Moved Out of East Prussia.

LONDON, July 12 (AP).—With Russian armies plunging steadily toward East Prussia and the Baltic Sea, German broadcasters have begun to cry "the enemy is at the gates of Germany."

Berlin radio commentator Kurt Dittmar gravely warned the German people that "the supreme test now comes for all of us"—since "the distance between us and the battlefield has almost vanished." On all fronts, he said, "Germans fight against a considerable superiority in men and material."

"State of Alarm" in Prussia.

(The Office of War Information quoted the Stockholm newspaper Afton Tidningen as reporting the "highest state of alarm" in East Prussia. Afton Tidningen said the Germans had closed the frontiers and mined all approaches, adding that "the people fear Russian parachutists will land before the actual attack on East Prussia."

(The article reported further that 300,000 foreign workers in East Prussian factories have been shifted to the interior of Germany because of fears they might "attack the German troops in the back.")

Dittmar termed the western front the "focal and most decisive" of Germany's three fronts, saying the Nazis had depleted the central sector of the eastern front "to create operative reserves, so often bitterly lacking," and that "then the Soviets cleverly exploited the lack of depth of the German center forces to break through."

Further Retreat Predicted.

He predicted still other retreats on the central front and intimated that the German high commander had been guilty of miscalculations, saying "for obvious reasons it cannot be discussed at the moment how a situation could arise enabling the Russians to advance to quite unexpected depth."

"We are faced with final decisions whose seriousness is brought home as we realize that names like Wilno and Lida are appearing in east front communiques still fresh in our minds from World War I, and we see the menace which the Soviet advance brings," Dittmar said.

"Now everything depends on the possibility of restoring the position created by the deep Russian breach with large-scale operations to straighten the front."

BRITISH-AMERICAN-FRENCH PACT INDICATED BY EDEN

He Says U. S. Acceptance of De Gaulle Authority Opens Way for Agreement — British Press Praises Washington Action.

LONDON, July 12 (AP).—The decision of the United States to recognize the right of Gen. Charles de Gaulle's French National Committee to handle civil administration in liberated areas of France coincides with British views and means a three-way agreement may be announced soon, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden indicated in Commons today.

The United States Government's action was hailed editorially as "a great step forward," by British morning newspapers.

"It's true this doesn't constitute formal recognition of the committee as the provisional government," said the conservative Daily Sketch, "but it represents a considerable advance in the committee's acknowledged status and it is proverbial in France that it is the first step which counts. This brings nearer a satisfactory episode which from the point of view of the democratic cause has been too prolonged and on occasions distressingly acrimonious."

The Daily Mail said De Gaulle's visit to Washington had "done nothing but good." It added: "The differences with President Roosevelt have been ironed out and the fighting French leader scored a personal triumph in the American capital. . . . The announcement merely regularizes the position already existing and virtually recognized by Britain. Nevertheless its a great step forward. In fact, De Gaulle's men already are administering freed areas of France and working in complete amity with British and American authorities. It will be for the French people to decide whether the French committee shall become the first government of the Fourth Republic."

The French committee may set up an advance headquarters in the liberated area of France soon, but the establishment of its full governing machinery on the soil of the homeland will await the capture of a big city.

Personnel of De Gaulle's organization and the French Consultative Assembly approximates 3000. Neither Cherbourg nor Caen is equipped to handle that number.

De Gaulle Visits French-Speaking Cities in Canada.

OTTAWA, July 12 (AP).—Gen. Charles de Gaulle today visited Quebec and Montreal, the principal French-speaking cities of Canada, after a day spent in Ottawa as the guest of the Canadian Government. Nearing the close of his visit to North America, he described the journey as one of 'general and mutual information.'

Newspaper men in Ottawa questioned De Gaulle on his views as to the recognition of the National Committee as the provisional government of France.

"The French Government exists," he said, "that is all I have to say. But I will state and at once that we Frenchmen understand perfectly well that, in the course of what has taken place, other states may have asked themselves certain questions and waited a while before answering such questions. We understand that perfectly well."

JOHN MORRIS OF UNITED PRESS PLUNGES TO DEATH IN EAST

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP). — John R. Morris, Far Eastern manager of the United Press Association, fell or jumped to his death today from a twelfth-floor window of the News Building on East Forty-second street to the roof of an adjoining building. Morris, born at Lancaster, Mo., 43 years ago, returned to New York three months ago from Chungking.

COLUMBIA, Mo., July 11 (AP). —John R. Morris was honored with a distinguished service award by the School of Journalism, University of Missouri, here two months ago for distinguished service as a foreign correspondent for the Japan Advertiser and the United Press for many years.

Morris, whose brother, Joe Alex Morris, is managing editor of Colliers, went to Tokyo in 1922 after serving as secretary to Dean Walter Williams at the press congress of the world in a meeting at Honolulu. He returned after several years in Japan to work in Denver and Mexico City. In 1933 when he returned to Shanghai.

ALLIES BLAST OUT SMALL GAINS ALL ALONG ITALY LINE

Yanks Drive to Within 8 Miles of Livorno—British Bring Ancona Under Artillery Fire.

By EDWARD KENNEDY

ROME, July 12 (AP). — American light armored elements pushed forward two miles along the Italian west coast yesterday in the face of bitter German resistance to capture Castiglioncello, thus bringing the Fifth Army to within eight miles of Livorno (Leghorn).

Some eight miles inland, American infantry advanced from Casale toward Pastina, where the Germans showed the utmost determination to delay their progress.

American troops farther east also encountered tough going northeast of Lajatico, where the Nazis counterattacked fiercely, but they repelled the thrust and Lajatico itself was brought under attack. Late dispatches said the Nazis still were holding out within the town.

In the upper Tiber Valley, Eighth Army troops occupied Meone Morra and Mucignano and cleared 3000-foot-high Mount Civitella of the enemy.

At the same time Allied tanks crossed the Nestore River, upper tributary of the Tiber, and advanced some distance beyond. Farther east, in the Pietralunga area, a German counterattack caused a slight loss of ground by the Allies.

On the Adriatic coast Italian troops were credited with a slight advance in the vicinity of the Musone River and the port of Ancona was brought under artillery fire by the Allies, who now are only eight miles away.

In falling back north of the Musone River the Germans gave up the villages of Pettovaliane, Troviggiano and Avenale.

Polish troops also active in this region have, it was estimated, captured 1700 Germans, killed 1300 and wounded 3900 in addition to capturing 81 guns in recent fighting.

WPB APPROVES STAGGER SYSTEM ON RECONVERSION

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP).—Donald M. Nelson's program for "reconversion in miniature," fought by the Army and Navy in one of Washington's most explosive inter-agency struggles, will go into partial effect next Saturday and full effect Aug. 15.

In a compromise announced last night the War Production Board chairman agreed to postponement until mid-August of the most important part of his program—an order that would permit manufacturers to make civilian goods now restricted or barred entirely, upon approval from WPB field offices.

This step, one of four orders which Nelson described as "industrial preparations for peace," will mean at the start a slight increase in civilian goods, through the use of plants and workers not needed for the war.

Stagger System Adopted.

Ultimately, however, it is intended to provide the machinery for giving work to men and machines left idle by the deep cutbacks in arms production which will come when Germany falls.

The other three orders—all vital to industry but of less immediate concern to consumers—will appear at seven-day intervals starting Saturday with the lifting of curbs on the use of aluminum and magnesium.

The staggered schedule of effective dates was agreed upon by all factions, WPB announced, "in order to give the War Man-Power Commission more time to perfect its organization and administrative controls."

This was virtually the only concession made. It resulted from protests of Man-Power Director Paul V. McNutt and the armed services that the start of civilian manufacture would aggravate the labor, by hindering recruiting of new war workers and by jeopardizing the new Federal job-control program.

Details of Plan.

The compromise, approved yesterday by Nelson at his apartment where he is convalescing from pneumonia and then ratified by a full board session of WPB, provides this sequence of orders:

July 15—Removal of some bars on the nonwar use of aluminum and magnesium; also, permission to substitute them for other metals in such civilian articles as are now produced.

July 22—Permission to manufacturers to make experimental models of postwar products.

July 29—Permission to industry, to start at once placing orders for machines, tools and equipment that will be needed in tooling for peacetime pursuits.

Aug. 15—"Spot" authorization by WPB field offices for civilian manufacture where no interference with war work will result. WPB has prepared a preferential list of 124 groups of scarce civilian products, ranging from bathtubs and sewing machines to hair clippers and fountain pens.

Concern of Army Men.

"The War Department is fully sympathetic to the start of civilian production at any time it can be done without harm to the war effort," Maj. Gen. Lucius Clay said in outlining the Army's position at a press conference, ". . . but we in the War Department definitely are afraid of a relaxation of controls."

Clay, director of production of the Army Service Forces, said medium tanks ran 7 per cent behind schedule in the last quarter, 155 mm. field guns 33 per cent behind, field wire 16 per cent behind, and some radio equipment 35 per cent behind.

Labor shortages are affecting production of forgings, castings, steel and other products, he said, even while output for the Army service forces faces a scheduled rise from $1,885,000,000 in May to $2,270,000,000 by November.

Clay said that the Army's production program for the next three months is the most difficult of the entire war, adding that only 40 per cent of 1944 military requirements exclusive of aircraft were met in the first six months of the year.

DRUGGIST WHO HAS KILLED 2 ROBBERS IS HELD UP AGAIN

Leroy H. Schumann, owner of a drug store at 2804 Market street, who has shot and killed two robbers in his determination to resist holdups, was robbed of $200 today by two Negro youths, one of whom sprang from hiding and struck the druggist on the head with a soda pop bottle The robbers escaped.

In reporting the theft to police, Schumann said he opened his store at 8 a. m. and saw one Negro in the store. As Schumann stepped inside, he locked the door and proceeded toward the Negro, who retreated to a telephone booth at the rear. The second Negro, who Schumann said he had not seen, jumped from behind a counter and struck him.

Schumann said he fell to the floor stunned. The Negroes threatened to beat him with bottles unless he unlocked the door and let them out. He complied and later called police. In 1917 and in 1924 Schumann shot and killed Negroes who attempted to rib his store. In March, 1930, he was shot in the leg as he exchanged shots with another Negro robber, whom he wounded.

WORKHOUSE WARDEN 'FLUNKS' JOB TEST

E. P. Loesch, in Post 3 Years on Temporary Basis, to Be Replaced.

Edward P. Loesch, who has been serving as warden of the City Workhouse for almost three years, "flunked" a recent civil service examination for the position, the Post-Dispatch learned today after an eligible list of names of persons who did pass the test was issued by Acting Director of Personnel Thor W. Bruce.

Appointment of Loesch as warden July 16, 1941, was on a temporary basis, Bruce explained, because at that time the civil service system was not functioning adequately enough to give examinations. Since the posting of an eligible list, Leosch's position and that of Edgar C. Hensley, warden of the city jail, who also was appointed on a temporary basis for the same reason, will be declared vacant.

Hensley, however, passed the civil service examination and his name is second on the eligible list, which means that he made the second highest grade. First place was obtained by Rannie B. Shrewsbury, assistant parole officer of Municipal Courts, and third place by Clarence Weismantel, a member of the transaction staff in the Department of Personnel.

In accordance with civil service laws, Director of Public Welfare Henry S. Caulfield will make the appointments from the eligible list, after the three top scorers have been certified to him by Bruce, which he said, would be within the next 10 days.

JULIUS KLYMAN RESIGNS AS CIO POLITICAL CHAIRMAN

Julius H. Klyman resigned the chairmanship of the Greater St. Louis Political Action Committee of the CIO at a meeting of the committee last night. Richard Brazier, manager of the St. Louis joint board of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, was elected to succeed him.

Klyman said: "I am regretfully resigning because it is impossible for me to find time for the increasing amount of work which properly falls on the chairman's shoulders. To continue in the chairmanship would be to work an injustice on the CIO membership in the most important task it has ever undertaken.

"The committee is now a well-established entity. It will benefit distinctly from the services of a chairman who can devote the proper time to this movement which must contribute importantly to the winning of the war, the attainment of a just and lasting peace, and the establishment of an economy benefitting not only the workers but all other elements of our national life.

"I am confident that the effectiveness of the committee, already evident in its registration campaign, will be even more thoroughly demonstrated in the coming primary."

Klyman represented the St. Louis Newspaper Guild on the committee. His successor will be chosen by the Guild membership.

MAN GETS YEAR FOR ILLEGALLY HOLDING GASOLINE COUPONS

Charles Coleman Carter, 42 years old, a former convict, yesterday pleaded guilty of illegal possession of gasoline ration coupons and was given a maximum sentence of one year in Federal prison by United States District Judge Richard M. Duncan, who announced his intention to enforce the law against black-market gasoline operators "to its fullest extent."

Carter, who gave an address in the 3900 block of Lindell boulevard, was arrested last June 14 after he attempted to sell coupons worth 2000 gallons of gasoline to a local filling station operator. Office of Price Administration agents reported he had coupons for 4000 additional gallons on his person.

The OPA said Carter was agent for a black-market ring in Cairo, Ill., which stole ration coupons turned in to a bank on gummed sheets, the coupons being soaked off the sheets and sold for five cents a gallon to Carter, who in turn attempted to sell them for seven and one-half cents a gallon.

PROPOSAL TO CLOSE ISOLATION HOSPITAL

Caulfield Studies Plan to Transfer 100 Patients to Other Institutions.

A proposal that Isolation Hospital at 5600 Arsenal street be closed temporarily in the interest of economy and its 100 or more patients be transferred to special wards in other city institutions was being considered today by Director of Public Welfare Henry S. Caulfield, a Post-Dispatch reporter was informed.

The suggestion was advanced by H. J. Mohler, a member of Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann's Hospital Advisory Committee, in a letter to Director Caulfield. Mohler pointed out that it could be reopened at any time to be used primarily for chronic illnesses as suggested by the sub-committee of the Citizens' Bond Issue Committee.

Isolation Hospital, containing 200 beds, has a daily average of 100 patients, Mohler said. City Hospital, Malcolm Bliss Psychopathic Hospital, Homer G. Phillips Hospital and Koch Hospital had approximately 937 vacant beds as of April 1, he said. The 93 employes of Isolation Hospital, he suggested, could be transferred to the other four institutions where shortages exist.

Director Caulfield said the plan for transferring patients from Isolation Hospital to specially designated wards in the other hospitals was, in general, good but "there are a good many matters to be considered before the plan could be put into effect."

FATHER OF THREE ADMITS EAST SIDE TAVERN KILLING

Harley DuVall, of 1731 Cleveland avenue, East St. Louis, father of three children, surrendered to East St. Louis police today and signed a statement in which he admitted the fatal shooting of James Eastham, 62 years old, of 137 South Fourth street, East St. Louis, in a quarrel last Thursday night in a tavern at 1645 St. Louis avenue.

In his statement, police said, DuVall related that he and his wife were in the tavern and at the next table was Eastham, with some relatives and friends. DuVall said he had put a nickel in a juke box and one of Eastham's friends turned the box off, because Mrs. Pauline Eastham wanted to play a piano. The quarrel followed.

DuVall then took his wife home and later returned to the tavern, he said. Eastham and his friends resumed the argument with him, he related, and attempted to rush at him as though to strike him with their fists. It was then that DuVall said he fired four shots at Eastham. DuVall went to Mount Vernon, Ind., and stayed with friends, he said, until he read in a newspaper that Eastham had died at St. Mary's Hospital.

CIGARETTE SHORTAGE MAY CONTINUE TILL WAR ENDS

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP).—The shortage of popular brands of cigarettes probably will continue until the European war is ended, trade sources said today.

Named as factors in the continuing shortage were the expanding quantity of tax-free cigarettes sent overseas, the tight inventories of leaf tobacco stored in warehouses and the increasing serious shortage of cases and containers.

Tobacco companies reported that new crops, which start coming in next month, probably will be bumper ones, but the unknown factor here, they said, was how much tobacco the Government would allocate for export.

STORM RELIEVES DROUTH, CAUSES SOME DAMAGE

More than an inch of rain fell last night in St. Louis and varying amounts in St. Louis County and elsewhere in the State during an electrical storm which brought relief from a drouth daily growing more serious.

Lightning set fire to a 60,000-barrel crude oil tank at the Standard Oil Co. refinery at Wood River. Lightning did minor damage to a garage and house in St. Louis County. Wind felled some trees, poles and wires in the city.

Refinery firefighters brought the fire under control with chemical extinguishing foam after an explosion ruptured the tank's roof, Dr. W. J. McGill, plant manager, said. Burning oil illuminated the darkened town of Wood River, in which power failed during the storm.

Dr. McGill would not estimate the damage in the fire, which lasted from about 10:30 to shortly after midnight, but a source familiar with refinery operations suggested a figure of between $15,000 and $20,000 in oil lost and injury to the tank.

County Agricultural Agent Paul M. Bernard at Clayton said the rainfall came in time to save many vegetable crops and victory gardens. It was the heaviest rain locally since May 23. With yesterday afternoon's .14-inch shower and Saturday's .25 inches of rain the storm gave St. Louis a July total to date of 1.46 inches, exceeding the very dry June total of 1.34 inches for the entire month, Weather Bureau figures showed.

Rainfall 1.07 Inches.

Most of the night's rainfall of 1.07 inches in the city was concentrated in a heavy downpour between about 10:20 and midnight. At Lambert-St. Louis Field the precipitation was .83 of an inch.

Harry F. Wahlgren, meteorologist at the Weather Bureau, said that the central and southern sections of Missouri, where the drouth is most serious,, benefited only slightly from the storm. He pointed out that while "locally we're lucky," it would have been preferable if the rain had not been concentrated in so short a time.

The Municipal Opera performance of "Naughty Marietta" at Forest Park was canceled, but no rain checks were issued since a considerable part of the performance had been given.

Temporary relief from the heat resulted when the temperature took an 11-degree drop from 81 degrees just before the storm broke to a low of 70 at midnight. It started up again this morning toward what was predicted would be the low 80s today, and back into the 90s by Friday.

Police Have Many Calls

During the height of the storm police had various calls. Abe Stephens, of 3000 Lafayette avenue, was blinded by a cloudburst as he drove along the levee, and took his car into five feet of water in the Mississippi River near the foot of Poplar street, he told police. Stephens, a collector, waded ashore, and Coast Guardsmen towed his machine to a garage.

Townspeople of Glen Carbon, between Edwardsville and Collinsville, returned to their wells as a source of water today after a leak developed in the town storage tank during a storm, letting approximately 15,000 gallons run out. William Rasplica, member of the town water committee, said it was not known whether the leak, in a caulked joint below the ground, resulted from the storm.

Precipitation readings at various points in the State reported by the Weather Bureau here were: Columbia, .44 inches; Sedalia, .13; Springfield, 1.20; Jefferson City, .43, and Maryville, in the extreme northwest, .40 inches.

CROWING ROOSTER CONFINED

A rooster pet of the three children of Mrs. Kyle Weaver, 7117 Glenmore avenue, Pine Lawn, which disturbed the sleep of persons within crowing range, will spend his nights hereafter in the basement of the Weaver home instead of the back yard, Mrs. Weaver told St. Louis County deputy sheriffs yesterday.

Their investigation followed receipt by Prosecuting Attorney Stanley Wallach of a letter from a resident of Pine Lawn which said that persons living within crowing range sometimes had to take sedatives to sleep and then overslept and were late to work.

PATTERSON URGES LARGE POSTWAR U. S. AIR FORCE

He Also Proposes Stand-by War Plane Production Plants Ready for Any Emergency.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP).—Maintenance of a formidable postwar military air force, with stand-by aircraft production plants ready for any emergency, was proposed today by Robert P. Patterson, Under Secretary of War.

He coupled the recommendations with proposals for vast expansion of civilian flying.

Appearing before a Senate military subcommittee, Patterson gave this outline of the War Department's ideas on the relationship of the aircraft industry to national defense:

1. The postwar military establishment, with its necessary industrial support, must be maintained on the assumption that this country will not again have a period of grace between the start of war and the necessity for full-scale military effort, such as was provided it by France, England and Russia in the present war.

Plant Protection.

2. The protective isolation of our war plants cannot be taken for granted in another war, because of the almost certain development of heavy bombers capable of reaching any objective in this country from overseas bases.

3. Security considerations dictate an aircraft industry with widely scattered plants.

"It will be necessary," Patterson testified, "for the Government to maintain a ready nucleus of reserve plant facilities that will permit rapid acceleration of aircraft output in a future emergency."

U. S. Ownership.

Title to the eight large Government-owned bomber plants should be retained by the Army Air Forces, Patterson declared, to insure maximum maintenance and minimum cost to the Government. They should be leased to private enterprise wherever possible, he suggested, adding that, wherever the plants can not be leased, they should be retained as stand-bys by the Army Air Forces.

Patterson told the committee steps are being taken in co-ordination with the War Production Board to assure that future cutbacks in military aircraft production will be arranged to permit output of civilian aircraft as soon as military requirements are met, and to the extent that labor is available.

FITZ GIBBON QUITS ELEVENTH DISTRICT RACE FOR CONGRESS

WALLACE'S BACKERS CLAIM 319 OF 589 NEEDED VOTES

Roosevelt Reported Ready to Recommend Him but Not Demand His Renomination.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP).—President Roosevelt, having accepted in advance a fourth-term nomination which long had been assured, was reported ready today to recommend—but not demand—a second term for Vice-President Wallace.

The decision clinching the nomination ahead of time produced conjecture that Roosevelt probably would pass up a formal acceptance speech to the Democratic National Convention, either in person or by radio.

Selection of a vice-presidential candidate is the single major task remaining for the convention starting a week from today in Chicago. Roosevelt is expected to lend a hand with it by nudging the delegates toward Wallace.

Today or tomorrow, the Chief Executive may let it be known that Wallace is his preference for a running mate, but that the convention is free to make its own choice.

Four years ago, he refused to accept renomination until Wallace was guaranteed second place. The President laid aside the weapon he used in 1940 when he announced yesterday that:

"If the convention should . . . nominate me for the presidency, I shall accept. If the people elect me, I will serve."

The 1944 strategy emphasized a belief of many Democrats that, with a presidential pat on the back, Wallace will be left to fend for himself against about 12 other potential nominees.

Thus it looks like a horse race, with Wallace in the pole position; for his backers claim he is assured of 319 of the 589 convention votes required for renomination.

Plenty of opposition to the Iowan exists within the party, however, particularly in its southern elements, and Capitol Hill has heard talk of organized campaigns for such other possibilities as Senate Majority Leader Barkley and Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Wallace, just back from a trip to China and Siberia, is staying away from his office, but he is seeing many politically minded people at his hotel.

Democratic Convention to Last Probably 3 Days, Says Chairman.

CHICAGO, July 12 (AP).—Senator Samuel D. Jackson (Dem.), Indiana, who is slated to be permanent chairman of the Democratic National Convention, said today the sessions probably would last only three days and added that "it doesn't look like" the President would come out to make a formal acceptance speech.

He told reporters he presumed President Roosevelt would be nominated on the evening of the second day of the conclave—Thursday, July 20—and that the deliberations would wind up the following day with the selection of a vice-presidential nominee.

Questioned about the "revolt in the South," the Senator said he did not expect any "serious trouble," and that the convention would be "more harmonious" than some people believe.

The American Democratic National Committee, an anti-administration organization, announced today it would meet in Chicago during the time the Democratic National Convention is in session here.

John J. O'Connor, former New York Congressman and chairman of the group's executive committee, said he issued the call for the meeting "to take such steps as the action of that (Democratic National) convention shall make necessary."

Total Now $220,733,472—Sales of All Types in Last 24 Hours $1,893,533.

War bond sales throughout the St. Louis area in the Fifth War Loan drive reached a total of $220,733,472 today or 22.1 per cent in excess of the original goal of $180,863,050. Sales of war bonds of all types in the last 24 hours were $1,893,533.

During the past 24 hours E bond sales showed a gain of $485,200, bringing the total sales in this area to $16,507,733 or 51.3 per cent of the $32,154,150 quota. The gain was only a little better than half the $948,919 daily average which must be maintained until the end of this month to meet the quota.

Continuing their campaign for 50,000 additional E bond pledges, Boy Scouts have obtained 42,990 of them representing bond investments totaling $7,736,307. The amount represents 154.7 per cent of their goal of five million dollars. The Scouts will try to reach their goal in individual pledges by Saturday.

University City reported total bond sales of $993,716. Its quota was $1,125,000.

I. A. Long, metropolitan campaign chairman for the drive, announced a subscription of $200,000 by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad and $185,000 by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. Other large subscriptions included $50,000 by Lewin-Mathes Co., and $45,000 by Universal Film Exchange.

Waves at the Naval Air Station, at Lambert-St. Louis Field, accounted for $86,000 worth of E bonds, during the Navy's Fifth War Loan Campaign which ended last Saturday. This sum was about 12½ per cent of the national goal set for the 50,000 officers and enlisted women of the Navy's Women Reserve.

Total bond sales at the Naval Air Station, including $573,350 of Series E bonds, were $1,038,625, making the Lambert Field station the leader among naval yards and stations.

RUSSIAN ANSWER ON STABILIZATION FUND DEMANDED

U. S. Delegation Seeks Decision After Red Request for Special Credits on Quota.

BRETTON WOODS, N. H., July 12.—The American delegation to the United Nations monetary conference has demanded a final answer from Soviet Union representatives on the all-important question of quotas to a proposed eight-billion dollar currency stabilization fund.

This was learned today from an unimpeachable conference source who added that the Russian group indicated a reply from Moscow might be expected by nightfall. He said he was "quite hopeful" the answer would be favorable.

Russia is known to be seeking a quota larger than the billion dollars originally assigned to it in a tentative draft of the stabilization fund proposal and at the same time to be demanding credit for its war-devastated areas. The credit would be in the form of a gold contribution smaller than that required of other nations.

The United States delegation reportedly agreed to increase the Russian quota figure to $1,200,000,000, with the understanding that Russia put up a fourth of that amount in gold or 10 per cent of its gold holdings, whichever was the smaller, or it could accept the smaller quota and thereby reduce its gold contribution proportionately under the formula that would apply to all participants.

The Russians, it is reported, have taken the stand that they had obtained pre-conference promises from the Americans for the special war credits, but this was said to have been the result of a misunderstanding, possibly because of language difficulties.

It is understood that either Premier Stalin or Foreign Minister Molotov will have to make the final decision.

Taft Says Congress Wouldn't Approve Morgenthau Plan.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP).—Senator Taft (Rep.), Ohio said yesterday that Congress would not approve a world financial stabilization plan he attributed to Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, calling for a "huge" international monetary fund and a United Nations bank.

Taft, chairman of the Republican Senate steering committee and a member of the Banking and Currency Committee, said that "nearly all the real assets" of such a monetary fund would come from this country, but would be dispensed by a board controlled by nations with currencies weaker than our own.

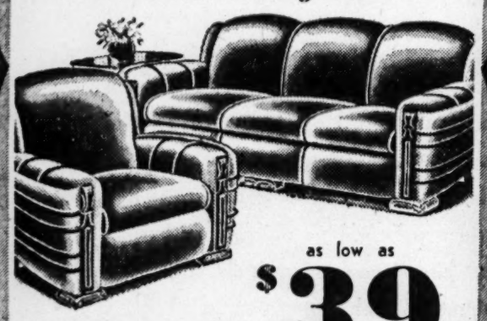

MAN AGAIN SENTENCED TO DEATH IN SECOND TRIAL

Leo L. Lyles, a Negro, 20 years old, was sentenced to death in the Missouri Penitentiary lethal chamber by Circuit Judge Amandus Brackman of Clayton today for the murder of Martin T. Twillman, who was killed three years ago near his home at Black Jack, Mo. Date of execution was set for Aug. 29. Prior to the death sentence, Judge Brackman overruled a motion for a new trial.

Lyles, together with William Edward Talbert, a Negro, who was sentenced to death by Judge John A. Witthaus at Clayton Monday, was convicted and sentenced to death in February, 1942, and was re-tried and found guilty last May in a new trial ordered by the Missouri Supreme Court.

Talbert's request for permission to appeal to the Supreme Court was granted today by Judge Witthaus. Counsel for Lyles indicated today he would also seek to appeal.

STATE DELEGATES BACKING TRUMAN FOR SECOND PLACE

What the Delegates Say.

Among Missouri's delegates at large, Mayor Phil J. Welch of St. Joseph said he was "for Truman for Vice-President 100 per cent"; Howard Cook, Jefferson City banker, expressed belief the delegation would stick to Truman as long as he had a chance; Mrs. Ann Brady, vice-chairman of the St. Louis Democratic Committee, said Truman as a candidate would help the President; Mrs. Mary Daly Boyle of Kirkwood mentioned his work on the Truman senatorial committee as proof of his qualifications for Vice President.

Mrs. Harve Gray of Clinton said she expected the delegation "enthusiastically to support him until nominated; I am confident such a course will fulfill the wishes of the people we represent." Mrs. James V. Billings of Kennett made Truman her first choice, but said Speaker Sam Rayburn, Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley or Wallace would be acceptable. W. A. Holloway of Harrisonville, also a delegate at large, who is regional director of the CIO Political Action Committee, which nationally favors Wallace, said he admired Wallace but would be proud to join in supporting Truman.

Mrs. Clella Peak, a Kansas City delegate at large, favors Truman, but would support someone else chosen by the President. State Senator Michael Kinney of St. Louis was noncommital, but said, before the canvass of delegates was completed, that he anticipated considerable sentiment for Truman. Mrs. Milton F. Duvall of Clarksville has made no decision.

Says Negroes Want Wallace.

Jordan W. Chambers, Negro, Nineteenth Ward Democratic committeeman, a district delegate, said that Negro leaders throughout Missouri had been insisting to him that he support Wallace. "I will act consistently with the wishes of my constituents," he added. As to application of the unit rule in the delegation on the vice presidency he said, "That depends on what type of candidate is chosen."

Mrs. Sophia True of Hannibal and William H. McCarty of Stanberry, a farm mortgage and real estate dealer, said they were for Wallace unless the President had some other preference.

District delegates favoring Truman—some of them with the qualification that this depended on whether Roosevelt had a choice—included: Oscar G. Schaefer and Emmett Golden, St. Louis; Joseph Jannuzzo, Normandy; Mrs. Jean Jordan, Ellington; Mrs. Ralph P. Johnson, Osceola; Prosecuting Attorney Marion Robertson, Marshall; Mrs. Herndon Bowman, New Franklin; Harry Y. Smith, St. Joseph; Mrs. June Briney Welborn, Bloomfield; James M. Reeves, Caruthersville; Assistant Attorney General B. R. Creech, Troy; W. W. Kelley, Rolla; R. A. Mooneyham, Carthage; Sam M. Wear, Springfield; Mrs. Lorraine Ruppel, Aurora.

Jannuzzo said his second choice was Rayburn "and I'd leave Wallace off the ticket." Mrs. Welborn's second choice is Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes. Reeves said: "No Wallace sentiment in this section, and I hope he is not a candidate." Creech declared a Roosevelt-Truman ticket would assure national solidarity of the party. Kelley's second preference is Gov. Broughton of North Carolina. Mooneyham said: "I'm not for Wallace. Barkley would be my second choice." Wear, calling Truman his first and last choice, asserted a Roosevelt-Truman ticket "could not be defeated."

L. J. Gualdoni of St. Louis said: "I am for whoever Roosevelt wants." Chairman George M. Murphy of the St. Louis Democratic Committee was noncommital.

There are four district delegates from Kansas City, led by James M. Pendergast, who said he preferred Louis Johnson, a former American Legion national commander, unless Roosevelt named a choice. Tim Moran said he was for whoever Pendergast wanted. The others, County Clerk Ben Nordberg and Justice of the Peace Henry McKissick, are undecided.

District delegates who could not be reached were Dr. C. H. Cullers, Trenton, and Miss Irene Humphries, Vienna.

It is expected that Senator Truman, whose home is at Independence, will be made chairman of the delegation by the caucus.

500 FOUND LIVING IN CAVERN AT CAEN TO ESCAPE BATTLE

By MAURICE DESJARDINS
Canadian Press War Correspondent.

WITH THE CANADIANS IN CAEN, July 12 (AP).—Canadian troops heard yesterday the story of how 500 men, women and children of Caen lived in a damp grotto nearly 100 feet underground for three weeks, praying for liberation.

I made the descent into this ancient quarry, abandoned for five centuries, and found most of the shivering refugees still there. They came mostly from the worst-bombed parts of the city and the majority were homeless.

To reach the subterranean haven you have to climb down three creaking ladders joined together. At the bottom you find yourself in a vast cathedral-like grotto, where groups of refugees sit around candles and carbide lamps.

The older people are huddled in blankets, but the children walk about, and as I stepped off the ladder they surged forward in a gleeful, shrieking mob. The presence of someone in Allied uniform caused a great stir in the huge and gloomy retreat.

In a corner, Abel Boulevin was handing out the meager ration of bread. Boulevin, a tall, gaunt man of 45, explained that it was he who thought of using the long-forgotten quarry of La Maladrerie as a combination air-raid shelter and refugee camp. Not one of the 500 refugees died during their stay underground.

KSD SEEKS LICENSE FOR TELEVISION UNIT

Service Would Be Provided Within 50-Mile Radius After War.

The first application for a television license from a St. Louis concern owning a standard broadcasting station has been filed with the Federal Communications Commission by the Pulitzer Publishing Co., publisher of the Post-Dispatch, which pioneered in St. Louis radio with the establishment of KSD 22 years ago.

The application will be considered by the FCC when television equipment becomes available. The application is for a commercial television station on Channel 1, 50-56,000 kilocycles. The station would use a four-kilowatt television transmitter accompanied by a three-kilowatt sound transmitter using the new principle of Frequency Modulation, which tends to eliminate static and increase tonal range.

The intended range of the television station would be a radius of 50 miles from downtown St. Louis. This would include all of the city and St. Louis and St. Charles counties; nearly all of Jefferson County; and part of Franklin, Lincoln, St. Francois and Warren counties in Missouri; and all of St. Clair, Monroe, Madison, and Jersey counties and parts of Randolph, Clinton, Bond, Montgomery, Macoupin and Calhoun counties in Illinois. Television, involving high frequency broadcasting, is of limited range compared to present standard broadcasting.

The application proposes two or three periods of television broadcasting each day, with a minimum weekly broadcast period of 19 hours at the start. Subjects for televising would include studio entertainment programs with music, guest artists and drama; news periods with maps, charts, news films and other visual aids; outside pickups of sports and other special events; visual demonstrations of educational interest, and church services on a rotating basis to include the major denominations.

The television station would begin operation with the KSD staff, somewhat augmented. Building the station would involve buying transmitters, television cameras, special film projectors, monitors and facilities for large television studios. The application proposes experimentation in television programming and use of equipment, with the understanding that the station's facilities might be changed as refinements in television develop.

BROWNELL SAYS F.D.R. USES ARMY TITLE POLITICALLY

Asserts President Tries to Perpetuate Self in Office by Means of 'Soldier' Designation.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 12 (AP).—Herbert Brownell Jr., national Republican chairman, asserted today President Roosevelt was using the title of commander in chief as "a pretext to perpetuate himself in political office."

Brownell, who was an overnight guest of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, was asked at a press conference for comment on the President's statement that he would "as a good soldier," accept a fourth term nomination.

"Mr. Roosevelt is the first of 32 Presidents of the United States to claim that the title of Commander in Chief makes him a soldier and to use that title as a pretext to perpeuae himself in political office," Brownell asserted.

"On Nov. 4, 1940, Mr. Roosevelt made this statement. 'You will have a new President in 1944,'" Brownell said, adding: "When he said that he was right."

Brownell said the comment on the President's statement was "my own" but he disclosed he had shown it to Dewey at breakfast in the executive mansion. The Governor, he said, had no comment.

Following is additional reaction to the President's announcement, gathered by the Associated Press in various parts of the country:

Alf M. Landon, 1936 Republican presidential nominee: "Just as much surprise as the case of the dog biting the man."

Representative Ploeser (Rep.), Missouri: "President Roosevelt and the New Deal clique have carefully planned the fourth term for four years. Four more years of Roosevelt probably would destroy the American republic but I do not think there will be four more years for Mr. Roosevelt."

"Did You Ever Doubt It?"

Senator Ellison D. (Cotton Ed) Smith (Dem.), South Carolina: "Did you ever doubt it? Nobody else did, . . . Every American knew he was running as hard as he could since he was elected to a third term."

Senator Scott W. Lucas (Dem.), Illinois: "The President had no other choice."

Gov. Dwight H. Green (Rep.), of Illinois: "It follows the pattern of the Roosevelt dynasty. I am satisfied however, that the American people will choose Gov. Dewey for president."

Former Senator Norris, Nebraska Independent: "I know the President doesn't want the job and that he would like to get out of it, but if nominated he will be re-elected."

Gov. Chauncey Sparks (Dem.), Alabama: "I see no reason why the convention cannot now get behind the President and a good Southern man for vice-president and unanimously nominate them. The party then will be on the road to complete victory this fall."

Representative Hope (Rep.), Kansas: "It has been evident ever since the phony third term draft that no one else in the party was to be permitted to attain a position of leadership which would make him an acceptable presidential candidate."

Senator Nye (Rep.), North Dakota: "I am a little surprised. I've been playing a hunch the President would not be a candidate for re-election. But I dont think it matters greatly. The Dewey-Bricker front is bound to be the winner."

Senator Cordon (Rep.), Oregon: "He has not only announced his candidacy but he's written his platform. I apprehend that he may find a sizable number of the electorate will agree with his heart that he should retire to his Hudson River home."

Gleason L. Archer, chairman of the Anti-Fourth Term American Democratic National Committee: "It is not surprising that President Roosevelt has succumbed to the notion of another term; he has been heading for it the last 12 years."

FOREIGN COMMENT ON F.D.R. DECISION

LONDON, July 12 (AP).—President Roosevelt's announcement that he would be a candidate for a fourth term if renominated received a front page display in most morning papers here, but there was no editorial comment. Britons generally had expected such a development.

The news was printed in black type in final editions of Moscow newspapers this morning. Large headlines were used. There was no surprise exhibited.

The Berlin radio said in a broadcast for foreign consumption:

"Roosevelt's acceptance of a fourth term nomination for the presidential elections has caused no surprise in Berlin political circles, it is stated here. The attitude of the German press has already revealed that Germany is not particularly interested in the problem of presidential elections in the United States, the more so since one is convinced here that military and political issues which are now at stake are not to be influenced by this or that President of the United States."

In Rome, Stars and Stripes, the Army newspaper, gave third place in its makeup to Roosevelt's announcement. First play went to the Normandy campaign, second to the Russian advance beyond Wilno.

The Roosevelt story was carried under a two-column headline, well down on page 1 and was a 190-word report on the President's letter to Democratic Chairman Robert Hannegan.

BURNED AIRMAN WALLACE MET IN CHINA WRITES WIFE

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., July 12 (AP).—Mrs. Wanda Holzbaur of East Independence today received a message even more welcome than the phone call she had been expecting from Vice President Henry Wallace.

A letter from her husband, Sgt. George Holzbaur Jr., a B-29 gunner wounded in a raid over Japan, stated that "the worst is over" and that he would be out of the hospital soon.

An Associated Press story July 1 told of Wallace's visit with Holzbaur at a hospital in China and his promise to phone Mrs. Holzbaur when he returned to this country. Mrs. Holzbaur has kept a vigil at the telephone since Wallace's return to the United States last Friday.

The letter was written by a Red Cross nurse for Holzbaur, who was badly burned in the raid over Yawata last June 15.

Yanks See 3 Movies a Week.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP).—Good movies for America's fighting men around the world are being emphasized, says Col. E. L. Munson, acting chief of the Army Pictorial Service, because of their excellent morale building qualities. He said men in the average overseas unit see three new movies a week.

ENGINEER MINIMIZES DIFFERENCES ON RIVER

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 12 (AP).—Brig. Gen. Roscoe C. Crawford of Omaha, division army engineer, Missouri River division, said here yesterday the Missouri governors' committees and com- River carries enough water both for navigation and irrigation requirements. He spoke at a luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce.

"I believe all the differences that developed early between upper and lower river interests are working out all right," he said. "I've had many conferences with governors' committees and its committees of engineers and we're beginning to see alike. It was a great help in clearing up controversy when we were able to show that for a great part of the navigation period the lower river would not be drawing on stored water to maintain the proposed nine-foot channel.

"Most of the season we have a nine-foot channel or better, and good engineering practice applied on the shallow places—making the river dredge itself—would hold a nine-foot navigation channel with only an occasional draft on stored water."

He asserted that the problem is working out well and he believes when that understanding "reaches Washington the way will be cleared for full development of the Missouri River's possibilities."

Gen. Crawford will go up the Kaw River tomorrow to study plans already made for levees and reservoirs.

CONSTIPATION GONE WRITES INVENTOR!

"4 years' use convinces me nothing helps like KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN"

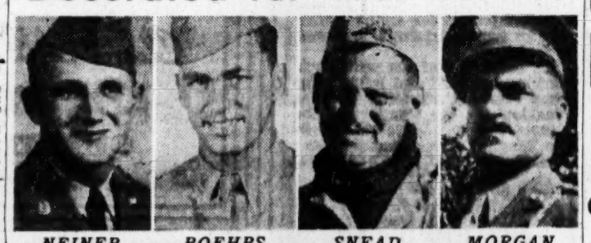

This true incident may bring new hope to constipation sufferers. Read this unsolicited letter!

"Some of my friends were talking about a laxative ad in the Post. I cut in and insisted there's nothing like ALL-BRAN—and told them how it has helped keep me out of a condition I was in 4 years ago. Then they told me the ad they were discussing was an ALL-BRAN ad—they told me I should have a medal for spreading the good news about ALL-BRAN — which had helped these friends too." W. J. McLaughlin, 605 2nd No. St., Camden, N. J.

Scientists say KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN can really "get at" a common cause of constipation—lack of sufficient "cellulosic" elements in the diet—because it is one of Nature's most effective sources of these elements. They work by helping the friendly colonic flora to fluff up and prepare the colonic wastes for easy, natural elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative medicine — but a wholesome, gentle-acting, "regulating" food.

If you have constipation of this type, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN or several ALL-BRAN muffins regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if you don't cheer its welcome relief. Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

F. D. R. REVERSES WORDS OF SHERMAN WHO WOULDN'T RUN

Civil War Man Refused to Accept G.O.P. Nomination or Serve if Elected.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP).—In announcing he would accept a fourth term, President Roosevelt virtually reversed the famous words of Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman of Civil War fame.

Declining to consider the Republican nomination in 1884, Sherman said:

"If nominated, I will not accept. If elected, I will not serve."

President Roosevelt said yesterday:

"If the convention should . . . nominate me for the presidency, I shall accept. If the people elect me, I will serve."

COAL PLAN HERE BEING ADOPTED ON NATIONAL SCALE

Citizens' Emergency Distribution Committees to Be Set Up Throughout U. S.

The organization plan of the Citizens' Wartime Fuel Committee has been adopted on a national scale by the Solid Fuels Administration for War and committees are being set up throughout the country to handle emergency situations that may arise, Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann announced yesterday.

"The members of the Citizens' Wartime Fuel Committee are to be complimented upon this significant recognition of their efforts," Mayor Kaufmann said.

Under the SFAW program, groups appointed in various communities will be known as community emergency fuel committees. The Citizens' Wartime Fuel Committee has been recognized here as that committee and as such becomes a group within the Solid Fuels Administration.

Officers of the Community Emergency Fuel Committee will be the same as those of the Citizens' Wartime Fuel Committee with Mayor Kaufmann as honorary chairman, Roscoe C. Hobbs as chairman, James L. Ford Jr. as vice-chairman and Scott R DeKins as secretary.

Announcement of the formation of the Community Emergency Fuel Committee followed a meeting in the Mayor's office at which Acting Smoke Commissioner James H. Carter reported that a survey of coal bins in the city disclosed that 55 per cent of the people have no fuel in their bins.

"The survey, covering 2017 homes in 51 city blocks, indicates that only 26 per cent of the city's anticipated requirement of fuel for next winter is now in the bins of household users," Carter said. "This is almost exactly the same amount of coal as was on hand in the corresponding week of June last year."

Carter said the situation was not encouraging in view of last winter's experience, when an emergency office had to be set up in order to provide coal to persons who had none during the peak of the cold weather because St. Louisans did not store enough fuel during the summer months to meet their subsequent needs.

"The amount of coal stored in consumers' bins must be greatly increased during the remainder of the summer, if St. Louis is to avoid a critical coal shortage and cold homes in midwinter," Carter warned.

Why your Life Insurance Companies urge you to Keep up the fight against rising prices

LAST YEAR, America's Life Insurance Companies helped bring home to every American the importance of joining in the nation-wide campaign to check runaway prices.

Every two weeks we published messages in newspapers throughout the country explaining why prices go up and showing what each individual could do to help keep prices down.

During this time, we as a nation have won many battles in our fight against runaway prices. In the past year price rises generally have been held in check.

One of the big reasons—if not the biggest—has been the good common sense of American men and women. Instead of going hog-wild with our wartime money, we have put away—and are putting away—more money than ever before into the safe places our government recommends—into War Bonds, savings accounts and life insurance.

Now is the time to Fight Harder

The important thing now is to keep up this good work. For the danger of rising prices is still threatening us and it's going to take double action to continue to keep the lid clamped on living costs. Our government has its job—to keep price ceilings and rationing working smoothly and fairly. Our own job—the job for each and every one of us—is to abide by these price controls—and to save, not spend, every dollar that we possibly can, putting them into the productive channels that our government recommends.

If we didn't put our wartime money into these safe places—if we relaxed and began to spend this money, the cost of living would soar sky-high and standards of living would nose-dive.

This is why we must keep on saving and not buy anything we can get along without. And this is why America's Life Insurance Companies will continue throughout 1944 to point out that for the good of our country, for the good of each one of us individually, we—all of us—must throw every effort into America's fight against rising prices.

Now is the time to Protect your Future

Now is your golden opportunity to make big strides towards attaining real financial security. You may never again have as good an opportunity as you have right now.

Put your wartime money into War Bonds, a savings account and life insurance. Keep the War Bonds you buy. Set aside every War Bond you possibly can towards a permanent reserve fund that's not to be touched except in case of the most urgent emergency.

In this way, your War Bonds, along with your life insurance and savings account, will become the permanent backlog of protection that anyone must have to get ahead and stay ahead in life.

By taking advantage of this opportunity—by saving instead of spending—you will be helping yourself and your country in these three ways. You will guarantee the safer, happier future you have always wanted. You will help to hold down your present cost of living. And—you will be doing your patriotic duty towards helping to win the war.

The financial health of America as a whole depends upon the financial health of every individual. This in turn depends largely upon how well informed each individual is concerning the part he must play in the general economic picture for his own best interests and in the best interests of his country.

Recognizing this, America's Life Insurance Companies are continuing this educational program as a public service to the 68,000,000 owners of life insurance and to every American citizen.

$100 for Posing as Chiropodist.

Miss Verdella Watson, a Negro, 2311 Cole street, pleaded guilty of representing herself as a chiropodist before Judge Louis Comerford of the Court of Criminal Correction yesterday and was fined $100. The fine was stayed on payment of $25 and costs after she testified she had disposed of all her equipment and that she was no longer practicing chiropody.

RECENT TRAFFIC INJURIES FATAL TO FOUR PERSONS

Two Men, Woman, Each 80 Years Old, Hit by Autos — Man Thrown Testing Motorcycle.

Four persons died yesterday from injuries suffered in traffic accidents.

Thomas Reeves, a welder, 2437 North Grand boulevard, died at City Hospital from injuries suffered Monday when he was thrown from a motorcycle he was testing before purchase on the lot occupied by the Erhardt Used Car Sales Co., 3662 Easton avenue. Reeves, 31 years old, lost control of the motorcycle and was thrown against a telegraph pole, striking his head.

Oliver Geer, 80, of 5017 Washington boulevard, died at City Hospital of injuries when he was struck June 21 by an automobile in the 4100 block of Clayton avenue. John Piskulik, 1088A South Kingshighway, driver of the car, said Geer walked into the left front fender of his automobile.

George Kamp, 83, a stonemason, 2325A Ann avenue, died at City Hospital of injuries suffered July 4 when an auto struck him as he was crossing Missouri at Lafayette avenue. Herbert Collins, 2721 Ann avenue, driver of the automobile which struck Kamp, was rearrested last night and held for the Coroner.

Mrs. Rebecca Ousley, a Negro, 1324 Glasgow avenue, died at Homer G. Phillips Hospital of injuries when she was struck by an eastbound Hodiamont street car Monday night at Franklin and Leffingwell avenues. Police said she alighted from a westbound car and stepped into the path of the eastbound car operated by a student, Roy Ragen, 620 Nerk street, Kirkwood. Mrs. Ousley, 80, suffered a fractured hip and forearm.

NAMING SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT PUT OFF 2 WEEKS

A prolonged and heated discussion by 11 of the 12 members of the Board of Education in a secret meeting last night on the granting of salary increases to four administrative officers overshadowed the necessity of appointing a superintendent of instruction and a special meeting was scheduled for July 25 to fill the vacancy.

Philip J. Hickey, acting superintendent of instruction, has been the only candidate considered for the position that will be vacated Aug. 1 when the term of Dr. Homer W. Anderson will expire. Hickey was appointed to his present position two years ago when Dr. Anderson was granted a leave of absence. Hickey's appointment also will expire Aug. 1.

Several members of the board told a Post-Dispatch reporter they were sure Hickey would have been appointed superintendent last night had not the question of salary increases arisen in the secret meeting prior to the regular meeting. Another reason given for delaying action on the appointment was that John A. Fleischli, a member of the board, was not present, and some of the members were of the impression, it was learned, that action should be unanimous.

Members who advanced the proposal that salaries of Joseph P. Sullivan, building commissioner; Mervyn E. Wiethaupt, secretary-treasurer; William M. Susanka, auditor, and A. K. Nushan, supply commissioner, be increased from $7500 to $8500 a year indicated in their arguments that if the salaries were not increased now they never would be.

It was pointed out that the departments of each of these officers had been enlarged and the burden of responsibility had been considerably increased by reason of war activities and expanding school programs. Arguments from opponents of the increases simmered down until some said, in effect, if you're going to give this man an increase, then you'll have to give this other man an increase also, with the result that no action was taken on any of the issues.

The regular public meeting, which started late because of the prolonged discussions in the secret meeting, lasted only 30 minutes and consisted of getting routine matters out of the way. It was the first meeting of the new fiscal year, books of the schools having been closed June 30.

LT. PAUL BEHNKE HEADED MEN TRAPPING HALF NAZI COMPANY

Lt. Paul R. Behnke of 5937 Enright avenue, used his company to trap nearly half of a German armored company retreating before the Fifth Army's drive in Italy, a dispatch from Fifth Army headquarters reported today.

Chasing the Germans down an Italian road, Behnke's men came upon the armored company which had been alerted by Italian civilians in a demonstration welcoming Behnke's company. From a road block set up near a bend in the road, Behnke's men picked off the German riders like shooting ducks in a gallery, the dispatch said. Armored cars, motorcycles and half tracks were knocked out by the riflemen. With a mortar shell one of Behnke's men demolished a half-track at nearly 750 yards and an enemy mortar was silenced by another shell that killed several Nazis.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Behnke, 5937 Enright avenue, Lt. Behnke was mentioned in a dispatch June 29 when his company captured 56 German soldiers, including five officers.

MADISON EFFECTS $281,000 SAVING IN REFINANCING BONDS

An interest saving of $281,000 to the city of Madison was effected last night when the City Council authorized M Steve Maeras to sign a contract with the Sarjem Corporation of Chicago to refinance $2,020,000 in bonds, which were issued when the city purchased the Chain of Rocks Bridge in 1939.

Under terms of the new contract, to become effective Dec. 1, the Sarjem Corporation will float a new issue covering the bonds after the city has called them in at their present premium price. Interest rates on the new issue will be reduced from 4 per cent during the first three years to two and three-fourths per cent for the remainder of the 20-year life of the issue. The present interest rate is 4 per cent. Bonds representing $280,00 of the original $2,300,000 issue have been retired.

Joseph E. Flynn Divorced.

A divorce from Joseph E. Flynn, manager of the Grain & Feed Mills Co., Inc., was obtained yesterday by Mrs. Laura Flynn, 5050 Winona avenue, on grounds of general indignities. They were married Sept. 27, 1928, and separated May 12, 1943. Circuit Judge Edward M. Ruddy also granted to Mrs. Flynn custody of her 13-year-old daughter, $30 weekly alimony and $15 a week for support of the child. The Court dismissed Flynn's crossbill.

ST. LOUISAN TELLS HOW WELL-PLACED SHELL KILLS 5 JAPS

Lt. Russell F. Schoenbeck, of St. Louis has found that a number of Japanese soldiers on Saipan are—or were—rather obliging, a Marine combat correspondent reported in a dispatch received today.

A group of enemy soldiers on a distant hillside in the zone of fire of another outfit were spotted by Schoenbeck. While he was checking on the positions of friendly troops and trying to notify the proper battery the group broke up, but five of the Japs stayed together and walked into his own zone of fire. A nicely placed shell killed them all.

Lt. Schoenbeck, 24 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Schoenbeck, 4154 Arsenal street, enlisted in the Marine Corps soon after he had received his Master's degree from Washington University in 1942. His wife and nine-month-old son live at 4548 Flora place.

POLITO DROPS SUIT TO BAR OPPONENT FROM BALLOT

Suit to prevent the Board of Election Commissioners from placing the name of Joseph L. Spicuzza, candidate for re-election as Republican Committeeman from the Fifth Ward, on the Aug. 1 primary ballot, was dismissed yesterday on motion of the plaintiff, Nicholas A. Polito.

Polito, present Fourth Ward Committeeman and a candidate for Spicuzza's post, had contended Spicuzza was not a legal resident of the Fifth Ward, but Polito's attorney, Charles L. Moore, announced in the court of Circuit Judge Charles B. Williams yesterday the evidence was not sufficient to support the charge.

It's that EXTRA SKILL that counts in
HAIR CARE too

TWENTY years of experience and success has endowed The Thomas' with unmatchable "extra skill" in the field of hair treatment. It's this "extra skill" that distinguishes the genuine expert from the mediocre workman in any field of endeavor.

If your scalp is covered with itchy dandruff scales and your hair is dull and lusterless—consult a Thomas expert today. See for yourself how The Thomas' "extra skill" can help you solve such hair problems—quickly, accurately, and inexpensively. You'll readily understand why a quarter-million other persons have turned their hair problems over to Thomas—and why The Thomas' are recognized as the world's leading hair experts. No charge is made for private consultation and advice. Come in today.

'Once Upon a Time' At Loew's Tomorrow

"ONCE UPON A TIME," the story of Curly, a dancing caterpillar, opens tomorrow at Loew's on a single bill. Starring Cary Grant as a play producer who goes broke after a succession of flops, the caterpillar, "one in a hundred million," if not more, is relied on to recoup Grant's fortunes. In the cast are Ted Donaldson as the boy who owned Curly, Janet Blair as Ted's sister, and James Gleason as Grant's assistant.

"Double Indemnity," with Fred MacMurray, Barbara Stanwyck and Edward G. Robinson, the top picture at Fox this week, began its run yesterday. Billed as a murder mystery, the picture's from a James M. Cain story. Others in the cast include Jean Heather, Porter Hall, and Byron Barr. Companion picture is "The Navy Way," said to have been filmed at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, and featuring Jean Parker, Robert Lowery and Bill Henry in a story about boys in "boot" training.

Beginning today, the Missouri brings back in revival two screen hits of other years, "The Awful Truth," starring Cary Grant and Irene Dunne in a story of mixed-up marriages, and "Mr. Deeds Goes to Washington," starring Gary Cooper and Jean Arthur in the adventures of a good man in Washington.

Holdovers include "Christmas Holiday," Deanna Durbin, at the Ambassador, with "Yellow Canary" the second feature. A carryover beginning Thursday is "White Cliffs of Dover," Irene Dunne, from Loew's to the Orpheum. "Shine On, Harvest Moon," Ann Sheridan, and "Uncertain Glory," both of which have been seen here before as first runs, begin today at the St. Louis. "The Mask of Dimitrios," Peter Lorre, and "Home in Indiana," Walter Brennan, open a subsequent-run engagement tomorrow at the Shubert.

Flashes of Life

By the Associated Press.

Tax Escape.

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP).—The City Council may find itself face to face with this question: When is a cemetery not a cemetery? The State Legislature, which adjourned last March, inexplicably repealed all laws limiting restrictions on extension of cemeteries in New York City.

Tax evaders may try to take advantage of the situation, said Vice Chairman Joseph T. Sharkey, who explained: "Under the law as it stands now, anybody could put a fence around his property in Queens (a borough) and call it a cemetery."

Written Off.

PORTLAND, Ore.—A deafmute, in Municipal Court on an intoxication charge, took out his pad and started writing. He wrote and wrote. At the end of 15 pages of scrawled testimony, the Judge said, "Case dismissed."

Picture-ish.

CHICAGO—The auction of unclaimed articles in the main post-office drew many in search of wartime goods. Henry Braun said he went to the sale to bid for camera equipment, but left after buying beauty sets, 50 pounds of modeling clay, 30 boxes of water colors and 200 assorted decalcomanias. His wife will have first choice on his purchases, he said; the rest he will sell.

One man bid more than $17 supposedly for a set of books, discovered he had bought a lot of skirts and blouses.

CEILINGS ON CHERRIES HIGHER

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP).—Maximum prices for 1944 red sour cherries for table use or home canning slightly higher than last year's were announced today by the Office of Price Administration.

Effective July 18, retail prices in containers will be 18 cents a pound for cherries with stems or 16 without stems. F. O. B. shipping point prices are 11 cents per pound with stems, 9¾ cents without stems in containers or 2 cents less without containers, the announcement said. Ceilings for cherries delivered to wholesale receiving point are f. o. b. prices plus freight plus actual cost of protective services.

CIO-BACKED TOBIN MASSACHUSETTS PRIMARY WINNER

Senator Tobey Is Renominated in New Hampshire and Senator Thomas in Oklahoma.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP).—Decisive trends established early in the counting of yesterday's primary elections in six states continued to hold today almost without exception. Indicated results include:

Massachusetts — Gov. Leverett Saltonstall won Republican nomination for the United States Senate, with Mayor John H. Corcoran of Cambridge leading for the Democratic designation. Mayor Maurice J. Tobin of Boston, indorsed by the CIO Political Action Committee, defeated State Treasurer Francis X. Hurley, Roosevelt administration opponent, for the Democratic nomination for Governor. Lt. Gov. Horace T. Cahill was unopposed for the Republican nomination.

New Hampshire — Senator Charles T. Tobey won Republican renomination for a second term, defeating Representative Foster Stearns. Republican Gov. Robert O. Blood was defeated in his bid for a third term, the nomination going to Mayor Charles M. Dale of Portsmouth.

Oklahoma — Senator Elmer Thomas, administration supporter, was renominated by Democrats over two opponents, including Representative Wesley Disney. William J. Otjen won the Republican senatorial nomination.

Washington — Maj. Harry Cain, on leave from the Army, held a substantial lead in an 11-man race for the Republican senatorial nomination. Representative Warren G. Magnuson won easily on the Democratic side. Gov. Arthur B. Langlie, seeking Republican renomination for a second term, ran away from three other candidates. Representative Mon C. Wallgren was unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

Michigan — Vernon J. Brown, State auditor general, was nominated for Lieutenant Governor by the Republicans in the only statewide voting. Edward J. Fry held a substantial lead over two Democratic opponents.

Utah—Adam S. Bennion, power company executive, held a wide lead over three opponents for the Republican senatorial nomination. Senator Elbert D. Thomas, seeking a third term, had no Democratic opposition. Gov. Herbert B. Maw, national administration supporter, asking Democratic renomination, was far in front. J. Bracken Lee, Mayor of Price, was his probable Republican opponent.

LAKE RECOMMENDS FASTING TO OTHERS; 'WONDERFUL THING'

People Think Too Much of Food, He Asserts—Second Week of Hunger Strike.

(Picture in Everyday Magazine).

Chester Lake, who is rounding out the second week of his hunger strike, today termed fasting "a wonderful thing" and recommended that others try it.

"People think far too much of food," he declared. "I have found fasting to be a means of physical, moral and spiritual strengthening, and heartily recommend it to others."

The former official of the Rural Electrification Administration, who has announced his determination to eat no solid food until "political domination" of the REA is ended, has lost 18 of his 200 pounds since he started his hunger strike, but insists that he never felt better.

He drinks a glass of water every hour, and takes three glasses of fruit juices a day, alternating between orange, grapefruit and tomato juice. He said he has had no desire for food after the first two days of his fast.

COL. JOHN M. DAVIES TAKES COMMAND AT SCOTT FIELD

Col. John M. Davies, station air inspector at Scott Field, assumed command there today, succeeding Col. John P. Temple, who has been acting as commanding officer since March, when Brig. Gen. S. W. FitzGerald was given an extended leave. Col. Temple has been transferred to a permanent assignment at Washington.

Col. Davies, a command pilot and technical observer, has been flying with the Army Air Forces since the World War, when he received his training with British and Italian air forces. Before his assignment to Scott Field in August, 1943, he was senior air instructor at the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

At the outbreak of this war, Col. Davies was attached to the office of the Chief of the Air Corps. During the winter of 1942-43, he acted as an observer for the command school with the Eighth Air Force in action over Europe. He is 50 years old.

LEADERS OF BOTH PARTIES INDORSE CITY BOND ISSUE

Needs, meeting yesterday in the Chamber of Commerce Building, approved reports of two committees covering all the bond propositions, Chairman A. J. Cejka announced. The committee reports emphasized the idea of postwar employment of obtaining desirable public improvements, and said the increased taxation which would result would be reasonable and in line with the benefits to be derived.

PARKS URGES U. S. AID TO CITIES FOR 6000 'AIRPARKS'

Plan Held Practical by Jesse Jones, CAA, Air College Head Says at Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 12 (AP).—Oliver L. Parks of East St. Louis, president of Parks Air College, yesterday urged a postwar Federal aid program to construct 6000 "airparks" in downtown and residential districts throughout America.

Parks, speaking at the forum of the American Association of Airport Executives, predicted such a program would result in there being at least five million personal airplanes in the United States within 15 years.

He further predicted that within three years after the war, the number of persons employed in aviation could be as large as the number in the automobile industry.

By having such a program ready and approved by Congress as soon as hostilities ceased, he asserted, employment could be provided for more than a million men. The program would cost the government approximately $1,500,000,000.

The approximately 3000 major airports of America, he said, "are not large enough to accommodate the anticipated private airplane business, nor even to take care of the increase in air transport."

With the establishment of these "airparks," which would be as beautiful as any city parks, people could fly from their residential airparks to downtown airparks to work or to shop, he stated.

He said if these "airparks" were not established, private airplanes "will become similar to motorboats. That is, they would be purely for pleasure and have no utility value."

The downtown parks would average five blocks in length by a block wide with underground hangars. The residential airparks would be from 80 to 100 acres in area. He said that with these airparks the flights of private planes would be 25 miles or less.

Parks said the idea had been submitted to Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones, the Civil Aeronautics Authority, the National Aeronautics Authority, the National Aeronautics Association and the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce and all had concurred in the plan as practical.

RUSSIANS LAUNCH NEW OFFENSIVE ON BALTIC FRONT

lost tactically to the Nazis, although resistance continued there.

Enemy resistance in the bypassed Lithuanian city of Wilno had been reduced to isolated groups in the center of the city and these were being methodically eliminated in close fighting in the narrow streets.

Bright hot and clear weather gave the Russian Stormoviks, Boston bombers and the new Soviet medium bombers a chance to get out in tremendous numbers against the retreating German columns. An Allied observer just back from the front said the Stormoviks have been blasting German communications to shreds.

Soviet troops pushing toward Kaunas astride the railway west of Wilno engulfed more than 100 communities, including Woronow.

The nearest approach to the East Prussian border came in the Lida area to the south.

The westward advance toward Grodno and Bialystok, junctions on the Warsaw railway, continued on a wide front ranging from Lida, northeast of Grodno, to points southwest of Baranowicze. The Russians said more than 2600 Germans were killed on this front yesterday.

The Russians forced the Niemen River on a 19-mile stretch south of Lida, capturing the town of Byelitsa in a drive pointed directly toward Grodno.

Aiming at Bialystok, troops of Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's First White Russian Army fought to a point 13 miles west of Slonim and captured Ozernitsa, 23 miles east of Wolkowysk, last major German stronghold before Bialystok itself.

Gen. Ivan C. Bagramian's First Baltic Army troops were curving in on Daugavpils from the east, southeast, south and southwest. In this sector 1500 Germans were reported killed and an equal number captured, yesterday.

The last of the large forces of Germans cut off east of Minsk as the Russian steamroller swept forward have now been killed or captured, the Soviet command announced. The final day's prisoners totaled more than 2000, including Gen. Volker, commander of the Twenty-seventh German Army Corps. He is the twenty-third German General reported killed or captured since the Soviet summer offensive began June 23.

A compilation of the day-by-day totals announced by the Russians placed the number of German casualties in the Minsk area at about 55,000 killed or captured. Since the start of the Russian offensive more than 110,000 Germans have been taken prisoner, it is estimated.

3 ST. LOUISANS TELL OF TAKING PART IN INVASION OF FRANCE

Three St. Louisans, two with the Navy and one with the Coast Guard, have informed the Post-Dispatch through official channels of their participation in the invasion of France.

In action against the enemy for the first time was Melvin S. Bakula, seaman, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bakula, live at 5673 Hiller avenue. Another Navy man, Charles E. English, shipfitter, had seen previous action along the English Channel coast. His wife, Mrs. Anna English, lives at 8646 Partridge avenue, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William English, live at 5575 Terry avenue.

Jesse W. Simpson, chief electrician's mate with the Coast Guard, had seen action in Sicily and Italy before taking part in the invasion. His wife, Mrs. Margaret L. Simpson, lives at 3726 West Florissant avenue, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel L. Simpson, live at De Soto, Mo.

UTILITY ALLOWED TO SELL SYSTEM TO LUCAS-HUNT CO.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 12.—The Missouri Public Service Commission today authorized the Union Electric Co. of Missouri to sell its electric distribution system within Lucas-Hunt Village, St. Louis County, to the Lucas-Hunt Village Co., owners of the apartment development, for $22,091.

After the transfer is completed the approximately 600 apartment tenants will be furnished electric service by the Lucas-Hunt owners instead of by Union Electric and the rates and service to the tenants no longer will be under direct regulation by the Public Service Commission.

The sale agreement contains a condition, however, that the owners, who will buy electric power from Union Electric, will furnish service to the tenants at rates and under conditions that will result in no greater cost to the tenants than if they were served directly by Union Electric.

PVT. JOHN J. LATAL INJURED

Coming unscathed through the Marshall Islands campaign where he saw action on Wwajalein and Eniwetok, Pvt. John Joseph Latal, St. Louisan with the Marines, suffered a broken leg while at a rest camp following the fighting when he was pinned accidentally between two tractors, a dispatch from the U. S. Naval Hospital, Oakland, Cal., reported today.

2000 GASOLINE DEALERS TO CONFER ON SHORTAGE

Steps to cope with the shortage of gasoline for civilian use will be discussed at a meeting of some 2000 St. Louis retail petroleum dealers and wholesale distributors to be held Friday at 8:15 p. m. at Scottish Rite Cathedral, 3637 Lindell boulevard.

Speakers will be Harold F. Nelson, co-chairman of the conservation committee of the Missouri petroleum industry; George C. Smith, president of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce; A. D. Mason, district manager of the Office of Defense Transportation, and E. G. Hotchkiss, acting State rationing officer. D. J. Byers, local conservation committee chairman, will preside.

The meeting, sponsored by the Conservation Committee of the State petroleum industry, is part of a national campaign to arouse petroleum dealers and the public in general to the seriousness of the gasoline shortage. Two and one-half million gallons of gasoline a day is being sold through black market channels, a spokesman for the petroleum dealers asserted, adding that more gasoline would be available for every law-abiding motorist if black market practices were wiped out.

The Couple Who Waited For That Fantastic New-Type House Before Building Their Home

Authorities agree that the miraculous home construction now predicted for the post-war era is a long way off. They claim that modern present-day homes will not be radically changed after the war, except for new equipment that readily can be adapted to homes of today.

Get a head-start on the post-war buying and building rush that will be created by an estimated demand for some 1,000,000 new houses. Plan to buy or get ready to build.

Be financially prepared with the ideal plan created for the Farm and Home Post-War Program. And the Farm and Home Research Department will gladly bring you up-to-date on modern construction and equipment development. Come in for an informative discussion.

ANGLERS' GROUP BACKS WILDLIFE BOARD'S PLANS

Head of 1200 Missouri Fishermen Defends Program but Urges Some Changes.

Approval of the long-range program of the Missouri Conservation Commission to increase fish and wildlife in the State was expressed today by A. J. Tony Hummel, president of the Anglers of Missouri, Inc., an organization of about 1200 fishermen.

Answering critics of the commission, who have stated the program has failed and that game is actually more scarce now than it was five years ago, Hummel said the commission's program of improving refuges, streams and the general environment of wildlife "is the ultimate answer to the present problem."

Steps that should be taken by the commission to round out its long-range program, Hummel said, should include restrictions on fishing and gigging in the Meramec. Bourbeuse and Big Rivers and their tributaries, all of which are adjacent to heavily populated areas and which, therefore, are subject to excessive fishing.

Plans for Small Streams.

Another step the commission should take immediately, Hummel said, is the development of methods to improve fishing on smaller streams such as the St. Johns and Little Meramec in Franklin County and Plattin Creek in Jefferson County.

He pointed out that in these smaller streams the beds have become too wide, and sand and gravel have filled almost all the pools that formerly existed. The result is that larger fish are stranded on sand bars after the spring rains and smaller fish are eaten by birds and snakes. Restocking such streams with fish, he added, cannot make fishing better.

"The only thing to do," he said, "is to build low dams and retards to form a series of pools where fish can stay and find protection."

Programs Coincide.

The Anglers' program and that of the commission, Hummel said, coincide. The programs provide for rehabilitating streams and forests of the State by the control of floods, soil erosion, stream pollution and game hogs

Hummel explained the programs call for the construction of at least 10,000 small lakes in the upper watersheds, which would assist in the control of floods and soil erosion and provide water for fish, wildlife and livestock. All farm land unsuitable for crops, he said, is to be planted in trees to provide food and protection for animals, and all tillable rolling farm land is to be terraced to prevent the fast rush of water, which erodes soil and diminishes the earth's water supply to the extent that wells and springs run dry. Finally, he said, the program embraces contour and strip farming, crop rotation, improving soil fertility and the abolition of the practice of burning forests and vegetation.

"To stock stream with adult fish, as some critics of the commission propose, would cost an exorbitant amount of money," Hummel said. "These funds can be better used in making stream improvements and furthering the research for the long-range plans of the commission. I, for one, am satisfied with reduced catches of fish now if better catches can be assured in the future."

EAST SIDE A F L COUNCIL BARS MOVE TO END POLITICAL ACTION

Proponents of political action in the East St. Louis AFL Central Trades and Labor Union last night blocked an attempt by the council to return to a non-political status after the body had recently amended its by-laws to permit political action and indorsement of President Roosevelt for a fourth term.

Delegates in favor of participating in political action obtained 19 votes against a resolution to rescind the amendment to the by-laws. Thirty delegates voted for the resolution. A two-thirds majority was required to adopt the resolution.

During the last few months, a group within the council, spearheaded by the council's legislative committee, has attempted to initiate political action in the East St. Louis body. Aid-line AFL officials, following the leadership set by AFL President William Green, have discouraged a political action program and urged the council to remain non-partisan and non-political.

STRIKING TRUCKERS' UNION MOVES WAR FREIGHT ONLY

John A. Ray, business agent of Local 600, AFL Teamsters' and Chauffers' Union, said today that the strike at the East Texas Motor Freight Co., 1513 Blair avenue, would not affect other over-the-road truckers in the central states area.

Ray said the strike which began Monday night was undertaken on order from Dexter Lewis of Chicago, director of the AFL Central States Trucking Council, because the company refused to grant union recognition at its Dallas (Tex.), terminal.

The union permitted shipments of war material to be moved by the strikers last night, but Ray emphasized that no civilian orders would be handled by the 18 truckers and 15 freight handlers called out. He said the strike bore no relation to the union's dispute with 113 trucking companies in 13 central states who refused to comply with a War Labor Board directive ordering pay increases.

Three Men Seeking Nomination For Governor on G. O. P. Ticket; Brief Sketches of the Candidates

The Post-Dispatch presents today the first of a series of articles about candidates for nomination in the primary election Tuesday, Aug. 1. This Voters' Guide deals with the three candidates for the Republican nomination for Governor. They are Charles Ferguson of Willow Springs, Jean Paul Bradshaw of Lebanon, and Dr. James Stewart of Jefferson City. Facts about the Democratic candidates will be published tomorrow.

Charles Ferguson

ALTHOUGH active in Republican politics for many years, Ferguson, who lives in Willow Springs, has never before been a candidate for elective public office. He served an unexpired term as Presiding Judge of the County Court of Howell County, and served under appointment by Gov. Caulfield as a member of the State Highway Commission during the extensive road construction program following the adoption of the 75-million-dollar road bond issue in 1928.

As chairman of the Republican State Committee in 1940, Ferguson early in the campaign realized that it would be impossible to defeat President Roosevelt in Missouri and concentrated the State Committee efforts toward the election of a Republican Governor. As a result, Gov. Forrest C. Donnell, the first Republican Governor in 12 years, was elected by a plurality of 3613 although President Roosevelt carried the State by 87,467.

He directed the work of frustrating the Democratic State Committee attempt to "steal" the Governorship through a resolution in the Democratic-controlled Legislature, accumulating the evidence to meet the allegations of irregularities, and directing the fight in the courts which resulted in a decision by the seven Democratic judges of the Supreme Court that the proposed legislative procedure was unconstitutional.

He has been widely known as an advocate of good roads in Missouri for more than 30 years. He has been in the mercantile business in Willow Springs for 30 years, and has been a farmer and stockman.

In his campaign he has stressed the need for business economy in government, and has said that knowing the problems of the small business man, the farmer and the taxpayer, he "knows what it means to make a budget and to keep within it."

Although known as a practical politician and political leader, Ferguson has a record of recommending for apointment capable men and women. He has pledged that if elected he will appoint no one to a public position who does not "merit that appointment by ability and integrity."

National Committeeman Barak T. Mattingly of St. Louis is supporting Bradshaw. However, Ferguson has the active support of many influential Republicans throughout the State. He is 63 years old and was born in a log cabin in Howell County

Jean Paul Bradshaw

BRADSHAW, a resident of Lebanon, is one of the youngest men who ever has sought nomination for the office of Governor in Missouri, being 38. His experience in public affairs consists of eight years as assistant counsel in the State Highway Department, having received appointment immediately after he was graduated from Missouri University Law School.

He has practiced law in Lebanon since retiring from the department, and is prosecuting attorney of Laclede County, having been appointed by Gov. Donnell to fill a vacancy and later having been elected for a full term.

Bradshaw was reared in Lebanon and came of a family with such small means that he was compelled to work his way through the State University, playing a clarinet at dances, waiting on tables, and doing other jobs to meet his expenses. He was on a debating team that defeated an Oxford University team. He was elected Student Council President and was popular among the students. He is friendly, makes a good speech and is a good "handshaker."

He has become interested in dairy development in Missouri, an interest growing out of the purchase of a small dairy three years ago. He and three associates have developed the business from virtually nothing to a million-dollar-a-year enterprise, supplying milk to the St. Louis market and supplying all the milk requirements of Fort Leonard Wood.

While Bradshaw's campaign was the result of his own ambition, he has been taken up by National Committeeman Mattingly as a candidate in an attempt to defeat Charles Ferguson, with whom Mattingly has a political feud. Due to his own efforts as well as the Mattingly support, Bradshaw has built up a very considerable strength in many places in the State.

Dr. James Stewart

AS secretary of the State Board of Health and State Health Commissioner through three Republican administrators, Dr. Stewart is widely known in medical and health circles, and as an active politician for 40 years he has a wide acquaintance among Republicans throughout the State.

Although mentioned as a possible candidate for Governor in several campaigns, this is the first time he has filed for the office.

As a member of the Legislature from Warren County in 1905, he gained much attention by an impulsive act of throwing an inkwell through the face of the clock in the House of Representatives Hall to "stop the clock" and prevent an adjournment of the Legislature at the fixed time. It was the last day of the session and a three-month deadlock over the election of United States Senator had not been broken. That was the contest between Richard Kerens and Thomas K. Niedringhaus, both of St. Louis, for the Senatorship and was in the days when Senators were elected by the Legislature.

Dr. Stewart stopped the clock, a compromise was effected and the late Senator William Warner of Kansas City was elected.

Dr. Stewart served as medical adviser for the St. Louis Board of Education and for 18 years was director of the Division of Hygiene of the St. Louis Public Schools.

He is recognized as an authority on public health and sanitation, having much more than a Statewide reputation, and is credited with being a capable administrator. In several State administrations he has been among the confidential advisers of the Governors.

Dr. Stewart, whose home is in Jefferson City, is 69 years old. He was born in Glasgow, Scotland.

By WILLIAM FRYE
WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP).

THE campaign in Normandy, now a little more than five weeks old, may appear to be moving slowly, but military men here agreed today with Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's verdict that "our gains have been definite and concrete."

At D-day time there were estimates that the first five weeks would be crucial; their gains can now be summarized in this fashion:

(1) The Allies came ashore, with far fewer casualties than they were prepared to pay, in an operation that could have been a catastrophe if luck had been bad instead of good.

(2) Ashore, the armies pushed inland and established a firm beachhead, cut across the Cotentin peninsula to reach the sea, trapped German forces on their right flank and seized the port of Cherbourg.

(3) The beachhead has been organized as a base of operations, and the Allies have been able to continue their accumulation of men and supplies there for future operations.

(4) Enormous casualties have been inflicted on the enemy, with 54,000 of his men captured and undetermined thousands more killed and wounded.

With that in mind, it becomes possible to assess what is happening on the beachhead now. And the first point to be made is that the beachhead is still being enlarged, still being built up as a base of operations. No spectacular offensives have been launched, because Gen. Eisenhower does not propose to start something he can't finish.

If the Germans had shown any ability to mass important forces against the beachhead, Montgomery might have been forced to move boldly with a major attack to knock the enemy off balance and keep him that way. But the Nazis have been unable to launch a counteroffensive, and so Montgomery is holding his Sunday punch on the basis that there is no point in achieving a breakthrough until he is ready to exploit it.

Accordingly, the fighting now in progress in Normandy is strictly local in character. At the British end of the line, the river port of Caen has been taken, and British and Canadian troops in savage local fighting are enlarging their positions to make Caen safe for use as a supply port. They are concerned also with widening the beachhead sufficiently in that area to afford insurance against a German attack breaking through to cut them off from the American end of the line.

On the Americans' sector, the same local advances are being fought through, chiefly to get possession of some lateral roads that will relieve the traffic bottleneck at Carentan. A look at a map will disclose, too, that the Americans are pushing down between marshy areas to high land—they want the marshes well behind them, and firm ground under foot and under wheel, when the big show starts.

In all of these local actions, despite the bitterness of enemy resistance in many of them, the Allies as yet are still relying chiefly on their vast superiority of fire power. Nothing like the full strength of Allied armies on the beachhead can be involved in these actions. By using more men, the gains could be made more quickly, but more men would be lost.

If, as stories from headquarters have indicated, the Normandy operation has not moved quite as quickly as had been hoped, it probably has been because of the weather. Luck has been against the Allies in that respect. A long period of bad weather not only has prevented full exploitation of Allied air control, but has slowed up the sea-borne shipment of equipment and supplies.

But not once have the Allies lost the initiative in Normandy.

U. S. GROUP FINDS URALS INDUSTRIES ALL OUT FOR WAR

By HENRY CASSIDY

MOSCOW, July 12 (AP).—The inside workings of the Urals, central Asia arsenal of the Red Army, have been disclosed to a group of American observers who made a two-week flying tour of the vast Russian interior.

The group, which included Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce; Bland Calder; first secretary of the American Embassy, and four correspondents traveled more than 5000 miles.

The observers were impressed by the tremendous energies unleashed in the war effort, promising further development of the region in peacetime. They found the entire industrial empire keyed to the war.

The slogan "Everything for the front" is displayed widely. Newspapers, radio and theaters are used to bring the war home to the workers.

The effect of war could be seen in the lack of consumers' goods and clothes and in the run-down dwellings. Women constitute a big percentage of the workers at some of the biggest industries visited.

The Americans said they were welcomed warmly at each city and were showered with questions which indicated a keen interest in the United States along with the hope of postwar co-operation.

Eric Johnston Returns After 8 Weeks in Russia.

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP).—Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, returned in an Army transport plane today from a visit of eight weeks in Russia.

Johnston arrived at La Guardia airport shortly after noon. He was accompanied by William L. White, editor of the Emporia (Kansas) Gazette, and Joyce O'Hara, Johnston's assistant.

Johnston and O'Hara went on to Washington. Johnston said he did not care to comment on his Russian trip.

Pyle Meets Missourian at Front in France

Joins Company Led by Lt. Orion Shockley to Hit Nazi Strong Point.

By ERNIE PYLE
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

IN NORMANDY (By Wireless).

THIS war in Normandy is a war from hedgerow to hedgerow, and when we get into a town or city it is a war from street to street.

The other day I went along — quite accidentally, I assure you — with an infantry company that had been assigned to clean out a pocket in the suburbs of a city.

Since this episode was typical of the way an infantry company advances into a city held by the enemy, I would like to try to give you a picture of it. I can't do it in just one column, so you'll have to read this in installments covering several days. I hope your patience holds out.

As I say, I hadn't intended to do it. I started out in the normal fashion that afternoon to go up to a battalion command post and just look around. I was traveling with Correspondent Charles Wertenbaker and Photographer Bob Capa, both of Time and Life magazines.

Well, when we got to the C. P. we were practically at the front lines. The post was in a church that stood on a narrow street. In the courtyard across the street M. P.'s were frisking freshly taken prisoners.

I mingled among the prisoners a while. They were still holding their hands high in the air, and you're pretty close to the front when prisoners do that. They were obviously frightened and eager to please their captors. A soldier standing beside me asked one German kid about the insignia on his cap, so the kid gave the insignia to him.

The prisoners had a rank odor about them, like silage. Some of them were Russians, and two of these had their wives with them. They had been living together right at the front. The women thought we were going to shoot their husbands and they were frantic.

That's one way the Germans keep these conscripted Russians fighting—they have thoroughly sold them on the belief that we will shoot them as soon as they are captured.

Below us there were big fires in the city, and piles of black smoke. Explosions were going on all around us. Our own big shells would rustle over our heads and explode on beyond with a crash. German 200-mm. shells would spray over our heads and hit

Army Clique's Revolt in Colombia Sought to Establish Dictatorship

By JOHN LLOYD
WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP).

THE short-lived Colombian revolt, in which dissident units of the Army made President Alfonso Lopez of Colombia a prisoner, is another of a series of fast moves that have brought the Latin American situation sharply to the attention of statesmen here.

Starting in Central America, the revolutionary fever in the Colombia instance extended to a country known for its democratic tendencies. In this case, the movement has been diametrically the opposite of those that occurred recently in Guatemala and El Salvador.

In those two little Central American countries, dictatorships were upset. In Colombia a completely democratic president who only last May tried to resign was seized Monday by Army officers during military maneuvers and held prisoner. The Vice-President took over the government and called on loyal soldiers to move against the rebels.

No immediate comment was offered in State Department circles, where reports on the situation nevertheless were being studied with special interest. There was no doubt that the efforts of the Vice President to control the situation were viewed with sympathy.

Confusing Situation.

The Latin American situation, apparently without rhyme or reason, is the outgrowth of clashing ambitions and sharply contrasting theories and ideals which show no sign of immediate solution. Dictatorship may give way to democracy in one upheaval and exactly the opposite occur or at least be attempted in another, all within the general scheme of the Latin American problem.

Latin American countries are different among themselves and the difficulty that arises in one way have no kinship to that appearing in another. There are diverging schools of thought as to the respective merits of dictatorial and democratic government, and while one may prevail in one country another may exist in its neighbor.

Colombia has adhered to the democratic school of government for many years, and if it had fallen to the control of a military movement the Latin American democratic factions would have lost one of their most important strongholds, at least in an ideological sense. Some bitter criticism had arisen in Colombia over graft allegedly committed while Lopez was in office, but there had been little or no reflection on the president himself and the Senate had refused to accept his resignation.

In El Salvador, where President Maximiliano Hernandez Martinez gave up his office less than two months ago, and in Guatemala, where President Jorge Ubico followed suit, the situations were entirely different. In both these countries dictatorial governments existed and their overthrow followed popular uprisings, apparently inspired by a determination to re-establish democratic governments.

Argentina Chief Problem.

Undoubtedly the most perturbing Latin American situation, from the point of view of general solidarity and postwar unity, is that concerning Argentina, where an impasse has led to recall of United States Ambassador Norman Armour, the British Ambassador and most of the ambassadors and ministers of the American nations.

Argentina broke relations with the Axis countries long after the other American nations had done so, but shortly after the break its army general President gave up office and was succeeded by another general. Regular diplomatic relations with the new regime were not established and after months of failure to reach an understanding, during which the Axis diplomats remained in Argentina, the various ambassadors were recalled.

Reports not yet confirmed directly from Argentina are to the effect that the Axis representatives have been sent back home within the last two weeks.

MRS. ROOSEVELT FAVORS 4TH TERM IF PEOPLE WANT IT

YELLOW SPRINGS, O., July 12 (AP). — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said yesterday she would not want a fourth term for her husband "unless the majority of people felt it was necessary." She added she had felt that way about the third term.

Mrs. Roosevelt, here to speak before the Antioch College Institute on conditions for enduring peace, said in an interview that she had no personal feelings about the President's announcement that he would accept a fourth term.

"Both the President and myself," she remarked, "want what the people want, since we feel we are their servants"; that if the majority of people wanted a fourth term for Roosevelt, she also wanted it; if it was not their desire, then it would not be hers.

MONTGOMERY VISITS CAEN; PEOPLE CHEER HIM WILDLY

CAEN, France, July 12 (AP).—Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, commander of Allied ground forces in France, visited the battle-wrecked city of Caen late yesterday amid the wild cheers of the inhabitants, who quickly recognized his lean, sharp-cut features under the famous black tank corps beret.

PRESIDENT GIVES NURSES FULL AUTHORITY OF RANK

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP).—President Roosevelt today ordered all Army nurses commissioned as actual army officers in lieu of the relative rank they now hold.

The effect of the executive order will give nurses, female dietitians and physical therapy personnel of the Army Medical Department the full authority of their officer rank. Heretofore nurses have been commissioned by relative rank, somewhat limiting their authority.

ALLIED 'CHUTISTS BEHEADED BY NAZIS, YANK SCOUT SAYS

TEMPLE, Tex., July 12 (AP).—During the invasion of France Allied paratroopers were "hung in trees with their heads cut off" by the Germans, a wounded glider infantry scout declares.

Pvt. Kenneth P. Knight, who was flown from the front to McClosky General Hospital here, said yesterday that "Germans hung them up there with their feet in the air, the stumps of their necks towarr the ground, almost at eye level. One look was enough."

"I saw another paratrooper with his throat cut," Knight, former professional baseball player from Kansas City, Kan., continued. "It was the most upsetting thing that has ever happened to me. This paratrooper's helmet lay on the ground underneath where the body hung. In it was a picture of the trooper's wife and three laughing kids. The boys often carry pictures in their hats to keep them dry on an amphibious operation."

Missouri Flyer Crashes; Rescued.

STIMSON ARRIVES IN BRITAIN ON HIS INSPECTION TOUR

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, July 12 (AP).—Secretary of War Stimson arrived in Britain today for an inspection of the European theater of operations.

Stimson, who came to Britain from Italy, was accompanied by Executive Assistant Harvey H. Bundy, Maj. Gen. Thomas Kirk, surgeon-general of the United States Army, and Maj. Gen. Alexander D. Surles, Army public relations director.

WFA TO REQUISITION TURKEYS FOR ARMED FORCES OVERSEAS

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP).—The War Food Administration announced today it would requisition turkeys to obtain supplies for Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's day dinners for the armed forces overseas.

Under an order effective July 17, the WFA will require that all turkeys marketed in major producing areas be set aside for Government purchase. The order will continue in effect until the desired quantity is obtained. Officials indicated the quantity exceeds the 35 million pounds obtained under a similar order last year.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Report From the Underground

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I have recently received a series of numbers of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, from June, 1943, to February, 1944, in which appears comment on certain aspects of the resistance movement in France, outside France and as carried out by our Algiers Government.

I have been in England since the middle of February, having been chosen by my people to represent the resistance abroad, and it is a happy surprise to find an American paper so much in agreement with French opinion and, from every point of view, so favorable to the new orientation of France.

I intend having parts of your editorials and one of your cartoons reproduced and passed on to the underground press for its use.

Arriving from France, where I took part for four years in the organization of the resistance and in the direct struggle against the Germans (I was at the head of a group of "francs-tireurs" who organized the successful escape of 71 patriots, all under the death penalty), I know only too well how anxiously France awaited the arrival of the Allied troops. French people think of them not only as their liberators but also as the liberators of the whole world from tyranny and oppression.

All French men and all French women taking part in the resistance consider themselves an essential part of the Army of Freedom, fighting for the liberation of the world. Their army has no uniform, but it has its discipline, its staff of leaders and its armaments (thanks to the English and the Americans), as well as its daily communique, published in the underground papers. These underground papers publish each week news of as many as 100 derailments, the same number of executions of militiamen and members of the Gestapo, and 300 or 400 acts of sabotage in factories working for the Germans.

Their fight is as murderous as that on the front. Though it may not always be a hand-to-hand fight against the German soldiers, it often ends behind prison bars, in a torture chamber or before a firing squad.

* * *

This army, organized on French soil, mobilizes the whole of the population, for in it there are not only men but women, old people and even children. The resistance has become part of their life, it is intermingled with the ordinary daily duties. In this struggle, there is no respite, no "leave"; only death can bring rest.

Actually, the French Government is in Algiers, with De Gaulle as its President. The whole of France has great admiration for its leader, who symbolizes and leads the spirit of resistance and of liberation. They hope that this Government when it returns to metropolitan France will be allowed freedom to rebuild France after victory.

I thank the newspaper that has so well understood the aim of our new France.

For Defeat of Clark

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I congratulate you for your stand against the nomination of puppet Bennett Clark for Senator.

We want no more Jim Reeds in the United States Senate. We want no more world wars; this nation must take some effective stand to prevent them. We must always in the future be prepared against aggressor nations, and we know who they are.

It would be a tragedy to send Clark back to the Senate. I do not know of a single Democrat among my acquaintance that does not curse him to the limit.

No Time for Prejudice

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

It was with great interest and deep concern that I read Anna Hedgeman's letter, "Economic Rights of Minorities."

That racial discrimination should be so rampant at a time when our finest young men are risking and giving their lives, supposedly to prevent intolerance and injustice, is doubly bewildering, painful and tragic.

War Service for "Bookies"

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Your recent editorial on the new Manpower Commission order was well taken.

This commission would better have taken steps to put the bookmakers to work at something that could help the war effort, let alone their clientele.

The only means of stopping them would be to stop horse racing for the duration—which would provide a great deal toward farm production.

A Human Being Speaks

It has so long been taken for granted Mr. Roosevelt would run for a fourth term that his announcement yesterday, at a press conference, came as an anticlimax. For many days, discussion of the forthcoming Democratic convention has centered around, not the presidential nomination, but the question of the vice-presidential nominee.

Anticlimactic though it is, the President's statement of his position, outlined in a letter to Chairman Hannegan of the Democratic National Committee, has a deep impressiveness.

In another moment in American history, when Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman was being importuned to submit his name as a presidential candidate, he said: "If nominated, I will not accept; if elected, I will not serve." Mr. Roosevelt reverses that terse line by saying that, if nominated, "I shall accept. . . . If the people elect me, I shall serve." He uses deliberately the words, "accept" and "serve," because he "would not run, in the usual partisan political sense." He adds:

> But if the people command me to continue in this office and in this war, I have as little right to withdraw as the soldier has to leave his post in the line.

There are, of course, a good many persons, especially professional Roosevelt-haters, who will refuse to take this statement at its face value and who will, instead, accuse the President of ardently desiring another four years in office. One answer to them is that, regardless of the construction placed upon Mr. Roosevelt's conception of his duty, the American people, under our free system, will have the last say next Nov. 7.

Speaking to Mr. Hannegan and the convention delegates in a personal vein, the President says he does "not want to run." After being elected three times and serving during the worst depression in our history and a second World War, the President says:

> All that is within me cries out to go back to my home on the Hudson River, to avoid public responsibilities, and to avoid also the publicity which in our democracy follows every step of the nation's chief executive.

Here is Franklin Roosevelt, the human being, speaking, not President Roosevelt, the head of a great state. Perhaps with the exception of Abraham Lincoln, and, to a lesser extent, Woodrow Wilson, no man has borne such terrific burdens as those Mr. Roosevelt has shouldered since March, 1933. No man in American history has taken more abuse and criticism and, since the presidency is a goldfish bowl, this abuse and criticism has extended beyond him to members of his family.

Ambition in some men is a disease, but what man, even though he suffers from this malady, would not tire of the fearful weight of responsibility that the presidency must carry in times like these? Glory and pomp and circumstance—these come in large measure to the President of the United States, whoever he may be, but only a little man would fail to be surfeited by them after more than 11 years.

Moreover, the tasks the President has carried, heavy as they have been, may be dwarfed by the tasks to come. The war itself, with its ghastly toll of American lives, is far from won; after that come the appallingly difficult problems of the peace—creation of a peace that will give the world insurance against World War III; and, along with the peace, the job of economic reconstruction and the great question marks as to how to obtain full employment for our returning soldiers, and all other Americans, in the postwar era.

For these reasons, it is easy to believe that a man now past 62 years, his place already secure in history, would be willing to pass the heavy load to other shoulders. The road ahead has many pitfalls and, if Mr. Roosevelt is to traverse it for another four years, he may jeopardize his place in history, he may impair the fair monument in human memory which every man naturally craves after years of public service. This is the chance he takes and this is why we think him sincere in offering, as a "good soldier," to carry on, if the people so desire.

It was different in 1940. Then the President's attitude toward running for a third term was something less than admirable. He preserved his tight-lipped silence until after the convention had opened and, even then, when it was apparent to everybody that he wanted the nomination, Senator Barkley read a statement saying that he did not want it. His synthetic draft movement, with Harry Hopkins pulling the strings behind the scenes, was denounced by the late Raymond Clapper as a "monumental and historic deception," while such admirers as the columnists Alsop and Kintner noted the "deep distress of those who have followed him (the President) most devotedly."

This time the President comes out more than a week before the convention opens and, in a very human document, lays his cards on the table, without undue boasting of his record and without any claims of indispensability. His position is, simply, if the country wants him for another four years, he will serve. The country has nearly four months to think it over and to accept or reject him as, in its majesty, it pleases.

A Goose-Drownder

The Victory gardener, despairing through weeks of drouth, has something to rejoice about this morning, in the superb rainstorm that blessed his vacant-lot or backyard plot last night. If he remembers the picturesque language of his agrarian forebears, he could appropriately refer to the event as a gully-washer or a sod-soaker, a toad-strangler or a nubbin-killer or a goose-drownder. By any name, though, it was a life-saver.

A Light Dawns on Willkie

Wendell Willkie, 1940 presidential candidate of the Republican party, was not chosen as a delegate to the recent convention in Chicago. He was not invited to appear before the Resolutions Committee, and when the speakers' schedule was arranged, he was passed up in favor of Herbert Hoover. Harrison Spangler, then national chairman, did offer him a ticket so he could sit on the sidelines and listen, but Mr. Willkie declined the honor.

Now it is disclosed that the party's titular leader sent a draft of a proposed platform to the convention. It contained most unusual planks, in that they were not couched in double-talk, but in plain English. However, the convention never heard a word about the Willkie proposals, so rapidly was the platform rushed through.

Probably it is beginning to dawn on Mr. Willkie by this time that the people who are running the Republican party want nothing to do with him.

An Inexcusable Compromise

The Constitutional Convention was serving the best interests of Missouri's people yesterday when it voted down the attempt to maintain the requirement for a two-thirds vote before the smaller cities of the State can embark on municipal ownership—a requirement that has long weighted the scales unevenly in favor of the public utilities, as they can get a franchise by a simple majority vote.

Then the convention lost its courage, for it approved an amendment requiring a four-sevenths majority in such elections. This, of course, would be a gain over the present unequal state of affairs. But it was a weak-kneed compromise, dictated entirely by expediency. So far as principle is concerned, four-sevenths is an undesirable as two-thirds. The only fair arrangement is to put cities and utilities on an equal basis by providing a majority vote in the case of each.

The convention also lost its grip when it took up the subject of giving cities the right of condemnation, which public utilities already have. It rejected this proposal. The result would be to leave cities helpless if the owners of an electric power or gas plant whose franchise has expired refuse to sell at a reasonable price, but a proposal already engrossed forbids any abridgement of the right of eminent domain.

It is disheartening to find such concern in the convention for maintaining the undue advantages that utilities now hold. The majority's action is inexcusable. The proposals should by all means be reconsidered and approved, in order to assure fair play for Missouri cities.

Serge With a Shine

Chemistry is wonderful and, when it invents a way to make women's hose runless, we applaud as loudly as anybody; but isn't the invention of a shineless serge going a little too far?

There has never been any more conclusive symbol of husbandry, of the frugal soul, of the economical man, than the shine on the seat of a pair of blue serge trousers. In the hands of a man wearing shiny serge, private funds were safe, morals were secure, and the destiny of the nation was a foregone conclusion.

Give us whistleless corduroy if you will, and holeless socks, or even red bandanna handkerchiefs less their rural fragrance. But leave us that shine on the well-worn seat of an honest blue-serge suit.

Threat to an Able Legislator

Disturbing reports of an underground movement against Representative Raymond J. Lahey come from the Fifth St. Louis District. And just who is so opposed to the return of this hard-hitting legislator to the General Assembly? The opposition is keeping carefully under cover, but in view of the vigorous fight Mr. Lahey has carried on against the small-loan lobby and all its works, it is not difficult to guess his antagonist's identity.

This sinister lobby, as Missourians have seen many times, will go to great lengths to accomplish its aims. Mr. Lahey had the courage to oppose it, to expose its doings and to battle day after day for reduction of Missouri's outrageously high legal rates for small loans. Never previously in politics, he was chosen by the Democratic Citizens' Committee in 1942 to run for the nomination, and incidentally was the only Democratic legislator elected by the Fifth District in that year. If he is now defeated, the result will be a regrettable loss for the people of his district, for his party and for the State.

If the district's voters want this able legislator to continue looking after their interests, and fighting for fair play in small loans, they will have to be on the alert.

A Rent Gouge Is Stopped

Federal Judge Hulen yesterday halted a device for evading the OPA rent ceilings that was both ingenious and, to use the Court's term, vicious. Permanent injunctions were issued restraining Mr. and Mrs. William H. Betts, apartment owners, and their agents, the Business Sales Agency, from carrying on their little game of requiring prospective tenants to pay $650 for some furniture (an amount $300 above the ceiling, an OPA official testified) before being permitted to rent apartments.

The rent ceilings were established as a safeguard against inflation. If landlords were able to nullify them by such schemes as this, the sky would speedily be the limit on rents. Judge Hulen has put an end to this particular gouge attempt, and has presented a warning to other would-be evaders.

"De Facto Authority"

Prime Minister Churchill on May 24 formally stated Britain's policy of not recognizing the Algiers Committee as the provisional government of France, and Foreign Secretary Eden a few days later took the sting out of this rebuff by stating:

> We have dealt with the French Committee not only as if they were the Government in the territory where their writ already runs, but we are also dealing with them in matters that concern the metropolitan territory of France.

This country has now adopted the same policy, with President Roosevelt's announcement of yesterday that he is accepting the committee as the authority for civil administration of liberated France. In fact, the acceptance did not wait on this announcement, for full co-operation of the French in administering civil affairs has been in existence for some weeks. A draft agreement putting the arrangement on formal record is being written in London, but the De Gaulle group's "de facto authority," to use the President's phrase, already is being exercised.

This is a happy solution for the long and disturbing wrangle over the committee's status. It assures the French people that their Anglo-American allies consider them entitled to restoration of sovereignty as the liberation proceeds, and to their rightful place in the postwar world.

. . . If the People Command Me to Continue in This Office . . .
—PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

For Electoral College Reform

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Amendment proposed by former Senator Norris of Nebraska, to let voters cast direct ballots for President and Vice-President, and to divide each state's vote according to popular vote, is favored by Southern editor; it would, he says, increase South's influence.

From the Richmond (Va.) Times-Dispatch

The carryings-on of Texas and Mississippi Democrats with the electoral college have served to focus attention on this anachronistic method of choosing a President, and to bring demands in various quarters for its modification or repeal.

If either Texas or Mississippi should cast its electoral vote next January against Mr. Roosevelt, and thereby deprive him of re-election (a not impossible consequence), there would undoubtedly be a nation-wide upheaval.

We have a system of choosing our Presidents which is susceptible of grave abuses. It makes it perfectly legal for a state to have on the ballot only two sets of electors, with the Democratic set left free to vote for or against the Democratic nominee, after the November election.

When the Founding Fathers wrote the Constitution, they put in the provisions relative to presidential electors with a view to keeping the choice of President in the hands of the "best minds" or the "best people," and preventing the masses from making the selection.

Amendment Came Near Passing

Two major alternatives to the existing system have been suggested. One is embodied in the constitutional amendment originally sponsored in 1933 by former Senator Norris of Nebraska, and still pending in Congress under other sponsorship. It came within two votes of the necessary two-thirds in the Senate when Norris proposed it and, in view of the current uproar, it may go through this time.

Under this amendment, the voters would cast their ballots for presidential and vice-presidential candidates, instead of for electors. The electoral vote of each state would remain the same as at present, but that vote would be divided between the two candidates in proportion to the popular support gained by each in the respective states.

It seems fairer to divide the electoral vote in the manner proposed by the amendment.

Furthermore, this would be a great incentive to a stronger Republican party in the South—something much to be desired. For obviously, if the G. O. P. knew that its candidates would receive part of the South's electoral vote in presidential elections, and that the party's share would increase in proportion to the number of Republican ballots cast, a definite incentive to more intensive Republican effort below the Potomac and the Ohio would have been provided.

South Would Be Strengthened

The Norris plan, on the surface, perhaps would seem to lessen this region's weight in Democratic councils, since the South's electoral vote would be split instead of going solidly for the Democrats practically every four years. In the long run, however, this would benefit the South, by making it a battleground between the parties, and hence sought after by both of them.

As an alternative to this plan, it is being proposed that Presidents and Vice-Presidents be chosen by direct popular vote, with state lines eliminated, and the election going to the man polling the largest total of ballots from the nation as a whole. This is just what the Founding Fathers sought to avoid, and even today there is much reason to doubt whether this would be a desirable system.

The electoral college, whether as now constituted or as modified by the Norris amendment, gives a certain weight to regional interests. The electoral vote of each state is arrived at by adding its two Senators to its total of Representatives.

The fact that each state has two Senators, irrespective of its size and population, gives a small or thinly populated state more strength in the electoral college than it would have if this factor were eliminated and population alone was the criterion.

In the South, where the poll tax and other factors hold down the vote to low levels, the number of persons casting ballots is much the smallest in the nation. This would seem to put the South at a terrific disadvantage in any system under which there was direct election of a President.

Yet the disadvantage is considerably less than some imagine. In 1940, for example, Roosevelt's plurality over Willkie in New York State was only 224,440. In Virginia, in the same election, his plurality over Willkie was 226,598, or greater than the New York figure.

The Best Corrective

Thus, despite the fact that New York cast over 6,000,000 votes in 1940 and Virginia only about 345,000, the New York vote was so evenly divided and the Virginia vote so one-sided that if a system of direct election had prevailed in 1940, with the national total as the deciding factor, Virginia would have done more to elect Roosevelt than New York!

Of course, when the South becomes more doubtful politically, this state of things will not apply. Under such a situation, a low-voting South would probably be at a disadvantage, but once the South becomes doubtful politically, the poll tax will be swept away—as it should be—and the people will really go to the polls.

The South, with its special regional issues and problems, ought not to be submerged in the national scene, its wishes on vital issues regularly overridden by the North and West.

It is desirable, therefore, that this section retain a reasonable degree of influence in the councils of the nation, and in those of the two major parties. The best way to achieve this objective, and at the same time to correct the obvious defects in the existing system of choosing a President and Vice-President, would seem to be through the adoption of the Norris amendment.

GENERALS DON'T DIE IN BED

From the Miami (Fla.) Herald.

Already 14 United States Army Generals, two Marine Generals and eight Navy flag officers have been killed in action, or are reported missing, or have died in plane crashes and other incidents directly related to the present war.

Generals and Admirals are fewer than Pfcs. Their names, consequently, do not appear so frequently in casualty lists. Yet they share danger with their men. The number who have given their lives in this conflict is sufficient answer to the ancient canard that Generals never die with their boots on.

Story of an English Governess At the Medieval Court of Siam

Modern Thailand owes something to an English governess, Anna Leonowens, who taught in the harem of King Mongkut of Siam from 1862 to 1867. She left a record of her experience in two books which Margaret Landon has supplemented by research and fused into one.

Mrs. Leonowens, a gentle English widow, under necessity of supporting her children, had lived in India, but it was a new and difficult world she faced in Bangkok. The difficulties she met with clear mind, unshakable principles and courage, yet with a saving grace of common sense.

Her main job was to teach the royal women and children the English language. She was also to assist King Mongkut with his correspondence. The latter proved exacting, since she was often summoned in the dead of night to settle points in the King's English. And at that, he was not always ready to take her word.

Teaching in her temple school was gratifying because in the harem there were charming and intelligent women and children, thirsty for knowledge. The governess, without being a proselytizer or a moral missionary, could not help teaching more than just language. She taught pity, love of freedom and of justice, and lived them every day of her years in Bangkok.

Of Anna Leonowens' pity and sense of justice the book is full. Women and even little children were victims of pride, of resentment, of the medieval Siamese system, and it was a risky business to interfere. Though she sometimes failed tragically, she always tried to help, and often succeeded.

The civilization pictured is on the whole primitive, though gorgeous. It is just a picture of Bangkok and the court, not of the country as a whole. The King is intelligent, interested in Western civilization, yet also primitive and really cruel, with only occasional flashes of sentiment. He is part of a Siam that was passing out of the old into the new. Foreign pressures and influences, internal economy were at work.

In the transformation, Anna Leonowens played a part. Young Prince Chulalongkorn, her pupil, became King, and at once began freeing the Siamese slaves. However, sympathetic readers may make disproportionate claims for her. The author has not done so. She has presented the heroine and left us free to judge what she means in the history of Thailand.

The book is not so much a serious document in evidence as it is the Arabian Nights entertainment of an English governess. It abounds in thrilling, amusing, pathetic and tragic tales, which the governess saw being lived out, and in which she often played a determining role.

A Non-Serious Report on War

Garrett Graham bears no resemblance whatever to the Marines on the war-bond posters. He is a former newspaper man, novelist and film director, semi-bald, dumpy in figure and 45 years old. Yet he quit the Hollywood life, became a Captain of Marines and saw action on Guadalcanal and elsewhere in the Solomons.

He tells in "Banzai Noel" (Vanguard) of his adventures, with emphasis on what is sometimes called the lighter side of war. There are some serious episodes, but the whole treatment is slapdash and helter-skelter. About 95 per cent superficial, the book makes amusing, and occasionally moving, reading.

MARQUIS CHILDS

A Visit With Henry I and Henry II

DETROIT.

HENRY FORD'S private dining room in the Dearborn engineering laboratory in Greenfield Village is paneled in early American pine, but the air conditioning is strictly modern. Henry Ford's whole life is like that—a strange blending of old and new, of what is past and what is still on the way. That may be, in fact, an explanation of the genius that has done so much to change the habits of mankind.

Today at 81—he'll soon be 82—Henry Ford looks as well-preserved, as canny, as shrewd, as he did 20 years ago. The flicker of his genius, his aliveness, is in his eyes, which move quickly, piercingly, when they are not veiled in contemplation.

You realize, talking with him, that his mind runs in much the same channels it did when he was in mid-career. He never ceases being thankful for the fact he is not responsible to stockholders. Except for a small fraction, the stock of the billion-dollar Ford company is held by old Henry and the members of his family.

Ford's Independence.

If you had stockholders, you couldn't do the things you wanted to do. You couldn't build schools for the workers on your rubber plantation in the Amazon Valley. You couldn't fiddle around with little experiments that sometimes produce startling results.

Ford is acutely conscious that his company is the last big enterprise which is not controlled by Eastern capital. His suspicion of the New York bankers comes out of his own fierce struggle in the automotive field, and it's rooted, too, in his own sense of himself as a Midlander.

In spite of all his power, Henry Ford seems to regard himself as he did when he was a young man tinkering around with the horseless carriage. He's a citizen doing a hard day's work every day, who has put together a good, sizable family business.

The Heir Apparent.

Ford has a scorn for idlers, for men who don't earn their bread by the sweat of their brow. That's one thing he finds wrong with the system of stockholding—it produces dividends which encourage people to live in idleness.

On the young man seated on his right all Henry Ford's hopes center. Henry Ford II, 26 years old, tall and broad-shouldered, is learning the business. At the death of Edsel Ford, his father, Henry II was retired to inactive duty from the Navy to help run the Ford company's vast war industry. Young Henry's two brothers, Benson and William, are in the armed services.

Henry II describes himself modestly as an apprentice. He's under the tutelage of his grandfather and of Harry Bennett, formerly head of the Ford police system and now in a key position in the Ford empire.

They Think Alike.

One thing that struck me most forcibly was that, in spite of the nearly 60 years that separate them and all that has happened in those 60 years, the thinking of young Henry and old Henry seems to follow pretty well along the same line. Allowing for differences of background and education—young Henry went to Yale although he did not graduate—I should guess that they look at life from the same angle.

The grandfather is now teaching the grandson about farming—old and new. They joke a little between themselves about it. Young Henry frankly admits his ignorance. Old Henry talks in his dry, muted voice about the difference between a scythe and a now obsolete implement called a cradle, which in the past was used in haying.

Has the Cow a Chance?

He talks, too, about soy beans and early Ford experiments with this crop. Soy bean milk, made by crushing the bean, is going to do away with the cow. The cow has hardly 10 years left to go. To prove how good soy bean milk is, he sends out to the kitchen for a glass of it for me to drink. It isn't bad, but I think the cow has a chance.

About the future, Henry I is emphatically optimistic. He'll make even cheaper cars if the Government doesn't stifle competition, and he'll be in production within a few weeks of the war's end. Henry I and Henry II are working hard to cement a family partnership; to keep a family business in the family no matter what tumultuous changes the postwar era may bring.

MGR. PUDLOWSKI DIES, ST. CASIMIR'S PASTOR

The Rt. Rev. Mgr. Francis A. Pudlowski, pastor of St. Casimir's Catholic Church, Eighth and Mullanphy streets, died today in St. John's Hospital, following an intestinal operation. He was 57 years old, a native of St. Louis and was created a monsignor 10 years ago by Pope Pius XI.

He was ordained by Archbishop John J. Glennon, Dec. 17, 1910, after completing his studies in Kenrick Seminary, then located on Cass avenue near Eighteenth street.

He was assistant pastor at Desloge, Mo., until 1912, when he came to St. Louis as assistant at the Church of the Nativity. Sept. 1, 1912, he founded St. Adalbert's parish, in Walnut Park, and remained its minister until 1922 when he became pastor at St. Casimir's. He was one of the diocesan parish priest consultors, and was active in the work of the Polish Relief Committee.

The funeral will be held at the church at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, followed by interment in Calvary Cemetery.

Msgr. Pudlowski is survived by a brother, Aloysius J. Pudlowski, and two sisters, Miss Rose Pudlowski and Sister Theophila, of the Order of St. Francis.

WOMEN TOLD JAPAN BEGAN WAR PREPARATIONS 50 YEARS AGO

Japanese children were denied adequate clothing as early as 1906 to conserve materials for the military program, Mme. Katherine Lew, Chinese refugee, and former president of the Shanghai Soroptimist and Y. W. C. A. clubs, told the 300 delegates from Soroptimist Clubs in the United States and Canada who opened a three-day convention yesterday at Hotel Jefferson.

"The Japanese government has been preparing for this war for 50 years," said Madame Lew, who came to this country in 1941 from her home in Peking, and who now lives in New York. She related how, when she was a training teacher at the Hiroshima Normal School in Japan in 1906, Japanese parents remonstrated with her for knitting woolen socks for her pupils whose feet were bleeding from the cold. The parents explained that the government considered this extravagance, since the wool was needed for the soldiers.

STANLEY STONER DIES; ONCE CONSUL-GENERAL IN CALCUTTA

Stanley Stoner, retired attorney and former United States Consul-General to Calcutta, India, died yesterday of a heart attack at his home, 4931 Lindell boulevard. He was 79 years old, and is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Evadne Rumsey, daughter of the late Lewis M. Rumsey; a daughter, Mrs. Marian Carling, and a granddaughter. A sister, Mrs. Emma Douglas, lives in Los Gatos, Cal. The funeral will be private.

Mr. Stoner was a graduate of Cornell University in the class of 1886. He came to St. Louis and entered Washington University Law School. After graduation, he was an instructor in political economy and philosophy in Washington University until 1892, when he entered the practice of law. He was appointed to the consular service by President Theodore Roosevelt in 1905, and was in India for two years.

In the First World War period he was director of military relief for the American Red Cross, southwestern division, and after the armistice was sent to Palestine as deputy commissioner, to supervise transfer of the Red Cross work to the British. He retired from legal practice in 1930.

PICTURE CONTEST DEADLINE

An extension of the deadline and a change in the number of entries that may be submitted in the annual photographic contest, "Vacationing in St. Louis," sponsored by the St. Louis Junior Chamber of Commerce, was announced yesterday by contest officials. The deadline will be next Wednesday and each contestant may submit three photographs instead of one.

Open to all amateurs, the contest offers cash prizes totaling $125, including a first prize of $50. Entry blanks may be obtained at the Young Men's Division of the Chamber of Commerce or on the second floor of the Boyd-Richardson Men's Apparel Co.

Lawyer Dead

STERLING E. EDMUNDS

STERLING E. EDMUNDS DIES; LAWYER, WRITER

Author of International Law Treatises Had Been Ill Several Months.

Sterling E. Edmunds, lawyer and former newspaper editor, university lecturer and author of treatises on international law, died today in Barnes Hospital after several months' illness. He was 64 years old, and lived at 28 Westmoreland place.

Mr. Edmunds is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Eugenia Howard, and by a daughter, Mrs. Alexander B. Carver of New Canaan, Conn. Funeral services will be held at the home at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Interment will be private.

After working as a reporter on the Post-Dispatch in the late '90s, Mr. Edmunds became city editor and later editor-in-chief of the St. Louis Chronicle, evening newspaper of the old Scripps-McRae chain. He studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1906. Thereafter he specialized in the study and teaching of international law, and in efforts to preserve the American political structure, particularly in checking encroachments of the Federal authority on the states.

His appeal to the Governors of states to "halt the march of Federal empire" was published in the Post-Dispatch, and appeared in pamphlet form. Other books and pamphlets written by him were "International Law Applied to the Treaty of Peace," "The Lawless Law of Nations," "The Federal Octopus," and "The Roosevelt Coup d'Etat of 1933-40."

From 1909 to 1926 Mr. Edmunds lectured on international law in St. Louis University Law School. In 1918 he served as a special assistant to the State Department. In 1935 he directed the formation of the National Committee for Protection of Child, Family, School and Church, which conducted a campaign against ratification of the Federal child labor amendment, on the ground that it was a "youth control" measure, and that the age limit, 18 years, was unreasonable. The amendment has not been ratified by the required number of states.

He was associated with former Senator James A. Reed in a movement of conservative Democrats to oppose re-election of President Roosevelt in 1936, and again in 1940. He was a former vice president of the United States Golf Association.

Besides his wife and daughter, four sisters survive Mr. Edmunds. They are Mrs. John J. Fisher of St. Louis, Mrs. Virginia Noe of Winnetka, Ill., Mrs. Robert Dudley of Felicity, O., and Mrs. James Boles of Hamersville, O.

Among War Casualties

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

MR. AND MRS. L. WARRINGTON BALDWIN, 23 Westmoreland place, have returned home after attending the annual Independence day reunion of Mr. Baldwin's family at Spring Hill, old family plantation near Annapolis, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Richard Baldwin, plans to open her summer home at Wequetonsing, Mich., shortly. She will be accompanied there by her four children and will be joined by Mrs. Baldwin, who will return home with his family at the close of the season.

Another daughter-in-law, Mrs. L. Warrington Baldwin Jr., is making her home temporarily with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Fisse, 6219 Washington boulevard. Her husband, an army captain, is stationed in England. Mrs. Baldwin's sister, Miss Anne Fisse, returned last week from Mexico City, where she attended the University of Mexico, and lived for eight months in the home of Senorita Angela Martinez del Rio. Senorita del Rio, a member of a prominent old Mexican family, opens her ancestral home each season to a small number of young women whom she chaperones at social functions, and whom she instructs in the Spanish language. Miss Vesta Tittmann, who made the trip to Mexico City with Miss Fisse, will remain there until September. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene C. Tittmann Jr., 5284 Westminster place.

NOT everyone can seine his own overstocked lake within a stone's throw of his house 14 miles from downtown St. Louis and feed 40 guests on the surplus fish, but Dr. Quintus L. Drennan did just that last Sunday afternoon. When it became apparent that small hybrid fish were becoming a nuisance and that there were too many fish in the lake anyway, Dr. and Mrs. Drennan decided to capitalize on the situation and invited an expert to superintend the seining. Beginning about noon, with skeptical guests as audience, Dr. Drennan and a few of his friends did the actual work with a seine about 300 feet long. An hour later, the predatory fish destroyed, hot fried bass, crappie and blue gills were part of the main course of a picnic supper served at small tables on the lawn. A Negro orchestra played until 6 o'clock in the evening.

The Drennan home is 6 Clayton terrace, a short distance northwest of Clayton and Lindbergh roads. The place is called Plum Nelly, the name inspired by a chauffeur who once got lost while driving his employer to the house. He said, "This place sure is plum out in the country and nelly (nearly) out o' civilization."

Dr. and Mrs. Drennan hope to make the party an annual affair. Among the guests at Sunday's celebration were Mrs. Drennan's parents, 90-year-old W. I. Edwards of Warrenton, Mo., and his 88-year-old wife.

To Go to Michigan.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN CHARLES TOBIN, 5 Kingsbury place, plan to leave the first of next month for Grand Haven, Mich., where they will spend about six week. They will be joined there later in the season by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Pfeffer, 415 Belt avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Tobin returned Friday from Quantico, Va., where they were present July 5 for the commissioning of their son, Thomas J. Tobin, as a lieutenant in the Marine Corps. Another son, Staff Sgt. John C. Tobin Jr., stationed with the infantry at Fort George Gordon Meade, Md., obtained a short leave from his post and met his family in Quantico.

Departing for Nantucket, Mass., early next month will be Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. White, 5244 Westminster place. They plan an indefinite stay.

Lt. and Mrs. Norman Ray Tharp have moved from Chicago to Milwaukee, where Lt. Tharp has been transferred. Mrs. Tharp is the former Miss Jane Waddock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bruton Waddock, 415 Scott avenue, Kirkwood. Lt. and Mrs. Tharp were here on a recent visit.

Lt. and Mrs. Joseph Scott Laurie III are spending several days in St. Louis as guests of Lt. Laurie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scott Laurie Jr., 6338 Waterman avenue. They arrived here from Edgewood Arsenal, Md., where Lt. Laurie was recently graduated from Officer Candidate School, Chemical Warfare Division.

Mrs. Laurie's sister, Mrs. Alfred Carr Jr., 4542 Maryland avenue, will leave early next week for Rehoboth Beach, Del., where she has taken a house for the summer. Her three daughters, Miss Patricia, Miss Ann and Miss Susan Carr, will accompany her. Mrs. Carr hopes to be joined in Rehoboth Beach by her husband, a major in the Army Air Forces Intelligence Division, who returned recently on sick leave from England and has been sent to Mitchel Field (N. Y.) hospital.

Walk Cooper, Musial, Kurowski Share in Scoring 6 of 7 Runs

By W. J. McGoogan
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

PITTSBURGH, July 12.—It is the Cardinals that the National League has to thank in a large measure today for its fourth victory in 12 All-Star games with their American League rivals. Four of the champion Redbirds played prominent parts in the 7-to-1 triumph which the senior circuit team scored over the juniors at Forbes Field last night in the annual game.

Walker Cooper caught eight innings, and with two singles drove in a run and scored one himself; Stan Musial played center field for eight frames, had a single in four official trips to the plate, drove in a tally and scored a run; Marty Marion, old legs and arms, was at shortstop throughout. He went hitless, but handled everything which came his way faultlessly and started the only double play made by his side. George Kurowski didn't get into the game until the sixth inning, but on his one turn at bat walloped a double to drive in two runs.

Yes, it was quite a show which the Cardinals put on in Pittsburgh for the benefit of the Pirate followers.

The Nationals outhit the Americans, 12 to six, and four of the winners' runs were powered by Cardinal bats.

Brownies Also Shine.

Three of the Browns played well for the American League team. George McQuinn was on first throughout, with Junior Stephens at shortstop for the nine innings. They each made a hit, and Stephens turned one of the best fielding plays of the night, going far to his right and out on the grass to grab Fred Walker's short and low pop fly in the seventh.

Bob Muncrief relieved Tex Hughson in the fifth with two on and two out. He retired Bob Elliott, Pittsburgh third baseman, for the final out, then pitched the sixth inning, holding the Nationals scoreless with one hit.

McQuinn committed one error when he dropped Bobby Doerr's throw in the big fifth inning, and it was a costly boot. It was in that inning that the National Leaguers scored four of their runs, more than enough to win.

The Nationals were favorites in the betting, and on the play were superior in both hitting and pitching. Marion was the only regular, aside from the pitchers, who failed to get a hit, with Cavarretta, Walker Cooper, Dixie Walker and Connie Ryan each getting two.

Bucky Walters, Ken Raffensberger, Rip Sewell and Jim Tobin yielded only six hits between them, and it was only off Walters that the representatives of Will Harridge were able to score.

Hank Borowy, Yankees; Tex Hughson, Red Sox; Muncrief; Hal Newhouser, Detroit, and Bobo Newsom, Athletics, did the pitching for the American League team. Hughson was charged with the loss, while Raffensberger was credited with the victory.

Southworth Kisses Nicholson During Victory Celebration

PITTSBURGH, July 12.

BILLY SOUTHWORTH was dancing all over the dressing room after his shouting and whistling charges trooped in, following the National League's conquest of the A. L. in the All-Star game last night.

He slapped them on the back, shook their hands and even planted a kiss on Bill Nicholson's face.

Victory Smiles

Hughson, 13-Game A. L. Winner, No Mystery to N. L. Luminaries

Hughson, who has won 13 games in the American League, is usually a very baffling pitcher, but after retiring the National League team in order in the fourth, Billy Southworth's men fell on him for five hits and four runs in the fifth, and during the barrage Joe McCarthy, leading the American team for the seventh time, took him out of the box.

Keltner singled and reached third on two infield outs in the second inning. He scored when Borowy beat out a hit to Ryan near second base. And that was the Americans' only run.

Borowy allowed one hit in each of three innings, then retired in favor of Hughson.

Ryan started the National fifth with a single and stole second as Marion fanned. Bill Nicholson, Cubs, batted for Raffensberger and doubled down the right field line, scoring Ryan with the tying run.

Galan singled to center, scoring Nicholson. Cavarretta was passed. Musial then hit to Doerr, and when McQuinn dropped the throw at first, the bases were full. Walker Cooper shot a single to left, scoring Galan, but Cavarretta was out trying to cross the plate, Johnson to Hayes. Walker singled to right, scoring Musial, Walker Cooper stopping at second.

Muncrief Puts on Brakes.

That finished Hughson, and Muncrief got Elliott on a foul to end the inning.

Higgins batted for Muncrief in the seventh and Hal Newhouser, Detroit, pitched for the American Leaguers. Cavarretta greeted him with a single to center and Musial sacrificed. Walker Cooper slammed a hit to Doerr, Caverratta moving to third. Stephens then made his catch of Walker's pop, while Kurowski doubled to left to score both Cavarretta and Walker Cooper.

In the eighth, Marion fanned but reached first when Frank Hayes dropped the third strike. Medwick batted for Rip Sewell and sacrificed. Galan and Cavarretta walked to fill the bases, and Marion scored after Johnson caught Musial's fly.

The attendance was 29,585, with receipts of $81,275. Expenses are to be taken out of that, and the balance, with $25,000 obtained for the radio rights, goes to the baseball equipment fund of the major leagues to provide the means for men in the armed services to play ball.

Sidelights

PITTSBURGH, July 12.

ONE of the strange aspects of the game was the fact that the Browns, whose chief weakness is catching, had three former members of the club as the American League receivers, Rollie Hemsley, Frank Hayes and Rick Ferrell.

Mique Gonzalez was in charge of the National leaguers' ball supply. And he watched the spheres carefully, as usual.

A ground rule was put into effect that a ball going through the right-field screen would be an automatic two-base hit. None did. It will be remembered that in a recent protested game between the Cardinals and Pirates, Ford Frick, president of the National League, ruled such a blow by Virgil Davis a home run, the game thus ending in a tie instead of a victory for the Redbirds.

Art Fletcher coached at third and Joe Cronin, Red Sox manager, at first for the American League club, while Gonzalez was at first and Fitzsimmons at third for the National League.

Southworth kicked when Umpire Cal Hubbard called Cavarretta out at home in the fifth when he tried to score from second on Walker Cooper's single.

Rip Sewell threw his blooper several times, but the first strike he got on it was called against McQuinn in the eighth. He used it again on the next pitch and George bunted, but Walker Cooper threw him out.

Ex-Wisconsin Grid Star Is Missing in Action

LANCASTER, Wis., July 12 (AP).—Mark Hoskins, co-captain of the 1942 University of Wisconsin football team, is missing in action in Italy, his parents were notified yesterday by the War Department.

Hoskins shared the Badger grid captaincy with two-time All-American Dave Schreiner, also of Lancaster, after they had played together throughout their high school and college careers.

Williams Outpoints Marshall in 10 Rounds

Toledo Beats Browns, 6 to 4

TOLEDO, O. — Toledo's Mud Hens had a large evening last night. First, they climbed into a virtual third-place tie with Louisville in the American Association race by nipping the Colonels, 2-1; then they polished off the pace-setting St. Louis Browns of the American League, 6-4, in an exhibition contest.

Al Lamacchia, first of two Toledo pitchers, received credit for the victory over the Browns, who used three hurlers, with Jack Kramer charged with the defeat. The Browns counted all of their four runs in the ninth inning on five hits and an error.

Athletics Win Exhibition.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 12 (AP).—The Philadelphia Athletics of the American League defeated the Albany Senators of the Eastern League, 13-5, in an exhibition game delayed an hour and a quarter because of a thunderstorm.

Miss Hulbert in Quarterfinal of Chicago Tennis

CHICAGO, July 12 (AP). — A doctor's report today was to determine whether top-seeded Francisco (Pancho) Segura will sit out the current River Forest Open tennis tournament and perhaps be sidelined for several weeks.

Dorothy Bundy of Santa Monica, Cal., and Mary Arnold of Los Angeles, seeded first and second respectively, easily gained the quarter final round of women's singles play yesterday. Betty Ruth Hulbert of St. Louis also advanced to the quarterfinals.

Segura, who has his sights set on the national championship at Forest Hills next month, wrenched his left ankle as he won the Western Senior tournament at Neenah, Wis., Sunday, which forced him to postpone starting in the meet here for the past two days.

The ankle was X-rayed yesterday, but a final diagnosis was not expected until today. The Ecuador Whirlwind, ranked third nationally, said if the injury is not a fracture or a severe sprain, he will swing into action today.

However, Segura's coach, Jack Macy, said the star may have to rest two weeks.

Should Segura default by failing to play today, the championship most likely will go to second-seeded Billy Talbert of Indianapolis. It was in a three-hour battle with Talbert that Segura was injured.

Concordia Hurlers Hold Bears to Four Hits and Win, 6 to 2

Coming from behind a two-run deficit, the Concordia Seminary baseball team defeated Washington U. Bears, 6 to 2, in a St. Louis Collegiate League game yesterday. The Bears made good use of three hits, including McNutt's home run, to score one run in the first and another in the second, but thereafter they were held to only two hits. Dwain Gade and Chuck Boerger divided the Concordia pitching assignment. Gade also hit a home run.

Munger, in Army, Hurls Jay Bees To 2-1 Victory

George Munger, who was to have pitched in the All-Star game at Pittsburgh last night as a representative of the Cardinal Club, was in winning form all right, but he did his pitching for the Jefferson Barracks soldiers instead of for the National League. Munger, inducted yesterday, hurled the full seven innings of the twilight game at the Barracks grounds as Jay Bees won, 2 to 1, over Lambert Field Wings. He held the Wings to six hits while he and his mates were getting eight hits off Frank Mason of the Navy base team.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Time Has Changed the Magnate Mind

IS the baseball magnate becoming feminized? . . . You wonder, after noting the way he has exercised the woman's privilege of changing her mind. . . . Particularly in the matter of night baseball.

The Pittsburgh meeting yesterday decided to give club owners a free hand as to transfering remaining mid-week day games to night time. . . . That will give the Browns a total of 37 night contests this year and the Cards 36—73 after-dark contests in all for St. Louis. Next year the totals may read 106 night games, 48 day games, if the idea still prevails.

Perhaps the first to do an absolute about face on the lights was Clark Griffith, Washington president, who once was one of the staunchest opponents of the floodlights. . . . But he became the pioneer of the movement to turn night into day by playing all games at night, except Sundays and holidays.

Sam Breadon, too, was slow in approving the night game idea. . . . At times all of the heads of both leagues gave proponents of the change from daylight to dark the agate eye. . . . Now, with the exception of Ed Barrow of the Yanks, all are wholeheartedly falling for the lights.

See what you've done, Larry McPhail? It was you who started the stampede, way back there nearly a decade ago, by asking for seven night games just to see how the vaccination would take. . . . It took so well that now every hostile seems to be cured.

* * *

Not that there isn't legitimate objection to night ball. . . . There's plenty of kick coming from several points of view. . . . It upsets the normal social, dietary and sleeping activities of all concerned—even reporters. . . . It puts a natural daylight competition into an artificial atmosphere. . . . It gives spectators a distorted view of speed and action. . . . And contributes in some degree to misplays.

But daylight after dark, has come to stay. . . . It's business first, with our national sport. You can't miss that conclusion when night attendance mounts to seven or eight times the daylight totals.

National League Still Far Behind.

THE National League still isn't in a position to do any All-Star boasting. . . . Counting last night's victory its winning percentage still is only .333 in 12 games. . . . But there isn't much doubt that its all-star group had more power than the Americans last night.

Probably the regular Cardinal team alone could have done as well or better than the All-Star Nationals. . . . Which only seems to emphasize the advantage the Redbirds will have in a world series against the Browns, or whatever club finishes in front of the American League flag marathon.

Because the remainder of the season will consist largely of night games, fans will want to know what effect this will have, if the world series is played in daylight. . . . The shift back and forth from one style to the other isn't either pleasing or helpful to the players.

Now that the All-Star kink is out of the baseball schedule, the majors will resume the business of pursuing their respective pennants. . . . The situation still lukewarmly favors a St. Louis street-car world series next October. . . . Betting on this result has been merely casual because the odds-layers don't like to play with this situation. . . . Too much uncertainty. . . . And they offer only 3 to 1 or less that the Browns won't be up there this fall.

If any club in the league suddenly got "hot," it could come from behind and win. . . . On July 14, 1914, the Boston Nationals were in last place, just about as far behind as the Athletics are today. . . . Then Rudolph, Tyler and James began to click. . . . So did that keystone combination, Johnny Evers and Rabbit Maranville. . . . In October the Bostonians had won the pennant and the world series in four straight games from the Athletics—the first time the championship ever had been won in four games.

No, we're not trying to tip the Mackmen. . . . We like the Browns even today, just as we did at the beginning of the season.

"Happy Days Are Here" . . . At Night

Do you feel tired—listless? ☐ ☐
Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.
Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable.
Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better.
Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Get them at any drugstore. Only 10¢ and 25¢.

Jeanne Cline In Semifinals

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., July 12 (AP).—Jeanne Cline, 20-year-old Bloomington Star, today eliminated Marjorie Lindsay of Decatur, the defending champion, 3 and 1, in the quarterfinal round of the Illinois Women's Golf Association tournament.

Miss Cline, a junior at Rollins College in Florida, will meet another former Illinois champion, Dorothy Foster of Springfield, 1933 winner, in tomorrow's semifinals. Miss Foster advanced today with a smashing 5-and-4 victory over Marian Schuster of La Grange.

Medalist Ruth More of Peoria defeated Ann Lewis of Bloomington, 6 and 4, and Virginia Nilles of Chicago defeated Mrs. H. M. Sims of Evanston, 3 and 2.

Carnegie Tech Hopes To Play Football Again This Fall

PITTSBURGH, July 12 (AP).—Carnegie Tech, out of big football for the past four seasons, hopes to play some sort of schedule next fall.

While the Tartans have never announced engagements for the 1944 season, Pitt and West Virginia University released schedules including games with Tech. Yesterday Michigan State College announced a booking with the Tartans at Lansing, Nov. 18.

"Yes, we are clinging to hopes of playing again this fall," said Tech Athletic Director Clarence (Buddy) Overend in commenting on the Michigan State announcement.

"Everything depends on what happens in the next few months," he explained. "We have approximately 450 civilian students right now, most of them in engineering, but Uncle Sam may grab many of them."

Montgomery and Beau Jack May Meet In War Bond Bout

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP).—Bob Montgomery, current holder of the New York version of the lightweight championship, and Beau Jack, his No. 1 rival, may be brought together in a war bond bout here if plans of the war bond sports committee meet with approval.

Both boxers are in the Army, and Max Kase, sports committee chairman, said today that both had received permission from their commanding officers to engage in the bout, contingent upon War Department approval. Montgomery is stationed at Keesler Field, Miss., and Jack at Fort Benning, Ga.

If the bout is held admission will be by war bond purchase only and the boxers will receive no purses. Expense of staging the fight would be met through sales of programs and radio rights. The tentative plan calls for the bout to be held some time within the next month, either indoors at Madison Square Garden or outdoors, probably at the Polo Grounds.

Pat Harder Discharged From Navy Air Corps, Will Join Marines

MILWAUKEE, July 12 (AP).—Marlin (Pat) Harder, former University of Wisconsin fullback, said today he had been given an honorable discharge from the Navy Air Corps and planned to re-enlist in the Marines tomorrow.

Harder entered the service on March 8, 1943, and served until June 28, 1944. He said he hoped to be assigned to some branch of the Marine air service.

Pro Golf Qualifying Round to Be July 24

The sectional qualifying round to determine the Eastern Missouri Professional Golf Association's representative in the national P. G. A. tournament will be held Monday, July 24, at the Normandie. It will be for 36 holes.

This was decided at a meeting of the association presided over by Homer Herpel, at the Kingsway Hotel last night. The P. G. A. meet is scheduled for Spokane, Wash., starting Aug. 14.

STOCKS MIXED; RAILS, SPECIALTIES GAINERS

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP).—Buying activities centered on rails, radio issues and specialties in today's stock market, giving these groups fractional gains.

Industrial leaders generally registered no definite trends and for most of the session remained about even with previous closings.

It was a quiet and uneventful market in comparison with recent active days and measured by selling volume holders of stocks did not appear especially responsive to suggestions a considerable reaction might be due after the last month's sharp rise to seven-year highs.

Among the Gainers.

Dealings for the five hours were 1,416,620 shares, compared with 1,347,587 shares yesterday.

Of the 953 issues traded in today, 387 were higher, 320 lower and 246 unchanged. There were 134 made new 1944 highs and one new low.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed at 56.4, up .1 of a point. The industrial average at 78.2 was up .2 to a new 1944 high.

Prominent among the gainers in the final hour were Southern Railway, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Radio Corp., Farnsworth Television, International Telephone, Montgomery Ward and Allied Chemical. American Can advanced 2 or so on a few transfers.

Trend on the Curb.

Curb issues at better levels included Creole Petroleum and Niagara Hudson Power, with American Gas & Electric and Glen Alden coal in minus territory.

Although inclined to wait out political events over the next month or so Wall Street maintained its optimistic slant on the long range business outlook.

Secondary Stock Offering.

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP).—Public offering of 27,736 shares of 5 1/4 per cent cumulative preferred stock and 50,000 shares of common of Howard Stores Corp. was made today by A. G. Becker & Co. The preferred was priced at $101 a share and the common at $13.50.

The shares represented holdings of certain large stockholders and does not constitute financing on the part of the company.

MISSOURI PACIFIC ISSUES AMONG BOND FEATURES

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP).—The bond market operated on the narrow range side again today with the main trend a little cloudy at the start of the final hour. There were some extraordinarily firm issues.

Commercial Mackay Income 4s, a wide-mover at times, jumped more than 6 points at one time to a new high at 160. The bonds were up 3 3/4 points yesterday. Loans of the Denver, Rio Grande & Western moved up around 2 on reorganization developments. Those of the Baltimore & Ohio and Pittsburgh & West Virginia were among others losing ground.

Blair & Co. and associates were high bidders for a new issue of $3,850,000 industrial water works refunding bonds of Birmingham, Ala., the group bid 100.025 for a combination of coupons. The net cost to the borrower was equal to 1.68 per cent.

The group of railroads associated with the Missouri Pacific again were singled out for special buying and extended advances of the preceding session moderately. Included were issues of the parent concern. International Great Northern and New Orleans, Texas & Mexico. North Western bonds were generally steady but lacked the aggressiveness of Tuesday.

Higher rated issues were responsive to a moderately stepped up tempo of institutional and other investor demand. National Steel 3s sold at 104 7/8, Pacific Gas 3s at 105 3/4, Philadelphia Electric 3 1/4s at 107 1/4 and Texas Co. 3s at 106 1/4. U. S. Governments kept in the background with small changes either way.

The foreign dollar department moved in a narrow range. Buenos Aires 3s and Chile 6s were among the small gainers.

Commercial Macway Income 4s continued erratic through the final hour, ending up 7 1/2 points at 161 1/2 after having been a 1/2 point higher at one time. International Telephone 4 1/2s and 5s, rose 1 1/8 and 1 3/4, respectively.

Mokan Plan for Stock Purchase.

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP).—The Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line Co. (Mokan) announced holders of its common and class "B" stock will have the right to purchase 163,710 shares of Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. common stock at $30 a share on the basis of one Panhandle share for each 10 of common or 200 shares of Mokan "B" held.

Rights of purchase will be given to holders of stock as of the close of business July 12, and expire on Aug. 21.

The offer constitutes the first part of a plan involving Mokan's holdings of Panhandle Eastern stock approved by stockholders on March 27 and will provide funds to liquidate Mokan's bank debt of approximately $5,000,000.

POWER OFF IN HOLIDAY WEEK

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP).—Electric power distributed in the week ended July 8 was down sharply, the Edison Electric Institute reported today. Th sendout of 3,940,854,000 kilowatt hours compared with 4,327,359,000 in the preceding week and 3,919,398,000 in the corresponding week last year.

The decline in output carried the kilowatt-hour figure under the 4 billion level for the first time this year and indicated, according to utility circles, that factory suspensions or slowdowns for the July 4 holiday were more widespread than a year ago.

Weekly Bank Changes.

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP).—Checking accounts decreased 447 million dollars in banks in 101 leading cities during the week ended July 5, the Federal Reserve Board reported.

STEEL MARKET SURVEY

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP).—The manpower problem and a widespread heat wave combined to hold steel production in the past week well below the industry's capacity levels, "Iron Age" reported today.

The trade journal asserted that while the WPB, the armed forces and the steel industry focused attention on the lagging ingot rate, "output barely resumed the same rate of activity which took place in the pre-holiday week."

"Discussions in Washington last week, said "Iron Ag," "led to the conclusion that unless the manpower situation in the steel industry was alleviated there was little chance that the industry could operate at its maximum capacity. Added to this factor was the abnormal hot weather throughout the country which some sources claim has been responsible for the major part of the drop recently in raw steel output. Other quarters, however, are of the belief that even though the heat factor is offset the manpower shortage will continue to be the guiding hand in the future trend of steel production.

"The national steel ingot rate this week is estimated at 96 per cent of capacity, up one point from last week's 95.

CASH DIVIDEND OFF IN MAY

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP).—Cash dividends in the United States aggregated $114,200,000 in May compared with $115,300,000 in May, 1943, the Commerce Department reported.

May dividend payments brought the total for the first five months of the year to $1,191,200,000, 2 per cent above the $1,168,200,000 paid out in the same period last year.

Dividend payments of manufacturing corporations in the January-May period of 1944 amounted to $570,600,000, or 3.9 per cent above the same months of the preceding year. Almost $10,000,000 of the increase occurred in the automobile industry in which payments rose 22 per cent. There were small declines in textiles and leather and iron and steel.

VEGETABLES AND FRUIT

The light supply of tomatoes was readily cleared and prices were firm. Homegrown vegetable haulings were light due to the usual mid-week ODT ban.

Apples were firm and the receipts light. Peaches and melons were steady.

There was a slight increase in apple receipts but No. 1 fruit was scarce and in demand. Market otherwise about unchanged.

WHEAT CLOSES MIXED, OTHER GRAINS DOWN

CHICAGO, July 12 (AP).—A commercial demand for wheat futures developed in late trading today and prices rallied after a mid-session decline. Hedge selling was apparent throughout the day but the offerings were not large and there was comparatively little pressure on the market. Reports of large flour sales to bakers also figures in the advance.

Rye futures rallied with wheat. The trade in both rye and oats was light and had no feature.

Wheat closed 1/4c lower to 3/8c higher than yesterday's finish, July $1.57 3/4. Oats were off 1/8c to 5/8c, July 77 1/4c. Rye was 1/8 to 3/8c lower, July $1.14 5/8. Barley was off 1/4c to 1c, July $1.27 1/2.

An explanation of the comparatively small amount of hedging, largely responsible for the market's firm undertone in recent sessions, appears to be the refusal of producers to sell more than a small percentage of this year's crop in the open market. Some of the receipts, grain houses reported, are going to fill previous contracts, but a large proportion is being put into storage, either for the loan or to await a later decision on selling.

Extension of embargoes on certain wheat shipments to Chicago and several other mid-western terminals was followed by announcement that some shipping restrictions had been lifted at Kansas City. Uncertainty as to the effect of such embargoes, necessitated by car and labor shortages, has restrained traders from pressing the selling side of the market.

ST. LOUIS CASH GRAIN.

MERCHANTS EXCHANGE, July 12.—In the cash grain market today wheat was steady to 1/2s lower on the sale of 44 cars.

WHEAT—No. 1 red winter, $1.58 3/4; No. 2 do, $1.58@1.58 3/4; No. 3 do, $1.57 3/4@1.58 1/2; No. 2 light garlicky, $1.58 1/2; No. 3 do, $1.57@1.57 1/4; No. 1 red garlicky, $1.56 1/4; No. 2 do, $1.55 3/4; No. 3 do, $1.55; No. 4 do, $1.54@1.54 1/2; No. 1 mixed, $1.58.

Local Grain Receipts.

Local wheat receipts today were 153 cars local and 33 through; corn 5 local and 8 through; oats 4 local and 1 through; rye through and barley 2 local.

No Flax Delivery Quota.

WINNIPEG, July 12 (AP).—The Canadian Wheat Board announced that there will be no delivery quota on flax or rye during the present crop.

Old or new crop flax and rye may be marketed by producers to any elevator at any delivery point, providing space is available.

The board also announced that registered and certified seeds of wheat, oats, barley and rye, sealed in the sack or sealed in a car by Government inspectors, are exempted from quota regulations.

COTTON MARKET CLOSES UNCHANGED TO 25C LOWER

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP).—Cotton rallied into new seasonal high ground today with gains of as much as 60 cents a bale registered on continued New Orleans and commission house buying. The market was strengthened by the tightness in the spot July situation, coupled with scarcity of contracts in other positions. Profit taking erased part of the advance.

Late afternoon prices were 10 to 45 cents a bale higher. July 22.49, Oct. 21.94, and Dec. 21.78.

IRON ORE RESEARCH PROJECT FOR MISSOURI IS URGED

Establishment in Missouri of one of the proposed research projects to seek new sources of iron ore was urged by President George C. Smith of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce in a recent letter to Gov. Forrest C. Donnell.

The Boykin Subcommittee on Steel Shortage of the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee is considering an appropriation of six million dollars for discovering new iron ore deposits and has been working with state advisors appointed at the request of the committee by the Governors of the various states.

Smith suggested that State Geologist Edward L. Clark be instructed to attempt to secure location of the research laboratory for the central division of the country in Missouri.

RENNER RESIGNS BY REQUEST OF SERVICE BOARD CHAIRMAN

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 12.—William M. Renner Jr., (Rep.), St. Louis, has resigned as secretary of the Missouri Public Service Commission, effective at once, at the request of Chairman Albert Miller, it was learned today.

Chairman Miller declined to comment, other than to say he had requested and received Renner's resignation. He said politics was not involved in the resignation. Miller said Renner told him he planned to devote his time until Aug. 1 to the candidacy of James G. Blaine of St. Louis for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP).—Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones is recovering from a mild case of pneumonia, it was announced today. It was doubtful whether he would be able to attend the Democratic National convention.

COMPROMISE WON BY UTILITIES ON CITY OWNERSHIP

By CURTIS A. BETTS
State Political Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 12.—In rejecting a provision authorizing Missouri cities and towns to issue revenue bonds for the acquisition of utilities by a majority vote, and approving their issuance by a four-sevenths vote, the Constitutional Convention adopted a plan yesterday which would prevent the Legislature from enacting laws giving municipalities the right to act by a majority.

The action of the convention was both a defeat and a victory for the public utility lobby, which has successfully opposed any liberalization of the law for many years. It was a defeat in that the convention voted down the utility demand for a two-thirds vote requirement and a victory in that the majority vote provision was rejected.

As approved by the convention, the proposed new constitution to be submitted to the voters will contain a section authorizing all cities and towns by a four-sevenths vote to buy or construct waterworks, gas works, electric light plants, heating and power plants and airports, which are revenue-producing, by issuing bonds, the principal and interest of which are to be paid only from the plants' operating revenues.

Heretofore municipalities with populations in excess of 75,000 could issue revenue bonds to acquire utilities by a four-sevenths vote and those with populations of less than 30,000 could acquire them only by the issuance of general obligation bonds by a two-thirds vote. There was no constitutional provision by which cities between 30,000 and 75,000 could issue bonds for the purpose in excess of the constitutional debt limit.

Condemnation Feature.

When the utility bond section, which was based on a proposal offered by Delegate Wade W. Maupin of Chillicothe, was called up, Delegate Franc L. McCluer of Fulton, one of its leading supporters, presented an amendment removing from the section as reported by the committee an authorization for cities to acquire utilities by condemnation, a feature that has aroused bitter opposition by the utilitiy interests.

Although this was adopted, it did not take away from municipalities the power of condemnation, as the corporation article of the new constitution, which has been engrossed by the convention, contains a specific prohibition against any abridgement of the exercise of the power of eminent domain in the taking of corporate property and franchises for public use.

There was greater evidence of lobby influence in opposition to the municipal ownership section than in any matter that has come before the convention, although no utility lobbyists have appeared at the convention. The fight was made by some delegates who have been attorneys for utility interests and some who conscientiously are opposed to public ownership.

The main effort of the utility interests was in support of an amendment to require a two-thirds vote, although none of the utility defenders had any hope at any time that it would be adopted. They fought for the two-thirds vote requirement in order to get the four-sevenths.

Ex-Gov. Park's Fight.

Former Gov. Guy B. Park, delegate from Platte County, fought vigorously to prevent any vote requirement higher than a majority, reviewing the history of public utility attempts to control legislation in Missouri.

"Their activities," he said, "have been marked by a complete disregard for the laws, by bribery, corruption and intimidation. Not until the SEC became active did they cease their practices, and like rats scampered to their holes. I do not know whether now they will begin to stick their noses out and sniff again."

"The only question involved," he continued, "is that of whether this shall be a government of, by and for the people. If a two-thirds vote is required and one-third of the voters is permitted to prevent the will of two-thirds being carried out, it will not be a government of the people."

Delegate L. E. Meador of Springfield said the requirement for a two-thirds vote would prevent any city from acquiring utilities. "The public utility interests are the most powerful influence in any community," he said, "and would be able to prevent a two-thirds vote."

Opposed to Majority Vote.

Among the delegates who spoke in opposition to the authorization of the issuance of the bonds by a majority vote were Don C. McVay of Trenton, Thomas C. Hennings of St. Louis, O. C. Tee of Hamilton, John T. Opie of Kansas City, William H. Allen of Kansas City, Joe C. Crain of Ozark and Kirk Jones of DeSoto. Active in support of the majority vote provision were McCluer, Park, Meador and Frank B. Williams of Springfield.

After adopting the four-sevenths provision, the convention rejected an amendment offered by Delegate V. E. Phillips of Kansas City limiting the total amount of revenue bonds to 20 per cent of the total assessed valuation of property in the city. This was opposed on the ground that its effect would be to limit the amount of bonds in many small cities to a figure so low that it would be insufficient to buy or construct a utility plant.

The Constitutional Convention, which approved last week a new provision intended to prevent legislative committees from killing bills by refusing to report them, failed to accomplish that purpose because of a defect in the section.

The error, apparently a result of an oversight in the drafting of the new provision, was discovered by Delegate Clem F. Storckman of St. Louis, who said he would ask the convention to reconsider and amend the section in order to correct the defect.

As worded, the section would apply only to bills pending before committees of the house in which the bills originated. There is nothing in the section forcing the committee of the other house to report them for action.

To correct this, Storckman said he would offer an amendment requiring that a bill considered and passed by one house would have to be reported within 30 days after it had been referred to a committee of the other house.

LT. COL. CLIFTON P. LACEY

EX-ST. LOUISAN IN ENGLAND NOW A LIEUTENANT COLONEL

Maj. Clifton P. Lacey, former St. Louisan, recently was promoted to lieutenant colonel and is now serving as commanding officer of the Ninth Air Force Service Command Group in Great Britain, according to word received by relatives here.

A native of St. Louis, he attended Washington University, and saw service overseas as a first lieutenant in the last war. He re-entered military service as a Major in April, 1942. He is 49 years old. His wife and two sons live in Dayton, O. Four brothers: E. L., S. R., W. G. and W. O. Lacey, live in St. Louis.

UNITED STATES AIR BASE IN FRANCE, July 12 (AP).—The Distinguished Service Cross, America's second highest military award, was pinned on 25 men of the 101st Airborne Division today by Lt. Gen. Omar Bradley, First Army commander.

Capt. Frank Lillyman of Skaneatles, N. Y., first Allied soldier to touch foot on France in the invasion received one D. S. C. The division commander, Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor of Arlington, Va., formerly of Keytesville, Mo., received another for personally leading an attack across a causeway for advancing sea-borne units.

Gen. Taylor also has received the British Distinguished Service Order from Gen. Montgomery, supreme Allied ground commander.

CAUSE OF TRAGIC CIRCUS FIRE DETERMINED, NOT DISCLOSED

HARTFORD, Conn., June 12 (AP).—State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn Jr., and State Police Commissioner Edward J. Hickey, in a joint statement, said last night the origin of the fire which swept the main tent of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus here last Thursday had been determined.

They said they would not make the information public at this time, however.

SOUTHEAST ASIA COMMAND HEADQUARTERS, Kandy, Ceylon, July 12 (AP).—A strong Japanese force near Chepu, southwest of captured Ukhrul, has been routed after a two-day battle, the southeast Asia command announced today, and the position of enemy forces remaining in India was declared becoming rapidly worse.

Escape routes south and southeast of Ukhrul were blocked at many points. Following on the heels of two beaten Japanese divisions, British troops have pushed to Ongshim, nine miles to the southeast, in an advance after the final dispersal of Gen. Mataguch's units threatening Kohima and the Imphal plain.

In northern Burma organized enemy resistance has been cleared from the Kamaing-Mogaung road through juncture of columns moving in opposite directions along the road.

This success meant that approximately 300 miles of the new Ledo supply road to China has been cleared of enemy forces.

The British Fourteenth Army, mopping up in the Imphal-Ukhrul area, was killing more than 100 of the enemy on the average each day and it was announced that 1868 dead Japanese had been counted between June 16 and June 30. It was estimated that 2000 were killed in the first half of June.

Japs Gain 25 Miles in Push Along Key Railroad.

CHUNGKING, July 12 (AP).—Japanese troops striking northward in Kwangtung Province, along the Canton-Hankow railway, have advanced 25 miles to a point 12 miles from Yingtak, the Chinese high command said tonight.

Yingtak is 70 miles north of Canton and 190 miles south of the Hunan Province rail city of Hengyang, where another Japanese force driving from the north was halted. Occupation of Yingtak would place the advance elements of the two enemy thrusts within 160 miles of each other.

The Chinese high command said heavy fighting was in progress in the Hengyang area and charged that the Japanese again were using poison gas there.

It has become clear that reports circulated last week of a general Japanese retreat in Hunan were incorrect. The Chinese held on to Hengyang and scored local successes in other sectors, but no such thing as a large scale Japanese withdrawal occurred.

ALL PROPERTY OWNERS NOW PAY HOSE TAX ON WATER BILL

Property owners in the city who have been paying no hose charge on their water bills are finding that their semi-annual bills are slightly higher than before because, under an ordinance passed by the Board of Aldermen and now effective, the former charge placed against hose owners has been dropped and a flat supplemental rate of two cents per front foot is assessed against property owners.

Formerly, property owners who admitted they owned a hose were assessed four cents a year per front foot. Much time was spent in checking those who listed no hose, however, and the new rate was substituted.

Marcel Deats' House Set on Fire.

LONDON, July 12 (AP). — The German news agency DNB said today in a broadcast that "terrorists" had set fire to the house of Marcel Deat, Vichy Minister of Labor, at Arbourse in the Nievre department in central France. An attempt was made on Deat's life at Arbourse in March, 1943.

Invited to Go Along.

WE were just hanging around absorbing all this stuff when a young lieutenant, in a trench coat and wearing sun glasses—although the day was miserably dark and chill—came up and said:

"Our company is starting in a few minutes to go up this road and clean out a strong point. It's about half a mile from here. There are probably snipers in some of the houses along the way. Do you want to go along with us?"

I certainly didn't. Going into battle with an infantry company is not the way to live to a ripe old age. But when you are invited, what can you do?

So I said, "Sure." And so did Wertenbaker and Capa. Wert never seems nervous, and Capa is notorious for his daring. Fine company for me to be keeping.

We started walking. Soldiers of the company were already strung out on both sides of the road ahead of us, just lying and waiting till their officers came along and said go.

We walked until we were at the head of the column. As we walked the young officer introduced himself. He was Lt. Orion Shockley of Jefferson City, Mo. I asked him how he got the odd name Orion. He said he was named after Mark Twain's brother.

Shockley was executive officer of the company. The company commander was Lt. Lawrence McLaughlin from Boston. One of the company officers was a replacement who had arrived just three hours previously and had never been in battle before. I noticed that he ducked sometimes at our own shells, but he was trying his best to seem calm.

The soldiers around us had a two-week growth of beard. Their clothes were worn slick and very dirty. They still wore the uncomfortable gas-impregnated clothes they had come ashore in.

The boys were tired. They had been fighting and moving constantly forward on foot for nearly three weeks without rest—sleeping out on the ground, wet most of the time, always tense, eating cold rations, seeing their friends die.

Boy Fed Up on Fighting.

ONE of them came up to me and said, almost belligerently:

"Why don't you tell the folks back home what this is like? All they hear about is victories and a lot of glory stuff. They don't know that for every hundred yards we advance somebody gets killed. Why don't you tell them how tough this life is?"

I told him that was what I tried to do all the time. This fellow was pretty fed up with it all. He said he didn't see why his outfit wasn't sent home, that they had done all the fighting.

That wasn't true at all, for we have other divisions that have fought more and taken heavier casualties than this one. Exhaustion will make a man feel like that. A few days' rest usually has him smiling again.

As we waited to start our advance, the low black skies of Normandy let loose on us and we gradually became hopelessly soaked to the skin.

Funeral of Mrs. Lottye Rosenheim

Funeral services for Mrs. Lottye Rosenheim, who died Monday in Los Angeles, will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Bopp undertaking establishment, Hanley road and Forsythe boulevard, Clayton, with burial at Valhalla cemetery. She was 70 years old. Mrs. Rosenheim, who owned Rosenheims Importers, a women's wear shop, 4409 West Pine boulevard, until her retirement five years ago, is survived by her husband, Robert F. Rosenheim, and a sister, Mrs. Anna L. Wallar.

LAWYER PRAISES BURKE'S RECORD AS LABOR LEADER

Experience which Patrick J. Burke, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Mayor, has had as a labor union official qualifies him to deal with post-war employment problems here, Burke's campaign manager, Harry C. Barker, a former president of the Lawyers' Association, said at a Twenty-fourth Ward meeting at Tamm and West Park avenues last night, under auspices of James Brady and Mrs. Ann Dwyer.

Burke, a business agent of the AFL Milk Wagon Drivers' & Inside Dairy Workers' Union, has served for nearly two years in the disputes division of the War Labor Board, in which period there have been no dissents by Burke from panel decisions, Barker said. The speaker, declaring that Burke's word was good with both labor and management, recalled Burke's platform pledge to bring about close co-operation of labor and management and assure general employment.

Burke's campaign office announced that his candidacy now was indorsed by the two leading factions in the Tenth Ward, by the Brady-Dwyer faction of the Twenty-fourth and by party groups in 10 other wards.

WARD CLUB BACKS BRADSHAW

The Fifth Ward Regular Republican Club, meeting last night at 1938 Cass avenue, indorsed Jean Paul Bradshaw of Lebanon for the Republican nomination for Governor. It also indorsed Carl M. Dubinsky for Circuit Attorney, Jasper Vettori for Judge of Court of Criminal Correction and Lt. Herman Novack for State Senator. The club is headed by Joseph L. Spicuzza and Mrs. Beatrice Scott, Republican City Committee members.

ARMY CLIQUE'S REVOLT QUELLED IN COLOMBIA

America, dictatorially governed or not, took an early stand in favor of the United Nations cause. Thus the problem of each country—that is, democracy as opposed to the dictatorship—did not tie up in an international sense with the general war effort. There was no question as to co-operation in that effort, whatever the underlying motive.

The possible exception was in Bolivia, where a revolution last December brought a change not immediately acceptable by all the other American nations. After months of study and alterations in the internal structure of the new government, however, the state of affairs was adjudged sufficiently satisfactory to warrant re-establishment of diplomatic relations.

Lopez "Greatly Proud" Colombia Revolt Was Put Down.

BOGOTA, Colombia, July 12 (AP).—President Alfonso Lopez declared in a message from Tuquerres today that he had reassumed the presidency. He was in contact with Vice President Dario Echandia, who took over the powers of the President temporarily, and other officials of the Government, and was expected to return to the capital in triumph shortly.

The President said he was in good health and was not inclined to be unduly concerned about the short-lived revolt, although he was "greatly proud" that the people, the army and Government leaders had not permitted the movement to succeed.

Airport Bonds for Jefferson City.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 12 (AP).—Jefferson City voters approved yesterday a $185,000 airport bond issue, 2039 to 916, barely giving the proposal the necessary two-thirds majority. The city has options on 227 acres of Missouri River bottom land in Callaway County and officials said they planned to call immediately for bids for constructing the airport.

Like Scrambled Eggs

Seer Says Stars Are All Wrong for Dewey

By Earl Wilson

NEW YORK.

EXTRY! Election results—Dewey defeated! For this gigantic four-month scoop, don't thank me. Thank Gerun Moore, ex-New Orleans saxophone tootler, now Broadway's Astro-Numerologist. I'm always tripping over young Mr. Moore, and vice versa, backstage in theaters and night clubs. He's a nervous 120-pound fence rail in spectacles. He whips in and out, charging $25 to tell Broadwayites what months to have babies, what apartment numbers, street numbers and phone numbers to insist upon, what letters to permit in their names, what jobs to accept, what colors to wear. I merely mentioned the name of Thomas E. Dewey and he said, "I don't think so!"

"Why not?" I asked.

"Those Republicans have a bad name."

"You're telling me," I ad-libbed.

"I mean numerologically," he said. "The name 'Democrats' is more powerful. Dewey has a perfect name, but it's not as powerful as Roosevelt. Roosevelt is, according to the chart, strong with the opposite sex—the housewives will stand back of him. Dewey's name doesn't vibrate the month of the election, either.

★ ★ ★

I ASKED HIM to look Dewey up on election day.

He did, and then almost moaned. "He's terribly afflicted and troubled that day," he said. "His planets are very bad that day. They're so jumbled, they look like srambled eggs."

"Like Harry James," he said, biting his nails, his favorite edible. "I met him when he lived at the Hotel Forrest in 1939, when he was doing lousy. I looked it up and told him he came under pisces, like Glenn Miller, Jimmy Dorsey and Chopin—and that he'd succeed in melodic music, not swing. He did what I told him, and look what happened.

★ ★ ★

HARRY'S THE KIND of an old meanie that doesn't ask his Astro-Numerologist's advice when he's thinking of marrying a gal like Betty Grable, so Gerun Moore had nothing to do with that. But plenty do ask Moore about getting hitched. Colors also intrigue him. He told Band Leader Charlie Barnet in 1940 to make his men give up red jackets, as red symbolized fire, and the silly boy didn't heed him. Result: the Palomar in Los Angeles, where he played, burned down. Gene Austin's red-carpeted, red-walled Hollywood Club burned (all because of the red color symbolizing fire).

Gerun Moore told Mae West to avoid the figures 4 and 8.

Mae scrupulously avoided $4 bills and 8-foot men and look what she's made of herself, as well as others.

★ ★ ★

THE MAD TIN-PAN ALLEY boys often submit song titles and Moore cogitates and tells which is a hit title. He told Jimmy Van Heusen and Eddie de Lange their "Sunday, Monday, and Always" was a hit title, and it was. He once told Singer Terry Lawlor not to leave town on a Friday. She did, and later wired him from a hospital, following an accident, "You're right." He told Band Leader Teddy Powell that his Forty-eighth street apartment was the wrong address for him; that the place would be burglarised three times. It was, too—three times.

Right now, the Astro-Numerological genius is trying to change his apartment number. "The present number doesn't vibrate to my business, he said.

"Maybe I should have them changed," I said.

"I changed mine," he said, proudly. "I told the phone company that my old number seemed to be busy all the time, and so I wanted another number. I got it. Naturally I couldn't tell the phone company that the number just didn't vibrate and that that was why I wanted a new one. They wouldn't get it," he said. "They'd never understand."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL: Marlene Dietrich is resting up to have her tonsils out. Happy tonsillectomy! . . . No sooner had Alex Yokel and Bob Ritchie, producers of "Champagne for Everybody" by Lazlo Vadney and Max Lief, put a sign, "Champagne for Everybody" on their office door, than people began streaming in, asking how many cases they could get . . . That S. J. Perelman is a mighty funny man, especially in the New Yorker last week on page 23. (He reads me sacrilegiously!) . . . Producer Dave Wolper, back from Hollywood, where he signed Lupe Velez for his musical, "Have a Good Time," reports that Luscious Lupe, will play a rich widow in love with a corny comedian. Lupe, whose violent affection for her ex-husbands is well remembered, said, "I can play a widow very well; after all, I almost killed Errol Flynn and Johnnee."

RING LARDNER worked for him for 16 years without a contract of any kind, Jack Wheeler, the syndicate head, recalls. They discussed it one day in a bar for a couple of minutes; that was all. Another syndicate offered to purchase Lardner's services later, and Wheeler called Lardner and proposed to rush to Chicago with a contract.

"If you knew anything about contracts," replied Lardner, "you'd know we made one at that bar a few weeks ago, in the presence of five witnesses, two of them sober." . . . The lush thrush, Luba Malina, who has opened at La Vie Parisienne, surrendered her hand (as she passed through the room) to a guy who told her he admired her singing tremendously. She fluffed him off and rushed away. When she discovered the guy was Brian Aherne she flew back to his table and asked him to say it all over again.

Smoke of War Darkens Saipan's Rolling Hills

This airplane photograph gives an idea of the terrain over which U. S. marines fought their way in wresting Garapan, capital of Saipan, from the Japanese. Smoke is billowing from a Japanese oil dump just north of the city after shelling by artillery and warships, some of which are visible in the bay. The entire island of Saipan has been conquered.

SPEAKS FOR DEWEY Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce and Gov. Dewey smiled for photographers yesterday at Albany preceding a conference. Later the Connecticut representative said that there appears to be agreement in the party that America wants to join an international organization to keep the peace—and (quoting Dewey on the last phrase) "by force if necessary."

BURIED BY BUZZ BOMB After being buried under debris for four days Sgt. Emory Barefoot, of Vienna, Ga., is shown talking to a nurse in a hospital in England. How the Army cook dived into a basement when he saw a flying robot bomb coming was described yesterday by Virginia Irwin, Post-Dispatch war correspondent. He tried to dig his way through a wall with a knife and fork. Later he told of chewing on pieces of plaster while in a coma, thinking it was French pastry.

BROADWAY

By WALTER WINCHELL

FREEMAN GOSDEN (of Amos and Andy), often reported as the next groom of Gail Patrick (the movie lovely), will marry her one-time best friend, Jane Stoneham, part owner of the N. Y. Giants team . . . Charles Chaplin has purchased 270 acres in Mexico. It is at the foot of the Popocatepetl extinct volcano, a wheat belt. . . . Reno hears that L. B. Mayer, the MGMagnate, is due there any day "for a vacation". . . . Rumor now has captured Nazi General Von Arnheim at a camp in Mississippi, where he came with 20 trunks. Said to be sufferer of epilepsy. On him it looks good. . . . Dunninger's estranged spouse (Chrystal Dunninger) plans appearing in a night club featuring his mind-reading act. . . . Vic McLaglen's daughter, Sheila, will become Mrs. Sandy Smith. . . . Roger Touhy, doing life, is seriously ill in the Pen. Reports say he may not recover. . . . Hero Major Richard Bong, upon leaving Warner's Studio, found a parking ticket in his car!

BOTH COL. ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT and WACaptain Ruth Briggs are reported now as denying plans to wed. The report, originated in Newsweek, said: "One story picked Mary Churchill as his next wife, another the Duchess of Kent. Actually Elliott is engaged to an American Wac."

From this column of March 20th: "Roosevelt intimates still insist the rumors about Elliott's next being Winston Churchill's daughter Mary are unfounded. That he never even met her. The fact is that Elliott's favorite person abroad is a Wac Captain."

FEDERAL AUTHORITIES and Selective Service executives will probe into recent appointments by an eastern Congressman. He is suspected of arranging transfers of GIs to the Naval Academy. . . . T. Dorsey's band this year will probably attract over one million dollars, a new high for musickers. . . . Major Ed Byron's once-was, Maxine Jennings (and the heir of one of the richest tribes), may marry in the Fall. . . . Zero Mostel's divorce cost him $30,000. . . . The State Department is nixing all radio deals for Alice-Leone Moats (the novelist-war correspondent) until she explains how she got into a plane that brought her to Miami from Yurrop.

WASHINGTON INSIDERS hear the WLB will soon ease up on wage increases for people getting less than $2000 per annum. . . . Forty-nine million people get less than that. Only 1,700,000 get more than five Gs per year. . . . FDR's confidential Girl Friday (lovely Grace Tully) gets less salary than most private secretaries working for tycoons. . . . Waiters in the swankier New York places are averaging about $150 weekly. . . . To avoid postwar squabbles (in the reconversion of auto plants) the WPB may ask one Detroit factory to make 2½ million cars without brand names or ballyhoo. Autos will be rationed, anyway. . . . Rommel, they say, was one of the German officers assigned to Fort Benning, Ga., in 1925. . . . One reader will bet $5000 that Wallace will not be on the ticket.

THERE WILL BE no more classification as 4-F. Future 4-Fs will be put into 2-A (essential) by the draft boards. Meaning they must take a war job or go into the Army. . . . Beth Leary's companion the other evening was General Juan Beigbeder, decorated by Franco. He is a double-talker, so far as the liberals are concerned. . . . Major Gen. "Squeek" Burnett (Doolittle's pilot over Tunisia) is seeing New York via Virginia Porter's orbs. . . . Jack Solomon (owner of Gallagher's, the midtown place) and Irene Hayes, former show girl (now a Park Avenue florist), won't surprise pals by telescoping. . . . Waring will get 20 Gs weekly at the Roxy with "Wilson."

CASE RECORDS

By Dr. George W. Crane

CASE C-294: Basil Caparell is an able representative of King Features Syndicate, Inc. "Will you please send me three copies of your bulletin entitled, "Sex Problems of Young People"? he wrote me recently. "I just read Jack Hornady's copy and there are a few young people to whom I should like to send it."

★ ★ ★

HUNDREDS OF thoughtful men and women write to me each month for bulletins which they wish to send to other relatives or friends. I wish to commend them for this constructive educational work which they are thus engaged in. "My sister and her husband live in a town where your worry clinic isn't appearing in their local newspaper," a woman high-school teacher recently commented. "So I am clipping your cases each day and mailing them to my sister in my weekly letter to her. She has three children of school age and is especially interested in your Case Records. I wish you would send her a dozen of your bulletins which might be of most value to her, both as a wife and also as a mother."

★ ★ ★

"OUR UNIVERSITY Women's Club is discussing the psychological problems of the home," the club secretary wrote to me not long ago. "We wish to base our programs on a number of your psychological charts and bulletins. Will you please send us your famous tests for husbands and wives, plus the tests for parents, and your specimen budget chart. Also include any sex bulletins which you think would be appropriate." You readers should recognize that this newspaper is the main agency of the Adult Education Movement in your area. Even if you are a college graduate, you have spent parts of only 16 years in school. In the other 40 years after college graduation, you should learn to be your own teacher. This newspaper forms the "family textbook" of current knowledge in history and political science, economics and medicine, psychology and music, home economics and etiquette, athletics and business. If you also take advantage of the educational bulletins offered through this column and others in this newspaper, you can enjoy what amounts to an extension university course. Abraham Lincoln would avidly have devoured this newspaper and probably every bulletin offered in connection with it, for he had schooled himself to be his own professor. He took advantage of all knowledge that he could reach.

★ ★ ★

NOWADAYS WE ARE not only bringing your state universities to you through actual extension classes in many of your leading cities, but this newspaper is sending college teachers and other able educators as private tutors into your homes every day, via their columns in this newspaper. Take advantage of such educational opportunities, therefore, and also think about your relatives and friends, as Mr. Caparell has generously demonstrated. Send them the bulletins which you know will be of benefit to them, for a bulletin is usually only a condensed book for immediate practical use. Or if you are through with your own bulletin, pass it along so others can profit by its scientific contents. The 10-cent charge for such bulletins is only a "tuition" fee, so to speak. That dime goes to pay the bare cost of this educational service. Neither the syndicate, nor your editor nor I, makes a single cent on this mail service. We donate it in the interest of adult education.

Value of Summer Camps

By Angelo Patri

IT looks as though this were not going to be the most cheerful summer we have ever known. In fact, it looks like the summer that the children would better spend in the country, in camp, where they won't hear and see too much of the trouble and worry that beset home.

I am not going to allow a child to bear an adult's grief if I can spare him. I do not believe that suffering under the cloud of fear, anxiety and grief that war brings to our homes will do any child much good. I believe that if he can be shielded from the worst of it he will be that much to the good. He will come to the day of his own responsibility just that much stronger, that much abler to bear whatever burden is his.

I am not afraid that he will not be chastened in spirit by the afflictions of this war. Nobody, man or boy, woman or girl, will escape it. We will go through tribulation together. But if we can spare a child as much as one day of sorrow it is worth while and two months of release will be wonderful for him.

Send every child possible to summer camp. Let each of them know what it means to waken in the dawn of a lovely day, when the first faint breeze that is the breath of a new morning steals over the earth. Let him know how it feels to lie and listen to the birds welcoming the day. First the sweet little lisp of a stirring bird, another and another, and then the stout call of the robin, the full-throated whistle of the oriole, the song sparrows, the wrens, the warblers, the whole trilling chorus that rings through the tree tops. A child who has never heard that has not truly lived his childhood.

Let him learn how it feels to race down to the lake and splash into the water when the mists are just lifting. Feel the cool soft touch of water rippling along his skin, the feel of wet sand between his toes, the tickle of the cold shower down his back, and then up the hill to eat a breakfast that would nourish a giant, for a giant he will feel himself.

Summer camp for a child is an investment in health, intelligence and spirituality. No child can attend a good camp and not grow in all three. There is no better gift one can offer a child than this experience.

Pick the camp with care and remember the people who run it are more important than the equipment. Association with fine men and women in an open-air life can be a most enlightening, enlarging experience. If it is within your power to send a child to such a camp this summer, make the most of your opportunity. The child will justify your understanding of his needs. These are peculiarly imperative this summer.

My Day -o- By Eleanor Roosevelt

DAYTON, O., Tuesday.

I LEFT Poughkeepsie yesterday afternoon and reached Dayton, O., this morning. I am spending part of the day visiting Wright and Patterson fields, and the late afternoon and evening at Antioch College, where I am to speak at a conference on international affairs held under the auspices of the American Friends Service Committee.

I will travel back tonight to New York City so as not to be away from my grandchildren any longer than I have to. I have never enjoyed anything as much as having so many children with us this summer.

It is a little late perhaps for me to pay a tribute to China, but in spite of the fact that July 7th, which marked the seventh day of the seventh month of the seventh year of China's warfare against Japanese aggression, is now past and though other people have already noted this date, I want to say a few words about the significance of the fight which China is now making.

It has been a very hard fight of late, with Japan putting in all the strength she can, and trying to establish on the mainland of China a situation which would neutralize whatever victories were accomplished by us in the Pacific Islands. Japanese success would not mean, in the long run, the conquest of China, but success might give new resources to Japan which would make the Allies' struggle for eventual victory all the harder.

For that reason, China, which has fought all this time, is being called upon for even greater effort than before. We here in this country find it hard to visualize what we really are asking of China.

We are a great industrial nation with none of our industries impaired. Our difficulty has only been in obtaining certain basic materials, and the attack upon us was largely upon the shipping which brought us these supplies. But China has been driven out of her great cities along the coast. Her industries are now largely hand industries. She never had an industrial development like ours. She has had to do without, to substitute and to suffer and fight without the things she needed. In short, man power has done over and over again what machine power would do for us.

This means, however, that it is the people of China who suffer—mothers who weep for their lost children, wives who no longer have husbands, children who no longer have fathers. The hospitals in China are short of food, inflation makes what they can produce almost impossible for the poorer people to buy, and yet these people have fought for seven years and are still fighting.

Their resistance means less loss of life for us and a shorter war, so we owe a debt of gratitude and a tribute of honor to the people of China and their courageous leaders.

In saving tin cans, wash well, cut both ends from the cans, and then step on them to press and to save packing space for salvage.

Coarsely chopped nuts sprinkled over the tops of fruit or vegetable salads increase the nutritional value of the food.

22 MILLION BU. OF WHEAT PILED ON GROUND IN 3 STATES

KANSAS CITY, July 12 (AP).—More than 22 million bushels of newly-harvested wheat are piled on the ground in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas because of insufficient labor to get it to storage facilities, midwestern grain men were told today, and an army officer told them prospects for use of prisoners of war were slim.

The 200 grain dealers, elevator operators and railroa dexecutives assembled at the suggestion of Senator Clyde Reed, (Rep.), Kansas, in an effort to find a solution to the problem that has caused wheat shipments to be put under a permit system at most winter wheat markets.

Lt. Col. Loyd H. Shafer, commanding officer of the prisoner of war camp at Fort Riley, Kan., in answer to a question from Senator Reed said: "So far as we know, there is no prison labor available."

Solution Of Yesterday's Puzzle

My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Martha Carr:

AM a girl 16, and have a girl friend I've thought a lot of, but lately I've found out things about her which have made me lose confidence in her. She lies to her parents, for instance, slips out and dates the boys, has the name for being a gold digger, wangles dates with other girls' boy friends just for mischief, then stands them up and thinks it's fun. I have discovered in the town she came from she never had a very good reputation. Shall I break with her and find other girl friends, or if I don't will I take the chance of being branded as her type? I have always kept my own standards high. Have you any leaflets on make-up or styles?

DAISY.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest, but of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

If this girl does things which you with your upbringing, cannot approve of, and which endanger her reputation, then the thing for you to do, of course, is to be less intimate with her. It is quite true that we are known by the company we keep, and if you want to be thought the right sort it's up to you to choose friends whose standards and ideals measure up to your own. I have no leaflets on hair-dos or make-up, but I have one called "Care of the Hair" which I will mail if you will send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM A GIRL of 20 in love with a boy 21. When we are together he acts as if he loves me. A couple of years ago we went steady for a while, then fell out. Six months ago he started dating me again. He lives in another town and can't come over often because of tires and gas. I found out he also dates a girl in his own town, and before he realized fully how much he cares for me, he asked her to wait for him. He expects to go into the service in a short time. Now he says he wants me to marry him when the war's over. He isn't being fair to either Betty or me, for whichever one he's with he thinks he loves the most, and so can't make up his mind. Shall I tell him to stop coming over here to see me? I love him so much, and have worried over the situation dreadfully, have tried going out with others, but can't get this one fellow off my mind. What shall I do?

WORRIED SICK.

It seems to me it's up to both you and the other girl not to get hurt by taking this lad too seriously. He is probably more in love with love, right now, than with either of you. If he can't be persuaded to regard both of you as just friends until he grows up sufficiently to know his own mind, you had better play safe by making the effort to get around with a mixed crowd here at home, go in for USO and war activities and put him out of your mind. Of course this will hurt at first, but much less than to think the boy belongs to you, only to discover he has found out he loves Betty better and has married her one fine day when in that mood.

IN ANSWER TO "A Reader": It may be you have done something which makes your parents feel you lack judgment and can't be trusted. If so, then it is up to you to convince them otherwise. If this is not the case it may be they don't approve of your friends, or think you are too young to be dating service men. The only way you will get the matter straightened out is to talk it over with them, so do it as nicely as you know how. I feel quite sure that if you will join a teen-age group of which they approve and remember to get home at the time agreed upon your parents will consent to allow you a little more freedom.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

I HAVE never read of a more blatant example of bad taste than that of the commercializing of friendship, as described in this reader's letter:

"Is there any rudeness to be inferred when certain members of a card club serve a soft drink with refreshments that is not the soft drink sold by the husband of one of the members? We never buy this particular brand, and I see no reason why I should pretend that we do, when the wife happens to be in my house? I understand that she is very much hurt because I, in particular, and some of the others too, serve competitive brands and not her husband's."

The answer to this is emphatic. No tabu of good society is more definite than that against turning a social background into a market place. In other words, "It isn't done!" You are quite right in your attitude, whereas hers, as already noted, is completely lacking in the slightest conception of the word good taste. Quite apart from the actual tabu, what would your community be like if you were all expected to wear "Tidy-tailored" clothes and "Tread-softly" shoes and set your table with what you don't like, according to what your neighbors force you to?

DEAR MRS. POST: How shall I sign my name to a letter I shall write to my son's fiancee? I've never met her and can't go to see her because the distance is a factor.

Answer: Sign it Mary Jane Smith. She certainly will know who you are! Begin (probably), "John has told me . . ." and then tell her something welcoming, and end by saying, "Hoping to see you very soon, or even perhaps "Eagerly waiting to see you."

DEAR MRS. POST: I have sons in the army, navy and marines and a daughter overseas for the Red Cross. I am Mrs. John Blank. My specialty is cooking, but I have always confined such activities to my own kitchen. Lately I have helped out people for as long as two weeks at a time; sometimes only for a family celebration or other dinner party. At such times I do not resent being called "Mary." But when these people telephone me at my own house, shouldn't they ask for Mrs. Blank and not Mary? We have several strangers occupying my sons' rooms—people in town for defense work. If they happen to answer the telephone, as one did later, it is embarrassing to have them come and say, "Who is Mary—she is wanted on the telephone."

Answer: I think this brings up a very interesting as well as important point. All of these new people you are coming in contact with should call you Mrs. Blank. Those who have always called you Mary should at least call you Mrs. Blank when speaking of you to others—and even call you Mrs. Blank in front of others. They themselves should realize that asking for "Mary" is not the proper way to speak of a mother of your distinction. Since you evidently hesitate to speak for yourself, show them this clipping.

Hay Fever Season Is On Its Way

By Logan Clendening, M.D.

ABOUT a month from now, over most parts of the United States, an invading army of pollens will strike, giving woe and discomfort to about a tenth of the population. The date of this invasion will be no surprise. It has happened regularly for as many years back as the oldest inhabitant can count.

Is there any defense that can be made against it? Well, that is a real puzzle to most of the sufferers, as they know only too well.

The students of hay fever have listed a good many plants which can cause this cussed malady, but for all but the rare cases the offender for the fall type of hay fever is the ragweed. It is the one which begins to cast its light yellow pollen grains in the air on Aug. 14 at 6 o'clock in the morning.

ONE ANSWER to the problem of how to repel this invasion is climate. In general, the mountains and the seashore and the Northern lakes and Canada are safe refuges for the afflicted. California and the Pacific Coast generally are pretty safe. They claim to have some hay fever occasionally in California, but it is only toy hay fever. It is nothing like the he-hay fever of the Mississippi Valley and the Middle West.

Another answer which I advocated for many years is to cut ragweed plants about this time of year. I have been argued down on it from communities where they have tried it but I still am not convinced because I do not believe it has ever been given a thorough trial. Of course it is impossible this year, but some day we might give the Japanese internees a whirl at it.

Lastly, there is the method of immunization by pollen vaccines. This has gone through various stages of opinion among the experts. First it was advocated that the course of increasingly strong suspensions of the pollen be given, starting several months before the expected seasonal attack. All sorts of exaggerated claims were made for this by the optimists among the allergists, but in general it seemed to fail in about 90 per cent of cases.

THEN A COSEASONAL set of vacinations was advocated, beginning the course of hypodermic injections a month or a week before, or even right with, the onset of symptoms. This didn't seem to be very logical, but it worked in practice better than the long preseasonal vaccinations.

The theory that emerged from these experiences, which is the theory now held, is that it is possible to produce immunity to Hay Fever infestation, but that the immunity is very short lived. The immunity acquired by the preseasonal shots wore out before the Hay Fever season began. It is considered that the best hope consists of all year round immunization carried out for several years which it is said results in a permanent state of relief.

More practical and in line with this same kind of theory is the "rush desensitization" method of Freeman. This attempts to build up rapid immunity just before and during the early days of the season by injections given at very brief intervals. The vaccines can be given by this "rush" method by mouth. It seems the most helpful of the practical methods suggested.

Sun in Cancer.

General tendencies—Much activity notable among those who deal with metal, heavy materials and chemical products. The influence also extends into household affairs and makes this a good time for moving or changing furniture. The daylight hours are best, since the evening appears unsettled and apt to produce differences of opinion. Before you realize that conditions have changed you seem quite apt to find good fortune thrust upon you. The next 12 months should provide you with many opportunities for advancement, most noticeable around the end of August and the early part of 1945. You will not find the months of November and December as easy for success, since you seem to feel restricted or perhaps suffer in health if you should be careless of yourself.

Missouri's 'Number One' River Guide

By F. A. Behymer

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

STEELVILLE, Mo., July 11.

BEFORE Missouri had a Conservation Commission, Elmer Hendrix was a trapper, fisherman and guide. Life for him was gay and free. Conservation was a word that had a hateful sound. He didn't like the idea of the State stepping in and telling him what he could do and what he couldn't do. It was a feeling that was shared by many trappers, hunters and fishermen. That was what Wiley Gladden was up against when he was appointed wild life conservation agent for this area. Especially he was up against Elmer Hendrix, for Elmer was a ringleader and where he led the others would follow.

Things came to a head when Gladden called a meeting of fox hunters to explain the law to them. As Elmer listened his umbrage grew. He spoke his mind, for he was not one to beat about the bush. "Here's where I break with you," he said. He would have nothing to do with a man-made law that interfered with the law of nature that he had always followed. The others nodded their approval.

Gladden had to do something. He took Elmer aside and talked to him. He did not bear down too much on the good that the law would do. It was the law, though, and his job was to enforce it. He needed Elmer's influence on his side. Wouldn't he help. Then and there Elmer Hendrix experienced a change of heart. He struck hands with Riley Gladden and from that time to this he has been the conservation agent's best helper in enforcing the law and protecting the wild life of the region.

BEFORE there was a law anybody could call himself a guide and hire himself out to sportsmen. Under the new law guides had to be registered and wear a badge. When that was explained to Elmer he said, "All right, I'll sign up. He signed up and received badge No. 1, the first one ever issued in Missouri. That was four years ago. He is still the State's No. 1 guide, for he has been the first every year to sign up and has each year received the No. 1 badge. It is his badge of honor that he wears with pride on his hat.

With equal pride Elmer Hendrix wears the approval of the sportsmen that he has served, about 500 of them whose names are written in his book of remembrance, for he keeps a faithful record of name and date and catch. What they all say of him, as Walter S. Wagner of St. Louis said of him last week, is this: "If you miss with Elmer it isn't his fault. He rides the right water and doesn't crowd in on the fishing water."

That, says Elmer, speaking with an expert's certainty, is what counts in a guide. He must know how to handle a boat, he must know where the fish are and he must'nt push in on the fishing water. Which means, as every fisherman knows, that he must hold the boat off from the pools where the fish are and leave room for the cast to be made. If he can't hold the boat off with his paddle and keep it from crowding the good fishing water he goes overboard at the stern and controls it with the strength of his arms.

The streams that Elmer knows and runs, as set forth in his professional card in the home-town newspaper, the Crawford Mirror, are the Meramec river and Huzzah and "Coutaway" creeks. His floats are 6, 8 or 10 hours, according to a patron's pleasure, all so well timed that from the put-in to the take-out he is seldom more than 20 minutes off schedule. His flat boat is hauled in Hersey Eaton's truck to the take-off chosen and at the end of the run Eaton is waiting to haul boat and fisherman and catch home.

Elmer knows the pools where the big bass hide. There are not as many as there used to be, Elmer is free to say, but there will be more when conservation has its way. It used to be that a fisherman could float five miles and catch his fill of bass. Now it takes a float of 20 miles to catch as many. There are so many more fishermen than there used to be. Away back when Elmer began making the floats he made only eight or 10 in a season. Last year he made 65 floats. The season opened this year on June 15. Since that Elmer hasn't missed a day. He is dated a month ahead and last Sunday he had to turn down four floats because he can't get help. He has the boats but nobody to man them. The old guides who used to be available have died off and the boys who might have grown up to be good guides are away at war. You can't put out an inexperienced man, says Elmer, for he might upset the boat, and that would shame Elmer so that he could never live it down. For more than 25 years he has been running the streams and he has never had an upset. That is one thing a guide can't have marked up against his record.

Ever since Elmer Hendrix struck hands with Wiley Gladden and took his stand on the side of the law he has been playing the game fair and square. He follows the rule book line for line and he expects his riders to do the same. What's more, he sees to it that they do. It doesn't happen often but once in a while a sportsman who hasn't ridden with Elmer before tries to pull something smart just inside the law or even over the edge. When that happens Elmer, mindful of the badge up there on his hat, caring more for the honor of his calling than for the fee that he gets, tells them off in a manner that they are not likely to forget. There is a story that once he set a "sportsman" ashore, but he asks to be excused from telling about that.

Though when wearing his badge, he is a guide and not a fisherman or hunter, he is always the close observer of wild life, learning more and more of the secrets of the denizens of the woods and streams. When he tells of a float, likely enough it is about the wild life that he saw rather than the fish that his rider caught. Like on that trip last week with Walter Wagner. That day Elmer and Wagner saw a mallard hen with 14 ducklings skimming the water on ahead. It almost broke up the fishing, for it was the first time in all his experience that Elmer had seen a thing like that on a Missouri stream. He eased the boat along until the mother duck steered her brood to cover and fluttered away to distract attention from them.

ON that same trip two tiny does came down to the water to drink. Deer are becoming plentiful, now that they are protected. But those does coming unafraid to the water's edge made a picture that was better than catching a bass.

Then, on the Sunday before, he discovered on a bar a long-legged snipe with two fluffy young ones watching their mother getting ready to do a little fishing herself. Meaning no harm, Elmer caught one of them and held it in his hand. The mother bird flopped over on her back and flapped her wings and struck out with her legs in the approved snipe fashion of diverting attention from her young. Elmer released the little one and the mother, righting herself, led her birdlings to safer waters.

He knows the fox crossings and the deer and wolf crossings, where the deer lie up in the heat of the day, where the wolf cubs are to be found, and the deep pools where the big bass stay. Right now there's a bass, the biggest one he ever saw, hiding in the bluff hole half a mile below Frank Blount's place on the "Coutaway." The wily fellow hides behind the old log in the pool whenever a fisherman comes nigh. Elmer is saving that bass for a friend of his who is coming down soon for a float on "Coutaway." He isn't saying who that friend is, but his friends run all the way from millionaires to day laborers, and like as not it will one one of his laboring friends.

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

THE contract in today's deal was the result of unbelievable bidding, built there certainly was nothing wrong with declarer's play!

East, dealer.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 heart	2 clubs	2 no trump	Pass
3 hearts	4 diam. (!)	4 hearts	5 diam.
Pass	Pass	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

Let's not even comment on South's four-diamond bid! Nor on North's raise to five diamonds, for that matter.

West led the heart ten. Declarer ruffed and promptly laid down the trump king, thereby smothering East's blank ten. West won with the ace and led another heart. Declarer again ruffed; then he took the club finesse. West refused to cover, and the third round found dummy in with the ace. Now declarer deliberately ruffed another heart on his own account, then led an established club. West ruffed and was overruffed by dummy.

At this point the average player would lead a spade to the ace and continue with clubs, satisfied to trap West's remaining jack-three of trumps under dummy's queen-seven. This declarer was more ambitious, and shrewder. He was morally sure that West was now out of hearts (because of the bidding and the fact that with four hearts, West originally would have led fourth best instead of the ten). Hence, declarer did not try to trap West's trumps; he cashed the trump queen and made West take the seven, discarding two spades from the closed hand. As was to be expected, West then had to lead a spade. Declarer won and cashed his remaining clubs, thus fulfilling the contract.
